FRIDAY, OCT. 5, 1894.

Judicious Advertising.
CREATES many a new business;
ENLARGES many an old business;
PRESERVES many a large business;
REVIVES many a dull business;
RESCUES many a lost business;
SAVES many a failing business;
SECURES success in any business.

Local News.

The cotton receipts yesterday were 310 bales.

The Town Council will please post themselves up on the culture of grass.

Mr. L. E. Smith lost a very fine livery horse on Wednesday night from colic.

The work of decorating the streets has commenced in some parts of the town. We hope there will be active competition for the prize offered by THE HERALD for the best work in this line.

The Jewish New Year, "Rash Hashono," was observed on Monday by all of our Jewish citizens. Their stores were closed and business of all kinds suspended. On Wednesday "Yom Kipur" will be the Day of Atonement, at which time all business will be suspended.

Miss Maggie Jones, the most accomplished milliner that has ever been in Darlington, had a very successful opening on Monday and her exhibition was very much admired by all who inspected her stock. Her prices are low enough to enable everybody to have a stylish hat.

The street hands are corduroying the streets with grass sod. A little jolting in riding is said to be healthy, but the streets, after they have been treated in this way, rather overdo the business, to say nothing of the damage to vehicles. The council and street overseer ought to be treated to a ride in an ox cart over these rough places.

If any of our subscribers who are in arrears, and a great number of them are, and find it difficult to pay in money we will accept chickens, eggs or butter in payment of their subscriptions and allow them full market price for the same. Corn and oats will also be taken. We must have either the money or something that we can convert into money.

We direct special attention to the advertisement of Baird & Smoot, who have the finest assortment of furniture ever seen in Darlington. They deal directly with the manufacturers and are not afraid to compare prices with any house. In fact in some things they undersell the city establishments. They make a specialty of carpets and can sell them at prices that are astonishingly low. They take pleasure in exhibiting their goods, and want every one to give them a call.

The Union service was held at the Methodist church last Sunday night. The sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Wilson. The closing prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Law, and it was not inappropriate that he should make his last public prayer in another church, when it is considered that he always took so much interest in the Union service. The pastor announced that hereafter there would be preaching every Sunday night, except when one of the other churches had a visiting minister, at which time the night service would be called in.

Of course everybody likes to see babies on the streets, but THE HERALD wants to suggest that the nurses be instructed to remember that they should not roll the carriage two, and sometimes three, abreast and that they ought to take only one side of the walk. The custom with most of them is to plow their way along and never give the least room to pedestrians. It very often happens that people walking together are compelled to separate because these nurses will run their carriages right up against them, and of course they give way as no one would dream of jostling a vehicle that held a helpless little child.

Mr. J. E. Norment, the energetic correspondent of the News and Courier at this place, will have a special letter in the Sunday News, descriptive of Darlington and its surroundings, which will be of special interest to our citizens, and which they all ought to read. Of course there will be other interesting features in the paper, but the articles relating to our town will be its special feature. In order that the paper may be delivered promptly, Mr. Norment will dispatch a special messenger to Florence to meet the early morning train, and will thus be enabled to have it delivered in Darlington during the morning. It will be carried round by newsboys so that all who desire can secure a copy.

The departure of Mr. Law severs the second link in the chain of christian harmony that bound the pastors of the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches, and their congregations, in such close relations with each other, and which presented such a beautiful illustration of that greatest of all christian graces—charity—that charity which should ever prevail among those who profess to follow the precepts of One who, while on earth, in every word and act, taught the sublime doctrines of peace and love to all mankind. The pastor of the Baptist church was cut down in the midst of his useful and consecrated life, the pastor of the Presbyterian church has been called to a distant field of labor and the pastor of the Methodist church is the only one left in our midst.

Owing to the lack of sufficient force in the office we have been compelled to suspend THE DAILY HERALD until we can secure sufficient help to bring it out on time and make it worthy of the town, and of interest to its readers. Some of the help on which we depended proved incompetent, and this left us with very little force, barely sufficient to get out THE WEEKLY HERALD. Our friends will please bear in mind that setting type is something that it takes a long time to learn and in newspaper work it is nearly always a matter of time to replace an incompetent hand. Even if, under circumstances like this, we had the offer of assistance from every man in town it would be entirely useless, unless we could find some one who could set type. We propose to make THE DAILY HERALD a permanent institution of the town and when it appears again it will be better in every way and worthy of the patronage of our people.

The Christmas Fair.

The ladies had a meeting on Monday to make arrangements for the annual Floral exhibit, and after a good deal of discussion decided to have it on the 8th and 9th of November, in the Opera House. We will publish the premium list and other details of the entertainment in our next issue.

At the Churches Sunday.

Rev. A. R. Patterson, a student of the Theological Seminary, will preach at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

The regular morning services at the Methodist church will be conducted by the pastor.

There will be no service at the Baptist church on Sunday.

At the Episcopal church the services will be held at 11 o'clock and be conducted by Rev. Mr. Atkins.

The night services will be announced on Sunday morning.

A Fine Exhibition.

Messrs. S. A. Woods & Co., made a splendid display of dress goods and trimmings on Monday, and their handsome store was visited by a large number of ladies who were loud in their praises of the many beautiful things that were arranged for their inspection. The goods were arranged with excellent taste, and every opportunity afforded for their careful examination. There was every variety that could be wished for and both in price and quality everything that the most fastidious could demand.

Dress goods of all kinds are considerably cheaper than they were last season and the ladies were as much surprised at the prices of the goods as they were delighted at their beauty. Of course those ladies who want to select from the latest styles in dress goods will be at no loss as to the place to find them.

The Queen of Comedies, "Jane."

"Jane" the best comedy which has been seen under Gustave Frohman's management will appear in the Opera House here on Thursday evening the 11th inst. "Jane" depends upon its situations very largely for the laughter it occasions, and of these situations, there is certainly an abundance. The dialogue has had the advantage of repeated polishing, beginning with its original French version, with its British adaptation, and finally with the American approbation. A characteristic feature of the French manuscript of course, is the dialogue, which the English has to discard almost in toto and what the Britons substituted the Americans were forced to thoroughly overhaul and brighten up. It is contended that the latter text showed greater care, consistency and cleverness than either of its predecessors. The plot of "Jane" was necessarily absurd for the purpose of exciting laughter. The fact is further suggested that the former are adepts in their respective characterization.

Its story is simple and its action is confined to one day. In the morning we are introduced into the household of Mr. Charles Shackleton, who is in a shameful state of "hard-up-ness," as his man William expresses it. Mr. Shackleton has represented to his guardian, a Mr. Kershaw, that he is married and it is necessary for him to be matrimonially embarrassed to enjoy a certain income left by his aunt. Mr. Kershaw unexpectedly writes that he will visit Mr. Shackleton, and the latter has but an hour or two to get a wife.

He finds this hard work, but after several ludicrous efforts makes a bargain with his housemaid, Jane, to pretend to be his helpmate. Jane and William are married, but are concealing it. William's jealousy, the heart-breaks of Miss Morton, who is the fiancée of Shackleton, and the deceptions that ensue in every direction to keep old Kershaw properly fooled combine to bring about the most comical situations, and the play floats along on a stream of laughter.

This performance has been highly recommended by those who have witnessed it.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. C. W. Hewitt returned on Monday from a visit to Sumter.

Mrs. A. J. Baird, of Jacksonville, Fla., who has been spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heardon, left for her home on Saturday.

Mr. J. E. Agle has removed to Florence where he will engage in the sewing machine business.

Mrs. Louis Norment returned home Monday.

Mrs. A. P. Levy is visiting relatives in Sumter.

Miss Alice Harrington, of Hartsville, is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. D. C. Milling, of Mars Bluff, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Nina Dove, of Dovesville, is visiting Miss Judith Hodges.

Mr. J. F. Howle, of Florence, was in town on Monday.

Messrs. W. E. Caldwell and H. F. White spent Sunday in Bennettsville.

Mr. A. Nachman has returned from his summer trip, in his usual good health and spirits.

Dr. W. J. Garner has returned from Cleveland Springs where he was the resident physician for the past Summer.

Capt. Whipple has returned from his annual Summer trip and looks as healthy and strong as if he had spent his whole life among the beautiful mountains of his native state, New Hampshire.

Rev. J. G. Law left on yesterday morning for Ocala, Fla., the scene of his future labors, and his departure was a source of regret to every resident of the town. He has been earnest and faithful in the discharge of his duties while here, and has endeavored himself not only to the members of his own congregation but to all classes of our people, whose kindest wishes will follow him to his new home, with the earnest wish that his life may be long spared and that his labors may be abundantly blessed. Mr. Law's family left yesterday afternoon and will join him in Charleston.

"When we asunder part;
How deep how keen the pain,
But we shall still be joined in heart,
And hope to meet again."

The "Factory Girl" at the Darlington Opera House.

Despite the wet weather there was a fine audience out last night to witness the performance of the Florence Amateurs, and it gives us pleasure to say that their expectations were more than realized, despite the fact that they had been led to expect a fine play.

The parts were all well sustained and there was an entire absence of that lack of confidence and hesitation that is so often observed in the acting of amateurs.

Time and again we have had performances from professional companies that were not near equal to the performance last night.

The play itself is a good one and was rendered far more interesting by the admirable manner in which it was given. Where all the parts were so admirably sustained it may seem invidious to make any distinction, but we feel constrained to say that if the opinion of the audience could have been taken it would have been in favor of Miss Alice King, the "Factory Girl," as being the star of the company. Her acting was both natural and graceful. The audience enjoyed the performance on account of its merits, but outside of this were glad to have the opportunity of proving that Darlington does not forget the people who stood by her in the time of trouble.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR FEET!

WHY IS IT that some people walk with such a firm elastic tread while others hobble along and give a groan of agony at every step? It is simply for the reason that the former always look after the comfort of their feet by buying shoes that are made according to scientific principles and which do not make corns on their toes; while the latter buy badly made shoes that almost make a man howl every time he puts them on.

If you are one of those who don't want to torture your feet you will buy your shoes from
