

The Doomed Man

There is a time, we know not when,
A point, we know not where,
That marks the destiny of man To glory or despair.

There is a line by us unseen,
That crosses every path;
The hidden boundary between God's patience and his wrath.

To pass that limit is to die,
To die as if by stealth;
It does not quench the beaming eye, Or pale the glow of health.

The conscience may be still at ease,
The spirit light and gay;
That which is pleasing still may please,
And care be thrust away.

But on that forehead God has set Indelibly a mark;
Unseen by man, for man as yet,
Is blind and in the dark.

And yet the doomed man's path below, Like Eden may have bloomed;
He did not, does not, will not know, Or feel that he is doomed.

He knows, he feels that all is well,
And every fear is stilled;
He lives, he dies, he wakes in hell, Not only doomed, but damned.

Oh! where is this mysterious bourn, By which our path is crossed; Beyond which God himself has sworn,
That he who goes is lost?

How far may we go in sin, How far from God depart?
Where does hope end, where begin The confines of despair?

An answer from the skies is sent,
To that from God depart;
While he is called to thy repent,
And harden not your heart.

The Farmers' Friends.

The swallow, swift and night hawk are the guardians of the atmosphere.
They check the increase of insects that otherwise would overload it.
Woodpeckers, creepers and chickadees are the guardians of the trunks of trees. Warblers and flycatchers protect the foliage. Blackbirds, thrushes, crows and jays protect the surface of the soil; snipe and woodcock protect the soil under the surface.
Each tribe has its respective duties to perform in the economy of nature; and it is an undoubted fact that if the birds were all swept away from off the earth, man could not live upon it, vegetation would wither and die, and insects would become so numerous that no living thing could withstand their attacks.

The wholesale destruction occasioned by the grasshoppers, which have lately devastated the West is undoubtedly caused by the thinning out of the birds, such as grouse, prairie hens, etc., which feed upon them.
The great and inestimable service done to the farmer, gardener and florist by the birds is only becoming known by sad experience. Spare the birds and save your fruit. The fruit and corn taken by them is more than compensated by the vast quantities of obnoxious insects destroyed. The long persecuted crow has been found, by actual experiments, to do far more good by the vast quantity of grubs and insects he devours than the little harm he does in a few grains of corn he pulls up. He is one of the farmers' best friends.—Springfield Republican.

Unseen Influence.

Perhaps we cannot estimate correctly the extent of our influence over every one with whom we come in contact, because in the majority of cases we are not trying to wield any influence. We meet casually with half-a-dozen acquaintances in the course of a day—we talk on indifferent subjects and part, and straightway we forget all that passed between us, or we think we do. But the impressions given (and received) are as inefface-ble as they may be slight, and we can never hold converse for a brief half hour with any fellow-creature without leaving a mark and carrying some away. It is said that if a common door-key, for example, be laid on a sheet of white paper, and then placed, without moving, in a dark closet, the impression of the key will be distinctly seen on the paper for a moment or two, when again brought to light.
How much more certain is the contact of two souls to leave mutual impressions which, unlike the fleeting image of the key on the paper, are destined to endure, perhaps to deepen with years? How careful of our words and actions we should become if we realized fully and and clearly this truth. How many inconsiderate speeches would be made, how many harsh judgments tempered with charity, if the full effect of each was recognized.—Christian Intelligencer.

Why Southerners are Lazy.

There are various reasons why numbers of Southern people are lazy.
The climate is somewhat to blame, whiskey is cheap, the cut, plug and twist tobacco is abundant, and last, but not least, the whitting around country stores is as good as it ever was before. Nobody is afraid of starving in this country, and if we do not raise everything we need to eat, and our governors refuse to call the legislatures to "grant relief" have we not left the glorious privilege of growing and eating?—Weekly Herald.

THE COLUMBIA REGISTER

DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY.

Best Newspaper ever published at the Capital of South Carolina.

Circulation Large and Constantly Increasing.

WE RESPECTFULLY INVITE THE attention of the reading community to the excellent newspapers, we are now publishing in Columbia. THE REG-ISTER is the only paper ever published at the capital of South Carolina which is conducted as are the leading dailies of the principal cities of the country. We have an able and distinguished corps of editors—gentlemen well known all over the State for their learning, ability and sound Democratic principles—men who have served the State and the South on every occasion when the demand arose for their service, and who may safely be depended upon as reliable leaders of the Democracy in the line of journalism.
THE DAILY REGISTER is a twenty-eight column paper, 24 by 36 inches, printed on good paper and with large, clear cut type, containing the Latest Telegraphic News, Full Market Reports, editorial matter on the leading occurrences of the times, and replete with interesting miscellaneous reading. The Local News is full and interesting, one editor devoting his time exclusively to that department. Our correspondence from Washington and other places of note gives an entertaining resume of all the important events of the day.
THE TRI-WEEKLY REGISTER, with some minor changes, comprises the contents of the Daily at $2.50 less per annum.

THE WEEKLY REGISTER is a large, handsomely gotten up eight-page paper, 29 by 42 inches, containing forty-eight columns of reading matter, embracing all the news of the week and the most editorial and local news.
