METHODIST.—Rev. O. A. Darby, Pastor. Services every Sunday morning at half-past 10 o'clock and at night at half-past 7 o'clock. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at half-past 7 o'clock. Sabbath School every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Children's meeting every third Sunday.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., JUNE 4, 1879.

We are pleased to see Mr. John L. Heidman, who has been quite sick, out again.

CORRECTION.—The babe of Mr. E. S. Hubbell died last week instead of Mr. T. C. Hubbell as reported in last DEMOCRAT.

If you want to keep cool during the hot weather, go to S. A. Reeves and try a glass of his iced soda water. The fountain is in full blast.

A negro house on the farm of Dr. A. S. Salley was destroyed by fire on Saturday last, involving a loss of $150. It is probably the work of an incendiary.

The fish season improves as it advances and our fishermen are reaping an abundant harvest of the finest kind of perch and rock fish. Lower your prices, gentleman.

We are sorry to hear of the very serious illness of Mr. John Inabnot, of the firm of D. E. Smoak & Co. We trust he may soon be restored to health and soundness of body again. Our deepest sympathies are with the patient sufferer and his family.

ATTENTION, EPISTO RIFLES.—At an extra meeting of your corps in the engine hall, Tuesday evening, June 10th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly desired. By order Captain Samuel Dibble. AUGUSTUS NEUFFER, Secretary.

On Monday night last Gen. J. F. Izlar took the train for Barnwell, and Messrs. J. C. Pike and Geo. Shirer, for Charleston. We trust these gentlemen will have a quick and successful journey, and a safe return to their homes and families.

We learned from a farmer a few days since that he experienced considerable trouble in procuring cradles to cut his oats. This is owing to the large amount of oats planted this year in excess of last. We hope, however, that every one will get his crop harvested during the fine weather which has been prevailing so long.

Our merchants and business men, not being accustomed to national holidays, assembled at the postoffice last Friday and waited an unreasonable time for Mr. Webster, who, of course, did not appear. Some thoughtful one who had seen the DEMOCRAT mentioned Decoration day as the probable cause.

SHERIFF J. H. Livingston bought a horse a short time since from Augusta, Ga., and the animal had scarcely become accustomed to his new home and master, before he was taken sick and died. It was thought at one time that hydrophobia was the cause, but later symptoms indicated a fatal colic.

A movement should be inaugurated to kill those dead-beats who lounge around country postoffices and rob regular subscribers of their papers. If a man is too poor to subscribe for a paper and pay for it, and will come up and give us his name we will send it him free, but for gracious sake stop this borrowing your neighbor's paper.

This is the season when the love-stricken youth, who doesn't know a violet from a porcupine quill, goes forth to gather flowers for the idol of his heart. And she, bless her, takes the flowers with a gracious smile, and when night sits in the parlor with her other fellow and pins button-hole bouquets all over his coat. Tell you, young man, it is better, far better, to be "her other fellow" than simply "her fellow." Put a pin there.

We regret to learn from the News and Courier that the Hon. R. M. Sims, Secretary of State, is quite sick. May it please all wise Providence to spare his life and speedily restore him to health.

OFFICE hours on Sunday at Dr. Wannamaker's Drug Store from 8 to 10 A. M., and from 6 1-2 to 8 1-2 P. M. In case of emergency access can be had to the Drug Store any time during the day or night.

Mr. W. B. Hill takes pleasure in informing his friends and customers that he is better prepared now to make good flour than ever before, having recently overhauled his Mill, and respectfully solicits their continued patronage. *3t.

We were glad to see the Bev. J. B. Haskell, formerly of our town, now of Stanton, Va., on the streets. Mr. Haskell, we learn, is on a visit to his native state and friends to enjoy his short term of rest from the arduous labors incident to his duties as an officer of the female college.

DURING last week a violent case of hydrophobia appeared on the place of Mr. J. H. Inabnot, of Limestone Swamp neighborhood, in one of his hogs. The animal, showing all the symptoms usually seen in dogs, was killed, but not until it had imparted the virus to two or three others. We would advise that these hogs be killed immediately.

The refinery of Mr. Geo. H. Corneison is beginning to assume proportions and ere long our county will be able to boast of a live and successful sugar refinery within her borders. What are our farmers doing—let your planting of cane and sorghum be liberal, there is more money than you imagine in these crops now than ever before.

We were shown by Mr. J. C. Pike a bunch of oats, said to be produced from one grain, which was composed of two hundred and forty-five shoots, the large majority of these developed heads and well filled grains. This remarkable bunch grew in the garden of Mr. John J. Antley and is one of the finest specimens of the great productivity of this grain.

Dr. A. C. Dukes has removed his stock of drugs and toilet articles to the old stand of Messrs. Sorrentrne & Loryca where he will be glad to see his numerous customers, until the big brick store, which is being built by Mr. Bell, shall be completed. Mr. F. DeMars has occupied the store recently vacated by Mr. John Schneide opposite the California Store.

The sidewalks on Russel-street are being leveled and filled in by the city council, also stringers are placed along the walks which look to other improvements equally essential to the pleasure and success of our people. Such work is commendable but we would like to see some move made toward removing fetid matter from the town. The health of our citizens demands it.

On Friday last about two o'clock there was an alarm of fire given from the neighborhood of the Pinder man's establishment which caused some excitement among the firemen and citizens. The alarm was caused by a large fire, left carelessly by the colored boy in charge of the roaster, burning in the chimney. The door being forced open, the fire was put out and the crowd dispersed.

We are informed that Mr. George Shirer will, at an early day, open a family grocery business in the store formerly occupied by Mr. J. Eros, near the California Store. Mr. Shirer is an esteemed gentleman and extensively known throughout our county. From his long experience in the mercantile business, his polite and agreeable manners and his great zeal in prosecuting any undertaking, we predict for him a gratifying success.

Last Sunday morning during the breakfast hour, a thief entered Meroney's Hotel and secured ninety dollars from a trunk in Miss Meroney's room and three dollars from a boarder in the opposite chamber. This is the third daring robbery that has occurred in our town within a week and so far no clue to the parties has been found. Our citizens should be on the watch, for there are too many idle persons hanging about the streets to live honest lives. Is there no law to put idlers to work, and is there no officer charged with this duty? If not, we hope the next legislature will see to it that such a state of things shall not exist another year. It is no part of freedom to be idlers and loafers.

The Floral Fair.

The Fair Building was again the scene of bustle and life on Friday last. Early Thursday evening parcels of flowers and vegetables, the product of our county and town, were brought and arranged in the most eligible positions until Friday morning presented a most agreeable sight of beautiful flowers mingled charmingly with the most delicious vegetables. About eleven o'clock we entered the main building and, in the second story, found a large company of ladies and gentlemen discussing a problem which found a solution only through the reports of the several committees appointed to decide upon the merits of the articles in the various departments. We joined in, of course, but soon gave up the hopeless task of rendering a decision, and concluded to pencil a thought about each plant as our fancy directed. Beginning at the northeast corner, we found a splendid array of flowers labeled from the hot house and garden of Mrs. T. Kohn, comprising geraniums of every possible kind, name and degree of beauty, some in full bloom, others budding, while a goodly number seemed to rejoice in their luxuriance of foliage only. Two beautiful iron stands, ornamented with banks of musk plants, lady's finger and ice plant, were noticeable features in this group, while here and there were such as, a calla lily, squills plant with its bulb that furnishes the celebrated medicinal syrup, African plant with its stalk closely resembling the cactus while its leaves suggested the gooseberry, verbinas, fountain plant and the bleeding heart, most of them in bloom and so beautifully arranged as to reflect credit not only upon the taste but the skill of Mrs. Kohn.

The next in order was the group of Mrs. A. C. Dukes, consisting of one of the largest and most beautiful geraniums we have ever seen and which attracted the notice of every one passing by, pretty double such as in full bloom, an Arabian jessamine, two apple geraniums and a snap dragon.

A few steps brought us to the group of Mrs. W. W. Culler and here we found splendid specimens of tritona, fucha and mount snow and Lady Plymouth geraniums displayed in their attractive dress.

Further on were arranged in skillful order a fever-few in bloom, Oridisa with its thousands of beautiful scarlet berries, an ivy geranium, Spanish moss and musk plant by Mrs. J. H. Renneker.

Mrs. A. Fischer furnished some splendid specimens of geraniums and Irish moss, whilst next in order came a stand of geraniums and Begonia plant of Mrs. J. L. Heidtman.

Turning to our right upon one of the centre tables was a pyramid of hydrangers, skillfully and tastefully arranged by Mrs. D. C. Rowe, also a bur artichoke in bloom. On the other end of this table was a large arch ornamented with flowers and evergreens surmounting a life size picture of Carolina's loved son, Senator Wade Hampton, made by Mrs. T. Kohn.

Just across the passage way to the right, we met with a large specimen of the common swamp fern, furnished by Mr. John A. Ho'man from the Edisto and presenting all the beauty of its wild state. In close proximity was a collection of wild flowers by Miss M. J. Salley from the forest of our county which compared very favorably in beauty with the domestic varieties by which they were surrounded. A few sprigs of the celebrated Lucerne of the North and West, grown upon the farm of Dr. A. S. Salley, next caught our eye.

We were informed that the patch from which this specimen was taken had been cut three or four times during the present spring and it was now ready again for the reaper. The seed was planted in March and seems to thrive in our soil and climate even without manure. Chickens and every kind of stock were fond of it, leaving other food for this more palatable plant. Here is a suggestion for our live farmers. Four vases of cut flowers nicely arranged by Mrs. Dr. A. S. Salley furnished us with one of the best roses of the variety known as cloth of gold we have ever had the pleasure of seeing. Near by was a stand of cut flowers composed of phlox and verbenas prettily mingled by Mrs. T. Kohn which attracted much attention.

One of the finest samples of the wax plant was found on this table showing its tiny white blooms that far exceeded the best artificial flowers the most skilled hands could make Mrs. W. J. Snider furnish the valuable contribution to the Fair together with specimens of cut flowers. Mrs. L. C. Sanders, of Charleston, here displayed a large collection of hot house plants which were offered for sale, but in consequence of the hard times were not taken in such quantities as she expected.

Leaving the flowers we turned to the array of vegetables exposed to view on the tables of that department. There were squashes, carrots, turnips, beets, Irish potatoes, onions, shallots, cucumbers, corn, peas, beans, cabbages, &c., contributed by Mrs. W. S. Barton, Mrs. W. F. Barton, Mrs. M. J. Snider, Mrs. D. Louis, Mrs. T. Kohn, Mrs. H. N. Snell, Mrs. C. W. Culler, Mrs. J. D. Stroman, Mrs. F. A. Schifley and Mrs. A. C. Andrews. All these samples were the best of their kind and do credit to the ladies who furnished them, but we would notice specially four heads of cabbage contributed by Mrs. Snell as being very fine, indeed the largest we have ever seen in this climate, equal to the best Northern production, also twelve heads contributed by Mrs. A. C. Andrews of a uniformly large size. These vegetables suggest the propriety of successful truck farms in the vicinity of our town to furnish not only our home market but to be shipped to Charleston and elsewhere. Such cabbages as we saw on Friday will command 10 or 20 cents apiece in any market, which will yield the handsome sum of eight hundred or a thousand dollars per acre. Who would plant cotton with such a remunerative crop within easy access to a market?

We now leave this department about which hungry people delight to linger, and step over to the field crops where are every kind and quality of oats and wheat. Here may be seen the progressive farmer—his skill, his success, and his culture—the whole story told in oat and wheat heads. Mr. C. W. Culler contributes splendid samples of the bearded and common wheat, healthy and well developed, also oats.

Capt. J. L. Moorer furnished excellent specimens of his oat crop. Dr. W. F. Barton presented a bundle of oats produced with the pea vine and ash element which attests the value of these manures as food for this crop, also a sample of the vetch, cultivated near Charleston as a manurial plant for oats and wheat.

Col. Paul S. Felder had on exhibition a bundle of oats, the seed of which was furnished by the National Agricultural Department. This oat was just heading, but we saw several heads measuring nineteen inches in length, which is some indication of a valuable variety.

Master Sheldon Scoville deserves great credit and special mention for the specimen of oats from his little crop. Boys, thus early manifesting a pride in farming, will certainly make successful business men.

One of the most valuable contributions from the oat fields was that of Dr. J. C. Holman, of the Fork, from a three acre field which, according to actual measurement, will yield him 105 bushels per acre. This crop was manured with pea vines and fifteen bushels of cotton seed per acre. The Doctor is a practical and successful farmer and the readers of the DEMOCRAT will have the benefit, from time to time, of his valuable experience.

Here ended our walk through the departments of the Floral Fair and our judgment pronounces it a complete success so far as the articles on exhibition are concerned, but the attendance was by no means satisfactory. Our farmers are evidently deficient in a public spirit of this kind, and we hope for the future there will be a marked improvement in their zeal and pride for enterprises of this character.

The following is a full list of premiums awarded for the articles in the various departments:

- Largest variety of hot house plants, Mrs. T. Kohn; best collection hot house plants, Mrs. T. Kohn; second best, Mrs. J. H. Renneker. Best fancy leaf geraniums, Mrs. T. Kohn; second best, Mrs. W. W. Prize Declamation, Monday 7:30 P. M.

Annual meeting of Claflin Board of Trustees, Tuesday at 4 o'clock P. M.

Annual Address, Tuesday evening 7:30 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Middleton, of Marion.

Commencement, Wednesday at 2 o'clock P. M. EDWARD COOKE, President.

Our thanks are due Mr. James Van Tassel for a flask of his excellent corn whiskey, the best we, the DEMOCRAT, have tasted in a long time. With all the mildness and softness of age, we will keep it for medicinal purposes as we can get none better.

The teachers of our county will not forget to meet in Convention to-morrow. On the first page of this issue of the DEMOCRAT, we publish two communications on the subject, which show that a deep interest is felt all over the county for the success of the meeting. To place that success beyond question let them meet prepared to offer suggestions and to make the results such as will redound to the good of the educational interest of the county. Major H. S. Thompson will address the Convention, and doubtless will give the members and teachers much food for thought and action. We hope to see a large number in attendance.

The following resolutions were adopted by the St. Paul's Methodist Church Sunday School last Sunday morning:

RESOLVED, That the thanks of this Sunday School are due and are hereby tendered to Messrs. Augustus Neuffer, B. B. Owens, Jas. A. Stephens, P. C. Brunson and George J. Dexter, who constituted the Committee of Arrangements, and to whose untiring efforts much of the success of the Picnic of last Tuesday is due. RESOLVED, That the thanks of this School be also tendered to the following ladies who constituted the Table Committee: Mrs. J. C. Bell, Mrs. O. A. Darby, Mrs. Aiken Bull, Mrs. H. G. Sheridan, Mrs. J. C. Pike, Mrs. Louis, Mrs. G. W. Brunson, Miss M. E. Harley, Miss M. E. Albergotti, Miss Alice Ransdale, and Miss Ida Ransdale, and whose faithful labors contributed so materially to the enjoyment of the occasion.

RESOLVED, That the thanks of the School be also tendered to the following named gentlemen who so cordially furnished their wagons and teams for the transportation of the School and its friends to Col. A. D. Frederick's Grove: W. M. Sain, J. P. Harley, W. N. Scovill, Jno. H. Dukes, E. R. McKewen, T. W. Albergotti, Joseph Eros, J. C. Pike, D. Louis, W. T. Lightfoot, G. W. Brunson, Dr. E. Cooke, J. W. Mosely, Wm. Wilcox.

RESOLVED, That much of the pleasure enjoyed by the children and their guests is owing to the delightful music furnished by Mr. Henry Kohn and his Quintette Band to whom our grateful acknowledgements are due and thanks tendered.

The unusual hot and sultry weather which prevailed during the last week and the illness of many of our citizens should remind our city board of health of duties unperformed and fearful responsibilities to be met.

Any evening just before sunset one's olfactory may be offended by a sickening stench from the multitude of sinks, cesspools and deposits of fetid matter scattered about our town. This will become more intensified and will fill the atmosphere with the seeds of disease that may prostrate half our citizens when the heat of mid-summer comes upon us. Even now should diphtheria, or any other malignant disease break out, in the present condition of the backyards, it would kill one half of our children and spread mourning broadcast over the town. Let the board of health make wholesome recommendations to our city council for their adoption, and among them the practicability of taking all offensive matter to some point without the limits of the town. The expense of such an arrangement will be insignificant compared to the incalculable advantage to the well being of the citizens of our town. It will be too late to make the necessary plans or to adopt the proper precautionary measures when the air is filled with poison and a virulent epidemic is raging among our people. An ounce of prevention is, indeed, worth a pound of cure.

Have you been to Kortjohn lately? If not, go at once and see the bargains he offers. His Five Cent counter is one of the wonders and continues to draw large crowds of customers from all sections, who buy and go away perfectly satisfied and pronounce Kortjohn's store the cheapest store in the State. We remarked in our last that friend Kortjohn would have to enlarge his store to keep up with his business. He informs us that he intends doing so—or not that exactly, but intends building as soon as the location can be had, and from the description it will be an ornament to the town and very convenient to purchasers; for instance the Grocery Department on the first floor, Dry Goods and Notions on the second, and Hats and Shoes on the third. We like the idea and hope to see it going ahead. Of course some will say it would be too much trouble to go up to the third story, but not so, friend, as he proposes having an elevator to carry you up. Let every one call on Dick, give him a helping hand and he will soon have a building for your accommodation and an ornament to the town. "So mote it be."
