

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

All communications intended for this column should be addressed to J. B. O'N. Holloway, Esq., who has kindly consented to edit it.

Think for Yourself.

One of the first questions asked by most teachers is: "How does this man effect success?" making the inquiry, evidently, to follow blindly in his footsteps whether he is qualified for it or not.

Special methods are as numerous as teachers. Every little up-start of a pedagogue has his special method, and there is nothing in what he is so self-conceited and egotistical as his "special" methods.

Then we have "personal" methods, and it is of this we wish mainly to speak. Teachers often fail where some young preachers fail.

Better be yourself a thousand times, though uncouth and homely, than warp and twist yourself with artificial ways.

Of the one hundred teachers in Orangeburg County scarcely one fourth of that number attended the meeting of the Institute on the 12th instant.
