

Read and Study. How many of our teachers are subscribers to educational periodicals? Very few, we fear, and yet how necessary they are for the improvement of the teacher in his profession. Unless the physician reads and studies periodicals connected with his calling in order to keep abreast with the many improvements and the rapid strides of the science of medicine, he will prove himself an unworthy disciple of Esculapius.

WE RESPECTFULLY INVITE THE attention of the reading community to the excellent newspapers we are now publishing in Columbia. We have an able and distinguished corps of editors—gentlemen well known all over the State for their learning, ability and sound Democratic principles.

A New Sea. It is known from careful measurements of M. Rondale, that a large part of the desert of Sahara is a large basin, having a surface level lower than the Mediterranean Sea. In that part of the desert south of Algeria and Tunis, this depression extends about 3,400 square miles, which is equal to the area of the States of Delaware and Rhode Island.

A minister was ridding through a section of the State of South Carolina where custom forbade unkeepers to take pay from the clergy who stayed with them. The minister in question took supper without prayers or grace, and was about to take his departure when mine host presented his bill.

General Sherman, who burnt Atlanta and Columbia, and who is nothing but an educated vandal, is opposed to introducing collar ornament to indicate rank because the Confederates wore them. Eh, hem! This moves that unappreciated paper, the Richmond State, to say: "That's right, General; for we should hate to see you wear the badges of honor that distinguished such true soldiers of Lee and Jackson from men of your commoner mould."

It is not well for teachers to love their pupils unequally, or, if they do, they should not show it, for one will be made proud, the other envious, and both foolish. Impartiality is the crowning virtue in a school-room.
