

Church Directory. Methodist—Rev. O. A. Darby, Pastor. Services every Sunday morning at half-past 10 o'clock and at night at half-past 7 o'clock.

Mr. James A. Hamilton offers his services to the public as an auctioneer. See his card in another column.

Mr. Ed. Williams, of Florida and brother of our townsman, Mr. J. A. Williams, is in town on a visit to his relatives.

Bishop Howe will preach at the Episcopal Church next Sunday, and confirm several applicants for Church membership.

The recent seasonable rains insure a heavy rice crop throughout the county. We are glad to learn that our farmers have generally planted this grain and will reap an abundant harvest.

Our thanks are due Mr. Lewis Evans, of Providence, for a lot of fine, solid cabbage heads, which prove how successful he is at gardening and how mindful of the comfort of the printer.

New cotton is beginning to come in rapidly and the probabilities are that the fall and winter trade will be large. Our merchants are disposed to make close sales and allow the farmers all the margin possible.

Ben Loyd and cripple Tom were arrested by Policeman Cannon for fighting in the streets on Wednesday morning and carried before the Mayor on yesterday. They were charged two dollars apiece for the fun.

Remember the schools of Misses R. S. Albergotti, C. M. Evans and Annie Albergotti will open next Monday. These are old established schools and we bespeak for them a liberal share of public patronage.

We were glad to meet our young friend, Mr. A. E. Glover on the streets after so long an absence from his native town. Mr. Glover is doing business in Augusta, Ga., under most promising circumstances of success.

Mr. John Ayers, one of the excursionists from our county while coming to the depot at Spartaburg a few days ago had his arm broken by the mules running away with the vehicle. Mr. Ayers is now at home and doing well.

The residence of Mr. Daniel O' Cain was destroyed by fire on Saturday last. The fire was purely accidental as no reason can be assigned for its occurrence. Mr. O' Cain was in Orangeburg at the time and consequently the loss was heavy.

We call the attention of parents to the harm that may befall their children by allowing them to loaf about the depot. We noticed on the approach of the train boys tussling on the platform. This is dangerous and might cause serious trouble.

A visit to the sugar refinery showed that the engine is in position and a few days more will see this valuable enterprise at work. An ounce of such practice (and there are thousands put in it) is worth tons of theory. Who will have the nerve and patriotism to follow suit? Some can if they will.

We learn from Mr. T. O. Dawson, railroad agent at this place, that the checking of baggage, according to recent orders, is done by the agent after tickets have been bought. Persons, therefore, who design taking the train at this point will remember the depot in ample time to allow the agent to perform the extra work.

Lety Gowan and Cely Daniels, two viragos, were taken before the Mayor's Court on yesterday by policeman Dantzer for disturbing the peace of the community. A fine of two dollars served only to put them in proper time for Trial Justice Julius Glover, who added four dollars more by way of a peace offering.

This town is building up. This is brave, but the backbone is home industry. Let us manufacture to sell. The community that buys more than it sells is going backward. We can sell more than we buy if capital will get into factories of any kind.

A New Family Grocery.—We notice that Mr. W. H. Schifley has opened a grocery on Russell-street near the railroad and proposes to keep a small and fresh stock of family groceries on hand. This will afford an additional convenience to our citizens in that end of the time.

A one-legged negro man, known about town as Andy alias Sandy, alias Alfred was caught by Mr. Lewin in the stable of Mr. B. F. Thompson with a bag containing about one bushel of corn which he had stolen from the barn. Mr. Lewin seized the bag and called for the police, but none being in reach the rogue escaped.

We notice large supplies of fresh goods are being received at the popular store of Mr. J. C. Pike. His clerks are busy unpacking and putting on shelves choice specimens of articles usually kept in every line of general merchandise, and our readers will do well to call and purchase their fall and winter supplies before these splendid bargains are exhausted.

The season for hauling cotton to market and traveling from point to point is at hand and good farmers will see to it that their wagons and buggies are kept in good order. For this purpose they will not forget the establishment of Mr. R. H. Wiles on Market street, who has in his employ experienced workmen and is prepared to put up jobs in the best manner and at the cheapest cash rates. Give him a call.

We understand that a second edition of the pamphlet published by the Ladies' Confederate Monument Association, commemorative of the unveiling of the monument at Columbia, is about to be issued, the first edition having been exhausted. Persons desiring copies will please inform Mrs. Samuel Dibble, stating how many they wish to procure. The price of this edition will be thirty cents.

Mr. C. L. Carn, near Reevesville, killed about seventy rats two nights last week by a very ingenious contrivance. He made a cover for a bgrrel with a hole in centre of cover sufficiently large for a rat to find easy passage through, and greased the underside of cover with tallow or other bait palatable to rats. He then placed the cover on the barrel securely and the work was done. Next morning the barrel was full of rats and Mr. Carn was delighted.

We were pleased to receive President J. L. Jones, of the Columbia Female College, at our residence and office yesterday. He is quite a dignified and affable gentleman, and seems peculiarly fitted for the work in which he is engaged. The Trustees of the institution were fortunate in securing a President so well qualified as a disciplinarian and educator for their college as President Jones. The gratifying success of which is a proof of the wisdom of their choice.

The season for planting turnip and cabbage seed for early spring beds is not yet passed, and we would remind those who have neglected these necessary crops, that Mr. W. F. Robinson has a new supply of fresh seed of every variety adapted to our climate and soil, and will dispose of them at rates to suit every one. Don't delay longer but call at Mr. Robinson's and save your money by procuring his fresh and reliable seed. In the mean time bring your watch and clock along to be repaired better than can be done elsewhere and cheaper.

We were pleased to meet Prof. W. H. Lawrence, of the Clinlin University, on the street on Wednesday last after his long absence on a visit to his friends and kindred in the North. He has been well taken care of and returns to his field of labor strengthened and prepared for another year of patient and arduous toil. We trust another year's sojourn among us will result in a greater measure of good, if that be possible, than the last to our colored population. We wish for him and his loved ones a year of happy contentment and great prosperity.

The attention of the public is called to the lecture of Hon. J. L. Jones, President of Columbia Female College, at the Methodist Church this evening at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Female Education," and our citizens may expect to hear a fine lecture from this learned gentleman, who comes among us merely in the interest of his college and our Southern women. No money is wanted—only hearers. His reputation as a public speaker and an educator of youths warrants us in predicting a full house and a literary treat.

EX-JUDGE W. W. Legare, late of Clarksville University, now Professor of Natural Science at Adger College, Walhalla, S. C., visited Orangeburg on Wednesday last. He looks well, and it was a matter of real pleasure to him and a host of friends that he stopped here on his way home. Few of Carolina's sons have made a better impression for social worth and classical attainment than Prof. Legare, combining as he eminently does the gentleman and scholar. It is hoped that his services in the literary and scientific world will be secured permanently by the State.

The citizens about Center Hill are making very earnest efforts to build a fine academy with a view of establishing a high school for the education of their children. We admire and commend this spirit of enterprise to our citizens of other sections, with the hope they may take like steps in this direction. To establish first-class schools to be supported both by private and the public funds is the only way to educate our children. Such schools may be permanent and and run the year round, while public school cannot run more than six months at best.

The sad event in the death of Miss Marie Whaley, elder daughter of Maj. T. B. Whaley, will be learned with great regret. Frequent mentions of declining health compelled a resort to Aiken, where she departed life on the 27th. The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Thursday, the 28th, at the Episcopal Church, Rev. Mr. Guerry officiating. Even while the insidious disease was working its stealthy and certain work, Miss Whaley preserved that fine appearance of health which was retained to within a short time of her death. She was taken in the early morning of life; in full view of all that heightens the hopes of youth. Just as the horizon dawned with gilded promises the pall lowered and death demanded its prey. The cause of Miss Whaley's death was consumption.

On last Friday quite a novel suit was entered by the State against Messrs. W. B. Way, E. M. Parler, J. D. Shuler, Thomas Felder, Brooks Parler and Calvin Shuler for violation of the "act for the protection and preservation of useful animals"—familiarily known as the game law. Mr. S. B. Foxworth was the informant and made affidavit that the above parties "did hunt and kill" a deer before the 1st of August. Three colored witnesses, apparently reliable men, were examined and each asserted upon oath that he knew nothing about the matter and of course Gen. J. F. Izlar, defendant's attorney, demanded a verdict of "not guilty" which was rendered. We understand other suits are to follow, instituted by the defendants, which will cost a great deal of money, if nothing more. This admonishes those who are disposed to inform against others to at least see to it that their affidavits will be corroborated by good witness before they proceed to such a step against their neighbors as it won't pay.

The public are again reminded that Sheridan's Classical School for boys and girls will open next Monday at 9 o'clock A. M., at his rooms in the Fair Building. This is an earnest effort to meet the educational demands of Orangeburg and we hope the public will give the enterprise a liberal support. Girls, as well as boys, will be received and will be under the immediate supervision of Miss Mackay, yet controlled by the Principal. Every care and attention to advance the pupils in every grade will be made by the teacher; and parents and guardians are assured that ample time will be given to each student whether large or small, beginners or advanced. Reading, writing, spelling and the rudimentary branches will receive special attention. Whilst the school is graded and each room presided over by a teacher, yet the discipline will be that of the Principal, who alone will administer punishment to offenders. Children should be in attendance the first day to be classified and begin their studies at once.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL EXAMINERS met at Sheridan's School room on Friday and Saturday last, for the purpose of examining applicants for Teachers' certificates. A short time since we were in company with two very intelligent and accomplished young ladies, and one of them flatly informed us that one of the biggest stories she ever read in her life she read in the local column of the DEMOCRAT of the week before. We tried hard to look innocent and modestly enquired the nature of the article which had brought our reputation for veracity into such serious jeopardy, and after learning the paragraph, we were compelled to admit that the picture was pretty highly colored. We mention this little occurrence for the benefit of our brethren of the press, so that they may be careful how they puff at—well we won't say what—or they may be cornered as we were, and forced to own up, or stand a confessed numbskull.

At a meeting of the Edisto Rifles held Tuesday evening, August 19th, 1879, the following resolutions of thanks were adopted by said Company:

RESOLVED, That the thanks of the Company are due and are hereby tendered to Mr. Henry Kohn and to the ladies and gentlemen and children who sang and played at our concert on the 15th of August.

To the ladies who had charge of the refreshments, also to those who contributed to the refreshment stand.
