ORANGEBURG, S. C. NOVEMBER 7, 1879.

GEN. Jas. F. Izlar is absent from town on professional duties.

Mr. E. F. Slater proposes to re-roof his hotel which will add to its convenience and comfort.

We failed to get the premium list of our late Fair in time for this issue. It will appear in our next.

There are certainly an over stock of horses on the Orangeburg market, and they ought to get cheap.

The little daughters of Messrs. J. H. Arant and J. W. Moseley fainted on the Fair grounds Thursday.

The matrimonial market is showing signs of improvement. Engagements in futures are spoken of.

Mr Geo H Cornelison has just received a full line of Clothing of all styles, also a large lot of new Harness.

A fierce yard dog, tied in the poultry department, bit several persons at the Fair who were trying to pet the animal.

Colds and some fever prevail among the children both in the town and county in consequence of the present cold snap.

We learn that a little child of Dr. and Mrs. B. H. Knotts, of Bull Swamp, died on Tuesday last.

We were glad to see Mr. Samuel D. Dantzer, of Alabama, who is on a visit to his friends and kindred in this county. He looks well and is in fine spirits.

At the Fair on Friday last we had the pleasure of greeting an old friend in the person of John A. Moroso, Esq., a representative of the News and Courier.

We are glad to learn that Miss Annie Albergotti, who has been so long seriously ill, is convalescing. We hope time is only needed for her complete restoration to health.

"What is heaven's best gift to man?" asked a young lady one Sunday night, smiling sweetly on her male companion. "A horse," replied the young man, with prudence.

The Rev. W. R. Richardson, who has been spending a few days in our town on a visit to his friends after his return from California, left on Wednesday last for his home in the up-country.

SENATOR Hampton attended the Abbeville Fair on last Friday, and made a speech to a large crowd of citizens. We had no Senator or Governor at our Fair, but we enjoyed it all the same.

Our exchanges speak of the Fairs held in other counties as failures compared with those of previous years. This can only be accounted for by the drought which prevailed throughout the up-country.

OLD farm horses and mules changed owners on salesday from 75 cents up to $5 apiece. Of course when good mules are desired purchasers will go to Mr. B. Frank Slater, one of whose mules is worth a car load of salesday stock.

Dr. T. A. Elliott and Mr. James L. Sims will attend the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of South Carolina as representatives of Orangeburg Division. The Grand Division meets in Columbia on next Wednesday.

On Thursday of the Fair, a heavy window shutter, falling from the second story, struck a colored boy on the head and seriously wounded him. Drs. M. G. Salley, T. Keller, W. S. Barton and W. C. Bates gave the wound prompt attention and it is hoped he will soon recover.

The Centre Hill Academy, which we reported in progress of erection some time ago, seems to be at a stand still. What's the matter, gentlemen of the committee, why let your lumber lie idle on the ground and at the mill. Suffer not the old maxim, "what's everybody's business is nobody's business" to be verified in a matter of so much importance to your community. Make a fresh start and complete the work.

We saw a limb of cotton at the Fair ten inches in length with twenty-three matured bolls, and the bases of two sun flower blooms thirteen inches in diameter. These curiosities grew on the place of Mr. H. H. Salley, in our county.

A sour-tempered, dyspeptic old bachelor, who hates calico because he don't own any, has discovered that the difference between a woman and an umbrella is, that there are times when you can shut up an umbrella but a woman, never!

Quite a number of farmers were in town Wednesday to receive fruit trees ordered in the summer from a nursery in North Carolina. The last season, so fatal to fruit of every kind, has in no wise discouraged the Orangeburg fruit growers.

From the regularity of the Young Men's Prayer Meeting at the Methodist Church, the interest manifested and the increased attendance, we predict the happiest results to the community. These meetings keep the fires burning upon the altar.

We had the pleasure of a call during Fair week from Mr. H. E. Beard, one of the proprietors of the Kershaw Gazette. He is young and handsome, and it is surprising that some one of the many pretty girls of Camden have not captured him ere this.

An exchange says there are six men in St. Louis who have killed women. We will venture the assertion that there are six hundred, the only difference being one lot did it openly, while the other did it with worry and bother, and unkindness generally.

The change of schedule on the South Carolina Railroad and the consequent late arrival of the mail train from Columbia prove a serious inconvenience in the matter of mail delivery to our citizens. We hope our postmaster may find it convenient to remedy the evil.

OUR town for the last week has been graced by the presence of several young ladies from Edgefield County. We hope their stay among us has been pleasant, and that they will carry with them to their homes when they return many pleasing recollections of their visit to old Orangeburg.

Mr. J. S. Albergotti seeing a dark key walk out of Kortjohn's cheap store on Saturday last with a bolt of jeans under his arm for which he had not paid, followed him to the postoffice where the negro entered to conceal his stolen goods. Policeman Washington, being near, was called in and carried the rogue to jail.

Mr. Avery Heaton, while attempting to ride his horse across the railroad track on Saturday night last in front of the down mail train, was thrown from his horse and run over by the train. It is thought the animal became frightened by the glare of the headlight on the engine. The bereaved relatives have our sympathies.

A larger number of trains are employed now on the South Carolina Railroad than at any previous time to move the freight, which is a sure indication of the increased business of the road under the present management. Trains are often forced to lay over for hours waiting for others to pass, before they can move. This is business.

GENERAL Toombs, in reply to a question asked him as to the whereabouts of Alexander Stephens, said: "I don't know, but I think Alex. must be trying to get married, or he is loafing around Narraganset Pier. I have written to him that if he did not come home I would administer on his estate and take his place in Congress."

A. J. Ransier, who was a rampant Radical as long as it was profitable for him to be such publishes the following card in the Charleston Democrat: "Please say for me that the rumor that I have gone back on Mr. Sale in my humble support of him for re-election to the mayoralty is simply false." Sale claims to be the regular Democrat nominee. Heaven save the mark.

FOR THE TEETH.—Many of the powders and pastes now in the market contain ingredients like pumice stone, charcoal, &c., which ought never to be used for the purpose. The Saponaceous Tooth Powder is warranted to contain nothing in the least injurious, and has no equal for its purpose, as its flavor is pleasant, is perfectly soluble in the mouth, and contains nothing gritty or rough for the teeth. For sale by Dr. J. G. WANNAMAKER.

"They cure!" What cure? AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for a cough (AYER'S PILL for purgative purposes, and AYER'S SASSAPARILLA for complaints that require an alterative medicine.

The Glass Ball shooting at the Fair last week resulted in a victory for the team of which Dr. M. G. Salley was captain. We understand that the three teams will have another trial of skill next Monday evening.

The weather is growing cold. Frost has been seen pretty generally through the county, and the early risers report plenty of ice on Tuesday morning. Those of our citizens who are not prepared for such a state of things will be benefited by consulting the columns of the DEMOCRAT for the stores where the best blankets and winter goods may be found.

The death of "Fighting Joe Hooker" will vividly recall the very prominent part he took in the late difficulty, on the Federal side. His defeat by Lee and Jackson at Chancellorsville, where he was badly wounded, did not abate a jot his reputation as a frank and gallant soldier. After the war, he invariably met every ex-Confederate soldier with open hand, genial manner and kindly words.

On the first-page of this week's issue will be found a communication criticizing the editorial management of our neighbor, the Times, and asking us certain questions, which we of course can't answer, as we know nothing of the business of our cotemporary. We have no doubt, though, but that the questions propounded can and will be satisfactorily answered by the editor of that paper.

A great many young men say they are too poor to marry. They seem to think that a wife would be an additional expense without a proportionate return. We don't know how far the girls are responsible for these impressions. Some women escape much trouble by not getting married to some man. And some men are made miserable by marrying some women. So we conclude that marriage, after all, is a "leap in the dark."

The South is solid, say the Mobile Register, because we of the South are the peculiar victims of Republican policy—a policy which actually subjected for six mortal years and which would subject again property to pauperism, intelligence to ignorance, honesty to theft and peace to anarchy. The North is not solid and cannot become so, since the theory of government which the Republican party would apply to the South strikes at the liberties of the North and South alike.

The News and Courier with its characteristic enterprise gives notice of a premium of one hundred dollars for the best serial story and twenty-five dollars for the best child's story, to be handed in before the last of February next. This is a laudable spirit and especially to be commended at this particular juncture when our professional literary men are abandoning the South because she extends no patronage to their profession. No investment will pay better in the long run than this.

TILDEN got a black eye in New York. He is now out of the field for President in 1880. But C. D. Kortjohn still braves the age with his wonderful determination to sell lower than any of Orangeburg's merchants. For a little money one can buy from him goods that elsewhere would cost a great deal. In fact, there are men and women in this county who will tell you, "we used to want to go to Charleston to buy, but since Kortjohn opened we prefer buying there to any place in the state." The secret of this, he keeps on hand first-class articles, and he offers them for one-half what they can be had in Charleston or Columbia.

Y. M. C. A.—The week of prayer to be observed by Associations throughout the world, will commence Monday, November 9th, and includes Saturday, the 15th. Our Young Men's Christian Association here will hold a prayer meeting each evening during the week at their rooms, Russell-street, commencing at eight o'clock, to which all are invited. The young men of our community are earnestly requested to attend these meetings. The subjects to be discussed have been carefully prepared by the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and have a direct bearing on young men and the preparation needed to fit them for their life work. It is to be hoped the Association will, by the numbers attending these meetings, be encouraged in their work of love.

The November number of the Southern Educational Monthly comes to hand with the following leading articles: "Our Greatest Need," "The Teacher's Aims"; "The Teacher's Preparation and Methods," by Miss M. R. Bright; "Supplementing the Public School Fund," by R. Means Davis; "Phonatics," "The State and Education," "Cultivating Perception and Memory," "Primary Teaching," with departments of News, Queries, Book Notices, etc. Teachers will find much help in its columns and the assistance given by such an organ to their profession should induce them to give the Monthly their hearty support. It is published by Walker, Evans & Cogswell, Charleston, S. C., 50 cents a year. Samples sent free.

"I don't like," said Col. Sturdy, as he took the large arm chair in the reporter's room, "don't like to see the young gentlemen of to-day salute the ladies on the streets. It's a shame, sir, and you can put my name in the paper as saying so; it's a shame to see even those young gentlemen who are well-bred jerk off their hats the way they do in passing the ladies. There's no motion of the head, sir; not the least inclination of the body, but pop! off goes the hat, and pop! on it goes. Their fathers didn't salute the fair creatures in that style, sir; and, by Pluto, it ought to be changed, sir." The old fellow was evidently in earnest, and we could not but acknowledge that there seem to have grown up a careless spirit in this little exhibition of that courtesy to the fair sex which every true man is proud to render to the better half of humanity.

Columbia Corset Works. NEW HAVEN, CT., JAN. 9th, 1879. DEAR SIR—In reply to your favor would say we have been using the White Sewing Machine on corset work about one and half years. We have in use nearly 500 running part by steam power at 1000 revolutions per minute and find them the cheapest machine to keep in repair of any we ever had during an experience of 18 years in the corset business. The machine is so simple in construction that we have no trouble in learning beginners to run it incomparatively a very short time. The evenness of the tensions warrant us in using it on our finest class of goods as well as on the lower grades. It keeps the work free from oil spots which is so very essential in white goods. We consider it the most perfect machine in the market for corset work and recommend them equally as highly for family use. Yours Truly, MAYER, STROUSE & Co.

At a meeting of the Edisto Rifles held October 28th, 1877, the following resolutions were adopted by the company: Resolved, That the heartfelt thanks of the company are returned to the ladies of Orangeburg and its vicinity who assisted in the management of the Fair, and so largely contributed to make it a success. Resolved, That we cordially appreciate the generous conduct of the Elliott Hook and Ladder Company in offering their Hall for the occasion free of rent; of W. M. Sain, Esq., in furnishing shelter for the truck; of the Young Men's Christian Association in placing their rooms at our disposal; of the esteemed principal of the school there taught in removing to the Young Men's Christian Association rooms during the Fair, and of the Orangeburg Quintette Club for their artistic assistance in furnishing music to enliven our entertainment, and of the ORANGEBURG DEMOCRAT and Orangeburg Times for a liberal use of their columns for advertising and other favors.

Resolved, That the company also gratefully acknowledge the assistance of the ladies and gentlemen of Orangeburg and of the county who manifested so great a sympathy with the objects of our Fair by contributions of articles and money and by other services. The company can never forget these manifestations of interest felt towards the company in this community and they will endeavor always to fulfill so far as in their power, their soldierly duties in the guardianship of the public peace and security, should occasion ever arise when they should be called upon to uphold the constituted authorities in the maintenance of order and law. Resolved, That it is with peculiar feelings of obligation that we record our appreciation of the assistance received from friends in Charleston, Columbia and New York. In returning thanks to the ladies and the merchants of the cities of our own state we desire to assure them that we will ever regard their gifts as bestowed on us as a part of the citizen soldiery of South Carolina, whose honor we will ever faithfully uphold to the best of our power, and in receiving contributions from the merchants of New York, the great metropolis of the nation, we recognize that sympathetic bond of union which unites us all, North and South, as one great people. Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the ORANGEBURG DEMOCRAT and Orangeburg Times. Extract from the minutes. T. O. S. DIBBLE, Sec. E. R.
