THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1897.

The Comptroller General will levy an extra tax as required by the Constitution, so that we shall have three dollars per capita for our schools.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has written to President McKinley and the governor of all States asking that the reproduction of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in the kinetoscope be prevented.

A ball will be given by the Benchers of Gray's Inn in the great hall of the Inn to celebrate Queen Victoria's anniversary. The last ball held there was 500 years ago, when Queen Elizabeth danced.

The New York school board has decreed against pie, and the children will not be permitted to eat this indigestible article of food during school hours. This is a bold move on a great American institution.

The lumbermen of San Francisco, Cal., are again trying to organize a trust with the hope of raising the price from $4 to $6 a thousand. Dealers now claim the actual cost of the lumber is greater than the present prices.

The land that is now submerged in the Mississippi valley is said to produce a million and a half bales of cotton. The question is will this be largely reduced, or can the crop be made after the waters subside.

The Tizrah Alliance in York county is going to invite Hon. W. J. Bryan to be present and deliver an address at their next annual Alliance encampment in August, and if he accepts it will be the biggest gathering of Alliance men and farmers this State ever saw.

The first crops of rice and indigo raised in America came from the soil of South Carolina. These two commodities soon lifted her into affluence. In 1892 she came to the front again by raising the first tea ever grown in this country. The yield the first year was one hundred fifty pounds, but this experiment does not give promise of such phenomenal success.

President McKinley is said to have helped out a young friend who was courting a girl he knew by telling him to tell the young lady that if she would like a European bridal trip he would appoint the young man to a consulate as a wedding present. This fixed the business, for the President has been notified that the wedding will take place in June. This is a clear case of bribery, but everything is fair in love and war.

The Grant tomb, New York, which will be dedicated April 27 with imposing ceremonies, has been five years building, cost $600,000. With the exception of the Washington monument is the finest structure ever raised in honor of any man in America, and it rivals the famous mossoleums which contain the dust of the great men of other and older nations. The massive walls are of granite. April 27 is the seventy-fifth anniversary of General Grant's birth.

John D. Rockefeller has delivered himself of the opinion that the poorest man in the world is the one who has nothing but money. According to this view, South Carolina editors are the richest men in the world, for they have about everything else except money.

Hon. John R. McLean is an avowed candidate for Senatorial honors from Ohio. He wants the position now held by Senator Hanna. Mr. McLean has many elements of strength, which his competitors will do well to respect. His life is without a blemish; his constant adherence to the equal coinage of gold and silver; and his firm advocacy of greenback money to supplant all banking currency makes him exceedingly acceptable to the Populists. Mr. McLean is a man of great wealth, and only seeks the office as an honorable recognition. Should the hard times continue until after the fall election, Mr. McLean's chances for carrying Ohio are more than even.

The following was clipped from the Columbia Register of last Friday, and unless the governor interferes today, Myers will hang tomorrow:

Frank Myers, colored, who was to hang in Georgetown to-day has another week of life, at least. The Governor yesterday granted him a respite until next Friday. Perhaps the special reason for the respite is one that has never occurred before. To-day is Good Friday, and, as is the custom with all devout people of the Episcopal Church in Georgetown and elsewhere, they attend services in the church to-day. The church happens to be next to the jail, and if the execution was to take place to-day at the appointed time the crowds of negroes and those morbidly curious would interfere with the services. Mayor Morgan wrote that under the circumstances he thought it would be best to postpone the execution, as he felt certain that a large crowd of negroes would be present and it would take an extra force of constables to preserve order. Under these circumstances the Governor readily issued the order for a respite.

GREELEYVILLE.

Spring is quite upon us now and nature is enfolded in a mantle of emerald beauty. We have been having beautiful weather in this section lately.

Genivieve, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Burgess, died last Sunday, the 11th, inst. We extend our kindest sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Mrs. C. H. McQueen, an aged lady of this place, had a serious fall three weeks ago which caused her a great deal of pain and occasioned her to be almost helpless, but she is improving.

Mr. J. M. Bagnal is still in a critical condition from injuries received from the breaking of a belt in the planing mill of the Mallard Lumber Co. some time since.

A grist mill is being erected by Mr. Browder, at Mulberry, about three miles from Greeleyville.

The farmers of this section are late with their crops this year.

In an old book, dated 1820 there is the following curious love epistle. It affords an admirable play upon words:

"Madam:—Eost worthy of admiration! After consideration and much meditation on the great reputation you possess in the nation. I have a strong inclination to become your relation. On your approbation of the declaration, I shall make preparation to remove my situation to a more convenient station to profess my admiration; and if such obligation is worthy of observation and can obtain consideration, it will be an aggrandization beyond all calculation of the joy and exultation of yours,

SANS DISSIMULATION."

This is the more curious answer: "Sir:—I perused your oration with much deliberation at the great infatuation of your imagination to show such veneration on so slight a foundation. But, after examination and much serious contemplation, I supposed your animation was the fruit of recreation, or had sprung from ostentation to display your education by an odd enumeration, or rather multiplication, of words of the same termination, though of great variation in each respective signification. Now, without disputation, your laborious application in so tedious an occupation deserves commendation and thinking imitation a sufficient gratification, I am without hesitation, yours,
MARY MODERATION."

—Rural World.

True pride is a good thing. It inspires higher motives and better actions. But false pride is bad.

Some people are proud because they possess a little mote of this world's goods than their neighbors; this is pride of wealth, and is a false pride.

Some are proud because they are better educated—know more than their neighbors. This sort of pride is not so bad; but if such people would only reflect how little they know in comparison to what is to be known, they would better realize how little they have to be proud of after all.

Some people, though poor, are too proud to work. This is mean pride. Work is honorable. The idler is no use to himself or herself or to anybody, but is a dead expense and burden upon honorable people who earn a livelihood and have an excuse for living.

A few people are as "proud as Lucifer" without having a solitary thing to be proud of. They have neither wealth, knowledge, or wisdom. They are poor, proud fools.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back kidneys, liver, bladder and evers part of the urinary passager. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggist, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The County Record and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuine ness of this offer.
