High Duties On Buttons.

The cotton crop is looking better than it usually does at this rain would do some good in this part of a statement made by button imsection.

Highland corn is tasseling with a much shorter stalk than we ex- and would prove a severe hardship on pected to see. This is caused by a dry season and cool nights. various garments used by the mass of however, we trust that the fruit will be abundant. Other crops are looking well and a bountiful harvest is expected.

Messrs. Pipkin and Smith have the finest corn crops, perhaps, in the township. Their lands are swamp, with a natural soil of from one to five deep. They use no fertilizers on these lands and, get a yield of from 25 to 90 bushels per acre.

Why is it that our farmers do not grow more pindars than they dof Is it possible that this industry does not pay or is it neg-ketable product and can be sold to any of our merchants at any

The button manufacturers, present and prospective, are unusually greedy in their demands for tariff duties. Mc-Kinley duties are entirely too slow for season of the year, but a little the button infants. The following is

> The proposed duties on buttons, as per schedule of the finance committee of the senate, are as a rule prohibitory goods used by the poorer and middle classes, and also to manufacturers of our people, such as low priced shirts, underwear, clothing, etc. The follow-ing data will give some idea of the inequalities of the proposed duties:

Agate Buttons-Present duty, also McKinley bill, 25 per cent; proposed duty of one-twelfth of 1 cent per line per gross, plus 15 per cent ad valorem, would average from 67 to 161 per cent, bearing heaviest on the class of goods that make up the great bulk of the importations. The following schedule, taking the styles that sell, shows the range proposed:

quarter of a century of free hides. She now sells boots and shoes in all parts of the world. Taxed hides would cripple this and other industries. Her leading senators pretend to represent her and to put up a fight for free hides. In reality they will, if necessary, sacrifice free hides to obtain high duties on sugar with plenty of margin for trust profits. Just why this is so should be a matter for senatorial investigation, if such investigation would only investigate. Fortunately for the Sugar trust, but unfortunately for the rest of us 70,000,000 people, the Sugar trust understands well the art of making friends where they will do the most good. It has able attorneys to advise it how to distribute its sweets to politicians and lawmakers and at the same time to steer clear of jails. In this way and in this way only can we account for the attitude of not a few prominent tariff makers at Washington. The situation is interesting-decidedly 80.

Prices of Linens Go Up.

When the tariff bill was about to be framed, the Republican leaders stated that they desired to be moderate and to avoid anything like excessive rates. Mr. Aldrich, when introducing the amended measure into the senate, claimed that his rates were generally lower than those of the house bill. The linen schedule, however, is a notable one of cause little or none of the raw material required has been found here; second, because the total sales being limited to this country would not warrant the investment of the necessary capital in a plant needed to make the various styles wanted. It is evident that the intention is to exclude these goods in the interest of some higher cost goods. The proposed duty would be a real hardship and bear heavily on the class of people who buy "china buttons," as well as on the manufacturers of cheap shirts, under-many exceptions.' In it the senate rates are higher than those of the house and much higher than anything ever before known.

Under the McKinley bill of 1890 linens were assessed 85 per cent, with a few exceptions as high as 50 per cent ad valorem. . Under the rates proposed by the senate a large proportion of the goods in everyday use will be assessed from 65 to 85 per cent and in some cases over 100 per cent. 'The following table shows some of the changes in the cost of medium and low grade linens:

250 8% 16 1914

The domestic manufacturers in whose interests these changes are supposed to be made have stated that they do not deserve over 50 per cent duty on linen goods, and one of the principal manufacturers of linen and cotton handkerchiefs in America (of Acheson, Harden & Co., Passaic, N. J.) states that he does not desire any advance of duty on his goods.

The gross injustice of these duties can be appreciated when it is remembered that, owing to climatic conditions, good fiber flax cannot be grown or linen manufactured successfully in this country, and when it is further remembered that the kind of linen taxed is the kind that is used by the poorest classes, while a much lower duty is put on the finer grades.

"A License to Steal." That must have been embarrassing information to the United States senate which Statistician Carroll D. Wright furnished that body last week concerning the labor cost of lumber in this country and in Canada. His figures showed that, while the average wages in Canadian sawmills is $1.41 and $1.71 per day here, the average labor cost of 1,000 feet of lumber is $1.28 in. Canada and only 91 cents here. The decreased cost of production in this country is attributed to the superior machinery used. Of course the figures prove the free trade contention that the rate of wages paid does not indicate the cost of production-that low wages are very often more expensive to employers, and vice Brought to Kingstree. versa. But these hard facts furnished by an officer of the government will not dissuade the lumber barops from their purpose to get a tariff on Canadian lumber so that they can the more effectually rob American consumers. Protectionists care nothing for facts. What they want is a license to steal .- National Single Taxer.
