

ENCOURAGED

by the liberal patronage of Williamsburg and adjoining counties I am opening up the largest and most complete stock of goods ever brought to Kingstree. They were bought when the market was down, and I can say I will sell now below market prices.

In order to sell country merchants, we are competing with Charleston prices on GROCERIES, and have been saving them money.

I have extra low prices on tinware and stoves.

By buying our stock of BREACH-LOADING GUNS and PISTOLS before the prices advanced, we can sell you them now at 20 per cent less than the market prices.

Will sell you Good Tobacco in 10-pound Caddies at 19c a pound.

Checked Homespun @ 3 1/2. Full line of Gingham @ 3 1/2 up. Men's Suits @ $2.15 and up. Full line of Boys' Clothing &c.

Furniture Department complete.

All of my flour bought before the rise. Do as your friends do, buy from us and save money, as you will remember our motto is "underbuy, undersell, cash before delivery."

Arkansas Journalism.

Thursday we went over to Plunkville to make Judge Johnson, editor of the Plunkville Patrol, take water, says the Arkansas Thomas Cat. The Judge keeps a gambling den. Two weeks ago we published an item to the effect that he was not a square man, and he sent us word that we were a liar and a coward. While he will know of our coming and is a pretty fair shot, we have every faith that we shall come out a conquering hero. He will hear us whoop as we turn up the main street, and if he hasn't made up his mind to crawfish he had better get a hostile welcome ready for us.

On Friday we are going out to look for Jim Crawford, the half-breed, who has been telling around that he intends to shoot us on sight. If Jim is within 20 miles of town we will find him, and if found we will scare him half to death in five minutes. Saturday will be our day for rounding up six critters at Lang's Ford, who owe a year's subscription each, and has sent us word to whistle for our cash. We may not get it, but at least—three of the delinquents are bear hunters and men of sand—and there is promise of lively sport when we drop in on them. Some Akansaw editors don't seem to get any fun out of running a newspaper, but we have never had to complain of anything in that direction.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall with Meyers Bros' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time the wound healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Dr. Wallace.

The latest official statistics show that the depositors in New York saving banks number 35,000 more and have $26,000,000 more to their credit than a year ago.

Without life death wouldn't be worth dying.

We Guess Nit.

"Pa," said Rev. Mulhatt's son, "Sampson was a strong man, wasn't he?"

"Yes; Sampson was the strongest man that ever lived."

"Tell me about him."

"It was intended that Sampson should be the strongest man, and before he was born—"

The bewildered expression on the child's face arrested the minister in the narration.

"Before he was born?" asked the boy.

"Yes, before—that is before he was found in a hollow stump—"

"Just like little sister?"

"Yes just before was found an angel appeared and foretold of his strength, saying that no razor must touch his head."

"Was the angle afraid the razor would cut him?"

"No, the angle meant that his strength lay in his hair, and that his hair must not come off."

"If I let my hair grow long, can I lift more than I can now?"

"I don't know about that."

"Are women stronger than men?"

"No."

"But they've got longer hair."

"A woman couldn't whip you, could she?"

"No; not easily."

"Was Sampson a Democrat?"

"I don't know."

"But why don't you know? I'd know if I was as old as you. How many men was it that Sampson killed?"

"One thousand."

"He was bad, wasn't he?"

"No."

"But when a man kills another he's bad."

"But the Lord was with Sampson."

"But the Lord says you musn't kill anybody. Did Sampson go to heaven?"

"I suppose so."

"He's the strongest angel there, ain't he?"

"You are getting foolish again."

"But I want to know. Will you know Sampson when you get to heaven?"

"I suppose so."

"But you won't fool around him."

Why take Johnson's Chill & Fever Tonic? Because it cures the most stubborn case of Fever in ONE DAY.

—Where did you spend the summer? "Where I lost my identity."

"Eh?" "Among my wife's relatives, where I am simply known as 'Mary's husband.'"

What is Home?

A world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in.

Where you are treated best and grumble most.

The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The best place for a married man after business hours are over.

The place where the great are sometimes small, the small often great.

The jewel casket containing the most precious of all jewels—domestic happiness.

The coziest, kindest, sweetest place in all the world, the essence of our purest earthly joys and deepest sorrows.

The only spot on earth where the faults and failings of fallen humanity are hidden under the mantle of charity.

A little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances.

A hive in which, like the industrious bee, youth gathers the sweets and memories of life for ages to meditate and feed upon.

Fifty Years Ago.

This is the cradle in which grew that thought of a philanthropic brain; a remedy that would make life new for the multitudes that were racked with pain. 'Twas sarsaparilla, as made, you know by Ayer, some 50 years ago.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in its infancy half a century ago. To-day it doth "bestride the narrow world like a colossus." What is the secret of its power? Its cures! The number of them! The wonder of them! Imitators have followed it from the beginning of its success. They are still behind it. Wearing the only medal granted to sarsaparilla in the World's Fair of 1893, it points proudly to its record. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record!

50 Years of Cures.

—Drunkenness is the parent of most other vices. It quenches the salutary power of reason, and makes us the sport of raging passion.

—It was the saying of a heathen that he who would do good must either have a faithful friend to instruct him, or a watchful enemy to correct him.
