

LIFE AT THE CITADEL.

ACADET GIVES SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

About the Training of the Young Men in this Excellent Institution.

Editor, County Record: The Citadel has opened her gates again after a vacation of three months and the cadets are at their old place in the class room and on the drill ground. There are about thirty-five boys here this year who constitute the fourth class, and two of these are from Williamsburg. During the last few years old Williamsburg has been represented by young men who are doing honor to her county, and we trust that those who represent her in the future may not fall below the rank taken by their predecessors. Besides the two recruits from Williamsburg, there is a second class man here who bids fair to more than repay his county for the benefaction he has received. The one referred to is Mr. S. C. Morris, of Lake City. Mr. Morris is well thought of throughout the academy and is a favorite with a great many of the boys. He is an earnest student and knowing the value of his present opportunities, is trying to improve them. Mr. Pittman, of Gourdin, is one of the recruits from Williamsburg. He has attended Patrick Military school and also the University of Virginia. It is probable that he has decided that he can get just as good an education right in his own State as anywhere else.

There are some organizations among the cadets which add interest and worth to their college life. There are two flourishing literary societies, the Calceopan, and Olytechnic, which meet once every week. These societies are ably managed and the results of oratorical training can be noticed in some of the students who are exceptionally good speakers. Then again, there is a branch Y. M. C. A. here which meets three times every week; on Sunday morning before time for church services, when they are instructed from the Bible by an able minister from the city, and on Sunday and Wednesday nights. The night meetings are conducted by some one of the students who is interested in the association. An athletic association has been recently organized and everybody knows what that means to the students. The cadets have commenced with the spirit which will make it a success. After noting carefully the routine of life of a cadet, can we find any kind of school that will come as near making a complete man of a boy as a military school will? Some schools educate the mind, but leave the body and heart untrained, while others educate heart and mind and leave body undeveloped. But in a school like the Citadel, every important feature of man is taken into consideration and it seeks to leave no part of the boy undeveloped or untrained. One of the most important things we should learn to do, is to govern ourselves, and this is one thing a boy has to learn in order to make a success of military life. In a military school a boy not only has to govern himself, but has to depend upon himself, which makes him self-reliant and self-confident. There is but one conclusion to be drawn from the above facts and that is: that any boy who attends this or a similar school, and applies himself to his tasks and improves the many golden opportunities set before him, after a few years course he will be a man morally, mentally, and physically.

A Great Magazine Feature.

The Ladies' Home Journal has secured what promises to be the great magazine feature of 1898. It is entitled "The Inner Experiences of a Cabinet Maker's Wife." In a series of letters written by the wife of a cabinet member to her sister at home, are detailed her actual experiences in Washington, frankly and freely given. The letters were written without any intention of publication. They gave intimate peeps behind the curtain of high official and social life. They are absolutely fearless, they study Washington life under the search light as it has never been before presented. The President and the highest officials of the land, with the most brilliant men and women of the Capital, are seen in the most familiar way. As these are all actual experiences the name of the writer is withheld. The letters will doubtless excite much shrewd guessing by readers and study of internal evidence to discover the secret. The "Experiences," which will be beautifully illustrated, begin in the December number and will continue for several months.

Here is a little story from real life.

A negro rented a farm from a man who had a store, but for every thing he needed during the year the renter paid cash. At the close of the season he had a fine crop on hand and a plenty of money in sight. The rent was paid in full, and he solicited another year's lease from his landlord.

"You can't rent from me no more," said the landlord. "I'm done with you for good."

"Did'nt I pay you for all I got?" asked the negro, "and ain't I ready to pay you in advance for another year?"

"That's just where the trouble comes in," replied the landlord. "You are too fond of paying cash. What I want in my business is a nigger that farms on a credit.—Atlanta Constitution.

"I DID NOT STOP TO THINK." It was one careless word. And spoken with no ill intent. The moment that its sound I heard I had occasion to lament.

"Twas something I could not recall. It set my features all aflame, It turned a kindly heart to gall, And made mine stop from simple chaff.

It changed a current of a life, It turned me back from fortune's brink— That little word with portent rife— Because "I did not stop to think."

I thought of judgment he had lacked, And spoke: "Twas speaking out of school."

Before the word I could take back, He said, "You think I am a fool."

"Think twice before you speak." Ah, true I knew the adage well, and yet Not fifty words can e'er construe That one or stop a vein regret. —Walter Cooper in New York Ledger.
