BROADWAY RACKET STORE

Everything found in a first-class store will be found there.

CHEATING OURSELVES that's what our friends all say, by charging such low prices for their goods, but their motto has ever been

Underbuy, Undersell, CASH.

They make money by helping you to save money. Try them and be convinced. They carry a full line of all bought before the late high tariff came into effect, therefore they can and will sell you below market prices.

Cotton is low and they know it, and they say they intend to sell goods at the ratio of 4c cotton.

What Norton Will Do.

In speaking of his plans to a Register reporter Congressman Norton said he would remove with his household to his old home at Mullins, where he would remain until congress convened, to straighten out his private affairs. He would be in Washington promptly when congress opened in December and get down to work for his district and his state at once. His family would join him at Washington after the holidays. "Well," said he, when asked what he was going to do for his country when he got to congress, "I haven't definitely mapped out my plans yet. About the first thing I've got to do is to unload a lot of petitions for postmasters in my district."

"The experience I have gained from the service I have had in public affairs will be devoted first to the interests of the people of my district, and next to the people of the state at large."

"If I can aid Columbia in any way at any time or if I can assist any of my old Columbia friends, it will always be my pleasure to serve them."

"I am very much interested in the ports of Charleston, Georgetown and Port Royal, and I am going to see what can be done towards facilitating the work of improvement going on there, and I will use my best endeavors to have Charleston's inland navigation improved. There are great possibilities in those harbors, and they shall receive my study and most careful attention."

"By the way, speaking of Charleston and Port Royal, while I was in Walhalla recently I was forcibly impressed with the importance of completing the old Blue Ridge Railroad. The finishing of that road through the mountains, in my opinion, would make Charleston and Port Royal the most important ports in the South. The tunnel through the Blue Ridge Mountains is almost complete as it stands, and the masonry, which is said to be the finest to be seen on any railroad, is still intact and perfectly sound, and I am going to look into the matter."—Register.

The Woods are Full of Them.

The Augusta Chronicle of last Friday notes the presence of Dr. J. C. Maxwell in the city as follows: Dr. J. C. Maxwell, of Greenwood S. C., is in the city for a few days. The doctor is one of the staunchest Democrats of the old school, and says that the only hope for a Democratic president in the near future is to nominate David B. Hill. Dr. Maxwell would make a fine governor for South Carolina.

Will Oppose Elliott,

Hon. William Perry Murphy is grooming himself for a congressional race. He is longing for the big, fat juicy job of Congressman William Elliott, of Charleston district.

Mr. Murphy is not a weak man by any means, and is well known throughout the state as a former United States district attorney under the Cleveland administration from which position he was displaced in favor of Mr. Lathrop, who was appointed by McKinley last spring.

A close personal friend of Mr. Murphy, who was in the city yesterday, said that Mr. Murphy has fully made up his mind to make the race and was already placing his wires for the coming contest.—Register.

Where the Editor Went

The following floating paragraph expresses the Press idea of the day of reckoning:

"An editor died and slowly wended his way down to where he supposed a warm reception was awaiting him. The Devil meeting him at the gates of hell, said: 'For many years thou hast borne the blame for the mistakes the printers did make in the papers. The paper has gone for $1 a year and alas! even that failed to come in. The printers have bedeviled thee for wages Saturday night when thou hadst not a cent in thy pocket. Men have taken the paper without paying for it, and cursed thee for not getting out a better paper. Thou hast been called a dead beat and a fraud by men that were both. All these things hast thou borne in silence. Lo, thou canst not enter here.' And he fired him. As he did so he murmured to himself: 'Heaven is his home; besides had we allowed him to enter here, he would have been continually dunning his delinquent subscribers—none of whom are in heaven—and thus would have created discord.'"

A restaurant keeper in the Jellico and Coal Creek country of Kentucky has the following business card: "25 cents an eat—25c a sleep. The Edwards House. P. M. Edwards—proprietor, Coal Creek Tenn. Directly opposite R. R. depot. Not the largest hotel in the berg. Not newly furnished through out. No free bus to trains. Not the best grub the market affords. But simply clean bed and something good to eat. Toothpicks and ice water thrown in. Try us! Pay up! And if not satisfied keep mum. Our city is composed mostly of hogs, niggers, merchants and lawyers, named in the order of their importance. Good crosses ties walk on all the principal thoroughfares."

Thomas & Bradham will be found at their old stand in Kingstree from Oct. 1st with a nice lot of horses, ready to fill the wants of their friends and patrons. We will also be ready to collect accounts for stock sold last season. We expect to do some business here and will sell at a price to insure satisfaction. Thanking our friends for past favors and assuring them that we can do better by them than ever before, we solicit and early call.

New York, New Jersey and Kentucky cast fifty eight electoral votes for McKinley. One of Kentucky's votes going to Bryan. New York, New Jersey and Kentucky all went Democratic last week.

Had McKinley been a candidate last week instead of last year the popular vote in these three Democratic States would certainly have been cast against him.

Now, deduct these 58 electoral votes from the 271 which Mr. McKinley received, and there are left 213.

Add these 58 votes to the 176 of Mr. Bryan and he would have 234.

That is a majority of 21 in the Electoral College. In other words, the Democrats do not need to gain another State. They need only retain these three—New York, New Jersey and Kentucky—and they will elect the next President.—New York World.

A woman named Mrs. Louise Busher was accorded a novel funeral at Decatur, Ill., a few days ago. Her grief-stricken husband hired a brass band to toot the liveliest airs it knew, and all along to the "Silent City of the Dead" everything went merry as a marriage bell. It is said the eccentric deceased requested this as a dying wish, and her faithful spouse true to her in death as he was loyal to her in life made an excellent job of the obsequies.

Francis Murphy, the temperance advocate, says that electric light and the bicycle are doing great things for the cause. "The motor man and conductor," he says, "are keeping sober, and the introduction of electricity is to be thanked for it," and a man can't ride a bicycle when he is drunk and a man who is breathing the pure air of the country receives inspiration without the use of artificial stimulants."

The Lexington (Ga.) Echo says: Surely the world is growing better. We had a gentleman to call upon us Monday to ascertain if he was due any subscription upon his paper, which was stopped twenty-three years ago. This gave us hope. If a delinquent of that long standing comes to settle up his dues we have reason to be more hopeful of some of those of more recent date. He sets an example for others to follow.

At the closing of a concert in Norristown, while a young man was struggling with hat, cane, overcoat, opera glasses, and his young lady's fan, all of which he was trying to retain on his lap, a suspicious looking black bottle from the over coat fell on the floor with a loud thud. There, he exclaimed to his companion. I shall lose my cough medicine. That was presence of mind.

A Cause of Epilepsy.

A number of physicians have for some time been studying eye troubles as a cause of epilepsy. It would seem that the relation between cause and effect is so perfect that not a doubt remains that children are not only physically but mentally unbalanced by lack of attention to the eyes. The proportion of defective eyes in children is surprising. More than half of the school children of the country have more or less trouble of this nature. A case which presented many very peculiar symptoms was noted. A youth had epileptic attacks and was put in charge of various specialists, who finally decided that the boy must have received an injury to his skull and was suffering from depression. He had always complained of headaches, and his family were and had been for many years victims to most depressing attacks of this nature. A critical examination failed to show anything wrong with the skull. It was at length decided to test the patient's eyes. The result of this was a prescription for glasses, which at once removed the convulsions and restored him to health. This occurred some years ago, and there has been no return whatever of the trouble. A young girl had suffered with epileptic convulsions until her mind was seriously affected. Glasses constantly worn gave immediate relief, and up to date there have been no more convulsions.—New York Ledger.

Frog-skin gloves are the latest novelty. Frog-skin makes the finest and strongest leather known and should gloves of it strike the popular fancy it would make frog farming more profitable than ever. Until now the demand for frogs has been only for the table, and frog farmers will be only too glad to supply their produce to glove manufacturers.

GETTING READY

Every expectant mother has a trying ordeal to face. If she does not get ready for it, there is no telling what may happen. Child-birth is full of uncertainties if Nature is not given proper assistance.

Mother's Friend

Is the best help you can use at this time. It is a liniment, and when regularly applied several months before baby comes, it makes the advent easy and nearly painless. It relieves and prevents "morning sickness," relaxes the overstrained muscles, relieves the distended feeling, shortens labor, makes recovery rapid and certain without any dangerous after-effects. Mother's Friend is good for only one purpose, viz.: to relieve motherhood of danger and pain.
