SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Theford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Theford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Theford's. E. S.

THE UNATTAINABLE

"THERE'S a spot on my back, about the size of a postage stamp, that has been itching all day," said the retired merchant, "and it has caused me more grief than the last attack of rheumatism. I can't reach it with either hand, and I have been backing up against every telephone pole and gatepost, rubbing like a horse with the mange. A man of my social and commercial standing doesn't look dignified while thus engaged, but when a man's back itches, he has to defy the conventions, and get relief the best way he can."

"I can understand just how it has worried you," said the hotelkeeper. "The fact that you couldn't reach around and claw the itching place with your fingers kept the matter fresh in your memory and got on your nerves. The pursuit of the unattainable always is more interesting to us than the easier work close to hand. You had your whole person to scratch, and might have bought a currycomb for a quarter, and had a good time, but you couldn't be happy until you had reached the one inaccessible spot.

"A while ago I imagined I had heart disease, and went and saw the doctor. He knows I have money in the bank, and am considered good pay, so he confirmed my worst fears, and made up his mind to have me for his star patient, until one of us petered out. He threw an awful scare into me, so that I went home sweating ice cold circus lemonade.

"He gave me some medicines and a lot of instructions. Among them was one to the effect that when I went to bed I should always sleep on my right side. He cautioned me over and over again against laying on my left side, and left the impression that if I disobeyed him, I'd wake up some morning to find myself a candidate for a toral horseshoe.

"That matter looked easy at the time, and I assured the doctor I'd follow his hylaws to the letter. When went to bed that night, I stretched out on my right side, and in ten minutes I was just suffering to roll over.

"I don't believe I ever had such a anker for anything. It seemed to me the height of human happiness would lie in sleeping on one's left side, followed instructions for two nights, and then I decided that life wasn't worth such sacrifices, and I rolled over and slept on my left side, and nothing happened. I was feeling better than usual next morning when I got up.

"Of course this experience lessened my confidence in the doctor's instructions, and I concluded that if I was going to sidestep the instructions I might as well sidestep the medicines, too, for they tasted like low life in a Chinese alley, and I threw the whole lot out of the window. Thus the sawbones lost his most promising patient because he handed out a rule that wasn't strictly necessary.

"Speaking of the unattainable, do you know what's the matter with Silas Furbelow? He has everything a man could ask, a stranger in the town would say. He has a beautiful home and a wife who would be considered a success anywhere, and he has feestoons of money where it will do the most good.

"Yet he has a secret sorrow. I think he's the most melancholy man I ever saw, and his trouble is that he can't raise a good stand of whiskers. Nowadays, when whiskers are considered an infirmity, it seems strange that any man should grieve over such a matter.

"He sends all over the United States for hair growers, and half the time his face is blistered or swollen, and still the whiskers won't grow on him. If some miracle happened, and he woke up some morning to find his countenance all covered with whiskers, he'd probably have them shaved off within a week; but because they won't grow, he won't be happy till he gets them."

Weary of Whirlwinds.
"You don't seem to like the idea of a whirlwind campaign."
"I hate the mere mention of it," replied Farmer Corntassel. "Maybe you'd find it hard to understand, never havin' lived, as I did, in a part of the country where every once in awhile you have to get out and run for a cyclone cellar."

Plenty of Time.
Teacher—What, Bobby, you say you don't want to be president of the United States?

Worth the Labor Involved.
In the old days, the Ceratopsian, or horned quadruped dinosaur, provisionally named the Eoceratops, roamed the Red Deer valley, in Alberta, Canada, and at Steepleville, 125 miles southeast of Calgary, W. E. Cutler excavated a fine ossified specimen of this huge creature. One side is almost intact. Mr. Cutler had to cut through twelve feet of rock to clear away the skeleton. He had been excavating on this one specimen for eight months.

"Is This the Mighty Ocean?"
In his autobiography, James G. Hunker, the critic, says of his first view of the ocean: "When I saw the sea it was as flat as a temperance lecture. I was disappointed because of its wet monotony. I quoted Landor to help me out: 'Is this the mighty ocean?—Is this all? Like the girl in the Stendhal novel, who found love insipid, I felt like asking: 'Is that all?'—'Steeplejack,' by James Gibbons Hunker.

Euric invented the Crinoline.
Among the late Empress Eugenie's numerous claims to fame not the least interesting was her invention of the crinoline skirt, which she is said to have been the first to devise and wear a few months before the birth of the Prince Imperial.

Don't Be Weak and Inefficient

Don't drag around from day to day in a worn-out condition, lacking energy, ambition, strength and endurance. If you are nervous, pale, thin and easily exhausted—if your digestion is poor, your blood impoverished, your kidneys, liver and bowels sluggish—

TAKE MALTOGEN

This preparation is a compound of well known medicines that aid in the digestion and assimilation of the food, build up the blood and purify it by increasing the eliminative powers of the kidneys, liver and bowels. It is complete in itself and all that nature needs to tone up the entire system. Maltogen increases your weight. It builds up a reserve of strength and endurance, thus enabling you to resist disease. Maltogen is exactly the thing that convalescents need—a general reconstructor of worn-out bodies.
