He reports entire unanimity of feeling between the United States, Italy, Holland, France and Spain as to blmetallism, and thinks the gold drain now in progress will open the eyes of Great Britain as to the wisdom of our position.

The year 1881 is continuing its strange performances. Down East queer atmospheric disturbances are noted, creating wonder or alarm. Everything is clothed in a yellowish light, except gas jets, which, as they are ordinarily yellow, now burn white, while the grass on Boston Common looks as if it had a coat of paint. In Rhode Island and Conneticut they have had one or more da k days, such as used to be written about with great marvel in New England's earlier times. On the worst prodigy of the year is the long-continued drought, which is raveging the country far and wide, afflicting alike the cotton and tobacco of the South and the corn and hay of the North; while at the West forest fires are raging with unprecedented fury, and whole villages have been burned to ashes.
