THE RED GROSS IN TROUBLE.

Complaint Made About the Association Being in Centrol of One Person and Finances Are Badly Managed.

Washington, D. C., January 29.— Gen. John M. Wilson, vice president of the National Red Cross, presented to Congress today a memorial regarding that organization, especially with reference to certain differences which have arisen in regard to the management of its affairs. Included in the papers submitted with memorial is a letter from Secretary Cortelyou, addressed to Miss Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross, in which he says that according to a copy of the by-laws sub-mitted by the Association the President and his Cabinet are constinted a board of consultation of the American Red Cross. Mr. Cortelyon says it is impossible for the President and Cabinet to serve in such capacity, and asked that public announcement of that fact be made.

Complaint is made in a memorial sent to President Roosevelt of the manner in which the organization was placed in the hands of one person and of the management of the finances of the Association. Legislation is asked to relieve this condition.

QUAY'S FIGHT FOR "STATEHOOD."

The Pennsylvania Senator Adopts Doubtful Tactics in his Effort to Carry the Bill Through.

Washington, January 28.—A few minutes before Senator Lodge suspended his speech in opposition to the omnibus Statehood bill today, Senator Quay, in charge of that bill, introduced the Statehood measure as an amendment to each of two appropriation bills, the agricultural and the sundry civil bills. The document was handed in very quietly and the occurrence attracted no attention at the time. The amendments contained in each case all the provisions of the bill as it came from the House, and provided for the admission of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona as States of the Union. Senator Quay would not discuss the purpose of this step, but his friends, practically admit that it is the intention so to join the measures with the bills providing money for the conduct of the business of the Government as to render it necessary to accept Statehood in order to secure the passage of the appropriation bills.

That this is the purpose is made Quay requested that the amendments be referred to the committee on organization and conduct of the executive departments, of which he is chairman. Senator Quay's committee is composed whom are friendly to the admission of all the Territories as States.

CHINA AND THE POWERS.

All the Powers Except the United States Insist on Payment of Indemnity in Gold.

Pekin, January 28.—The foreign menisters, with the exception of Minister Conger, at a meeting today draft-ed a note in reply to the Chinese note of January 19, expressing satisfaction with China's admission that the indemnity was on a gold basis, saying that China's regard for her obligations. tions was so scrupulous that they had no fear she would fail to meet them. The minister called attention to the necessity for soon issuing bonds to the different Governments for their shares of the indemnity, to replace the single bond given when the peace protocol was signed, and said they were unable to discuss the question raised by the recent Chinese note until the bonds had been issued.

The ministers including Mr. Conger, joined in another note requesting a more strict compliance with the protocol, in proclaiming the suspension of examinations in districts where foreigners had been massacred and protesting against the numerous appointments of blacklisted officials

Southern Farm Crops.

As the Southern Farm Magazine has pointed out again and again, an agricultural glory of the South is its practical monopoly of ability in this country to raise such crops as cotton, rice, sugar cane, etc. But that glory, as has also been pointed out, has been an influence retarding the exercise of the ability on the part of the South to raise a greater proportion of crops common to all parts of the country than it does. A change for the better has been taking place, and will be accelerated by a more general k nowledge of such facts as those revealed by the figures. The figures for none of the crops save tobacco are equal to the South's capabilities. The South is not even raising its share of the corn. But the latent advantages of the South, awaiting only energy and willingness to escape allegiance to one great crop, appear in the fact that while the South's part of corn raised in the country is but 19 per cent. of the quantity, it is 27.1 per cent. of the value; of wheat, 7.2 per cent. of the quantity and 9 per cent. of the value; of hay, 6.6 per cent. of quantity and 8 per cent. of value; oats, 5.6 per cent. of quantity and 8.6 per cent. of value; of potatoes, 7.6 per cent. of quantity and 10.5 per cent. of value; of rve, 4 per cent. of quantity and 5 per cent. of value, and of tobacco, 76.7 per cent. of quantity and 78.7 per cent. of value. In other words, bushel for bushel or pound for pound, the crops in the South bring a price higher than the price in the whole country. -Southern Farm Magazine.

THE INSCRIPTION AT ARLINGTON.

When President Roosevelt visited Charleston during the South Carolina fiscated and transformed into a Yankee and West Indian Exposition he utter- cemetery (Arlington comprised 1,100 ed the sentiment, that there was a acres and the grand old mansion. The time since the civil war when you could not with truthfulness assert that the Mason and Dixon line is obliterated; that there was a time when it was necessary to repeat the statement often to believe it true, but that and the supreme court gave the estate today as it is an assured fact it is $150,000), that the monument erected time that we imply the truth and cease making reference to it.

A noted scholar prior to this time while visiting the same historic city during the convention of the National Education Associational uttered the sentiment that the day is at hand when we have a reunited county, when Davis, Lee, Jackson, Stuart, Gordon, Hampton and the leaders of the Confederacy belong to the north, and when Lincoln, Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and the northren leaders belong to the south.

As a southerner, and I trust a patprinciples of my section. Without this love first I do not believe I would mothers. Cruelty unspeakable! Outbe capable of compassing the love of rage infinite! Four million bodies in the republic. As the son of a Con-Council further in reference to sale of | federate soldier I grant that President lot on Liberty Street to Game Cock Roosevelt was conscientious when he Lodge, K. of P., and asked that urged that we have realized a complete Roosevelt was conscientious when he reconciliation and, allowing this, I appreciate his generosity, yet while sectionlism is dead with its train of evils in the sense that we hate the north, the traditions and prinicples of our fathers are not dead, but fresh with life, blooming as the Rose of comapny be reduced to $35 in view of Sharon and the lily of the valley as the sons and daughters of the Conhas been allowed an abatement of $15 federacy water them with the dews of on the regular license fee of $50, and he | Heaven. The standard of the little republic was never furled in dishonor but was carried by an angel to the God of Truth, and its star has had no setting but has melted away into the brightness of heaven. Mr. Ward in his recent article which has attracted much attention throughout the country maintains that "In all the ages of civilized man the ethics of combat have contemplated that when individuals, parties or government appeal their issues to the arbitrament of physical forces, the vanquished should accept in good faith the terms of the victor, but the "Olive Branch" of courtesy and conciliation should always be first extended to a fallen foe, by the magnanimity case of smallpox had been reported, of his triumphant antagonist. It carries with it then the aroma of true valor; but when these amenities come ever unsolicited and always unrequired from the weaker party they reek with the odor of sycophancy and chill like the cold clammy hand of insincerity.

I grant that the northern representative of the National Educational association was conscientious when he ance of their duty: who have glorified a fallen cause by the simple manhood of their lives, the patient endurance of suffering and the heroism of death, and who in the dark hour of imprisonment, in the hoplessness of the proceed to vaccinate all persons who hospital, in the short sharp agonies of live in the immediate neighborhood of the field found support and consolation in the belief that at home they would a house to house visit of the entire not be forgotten." "Men whom power city and vaccinate all persons who could not corrupt, whom death could have not been successfully vaccinated not terrify, whom defeat could not dishonor, teaching all who may claim the same birth-right that truth, could be same birth-right that truth, could be same birth-right that truth, could be same believed to state that the board of courage and patriotism endure forever." But when we receive the leaders of the north, with Mr. Ward we think of Lincoln as being strong, conscientious, illiterate, dogmatic, narrow and sctional, who issued his emancipation proclamation for he believed "the time has arrived when we must know whether the slave element is for us or against us."

We think of Grant, disregarding the emancipation proclamation and retaining his slaves to the end of the war, and still wafted to immortality on the wings of victory, as the victorious exponent of the Union cause, the cause that sought to establish the proclama-

I believe that the Mason and Dixon line has been obliterated in the sense that we are united for the establishment of justice, for the common defence, the general welfare and for the purpose of securing the blessings of liberty to ourselves and to our posterity; yet we can never wipe out the memory of our principles, the love for our heros, the tears of the widows and orphans and the blood that was shed.

As the north admits the heroism and the generalship of our leaders we grant them all the glory the magnanimous admission carries with it. Winfield Scott was magnanimous when he said in explaining the cause of his defeat at First Manassas that the men who opposed him were those who had followed him over the walls of the Montezumas. In exchanging the glory of our men we feel that we give more than we receive. In taking Grant and Sherman for Lee and Jackson the world know what we give and we re-ceive the one who "would fight it out along this line if it takes all summer,' the other whose followers carried the torch through the unprotected villages and cities of South Carolina. I shall agree with Mr. Ward and allow the amenities to come from the victorious, yet in the glamnor of the reconciliation, as "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" are blending into "Home, Sweet Home," we must not be blinded to the justice of our position, which was amended) and we must not be lulled into forgetting that there is virtue in a lost cause and it is grander to be a mourner at the defeat of right than to be a king of a carnival of victorious might.

It is enough that historic Arlington, Gen. Lee's old home, should have been sold for taxes, practically contaxes due when it was sold amounted to $92.07. The government bid it in for $268.00. Bob Ingersoll! 'The past rises before us and we see 4,000,000 human beings governed by the lash. We see them bound hand and foot. We hear the strokes of cruel whips. We see the hounds tracking riot, I love the traditions and the women through tangled swamps. We see babes sold from the breasts of chains; 4,000,000 souls in fetters. All the sacred relations of wife, mother, father, child, trampled beneath the brutal feet of might. And all this was done under our own beautiful banner of the free." I was filled with indignation as I read the words, and beneath them on my notebook as I copied appears the short, sharp expression which then and now gives my estimate of the picture-"a miserable I might ask who put it there, and again why should such an inscription be placed upon the walls of the old home of the south's great leader? It is an insult to southern manhood, and until it is removed I shall stand, if I stand alone, as one son of the Confederacy who will doubt the sincerity of any northern conciliator who with a knowledge of this will extend the olive branch of courtesy and conciliation to our great section.
