1 FULL EXPLANATION OF ITS PURPOSES ITS SCOPE AND ITS PERSONNEL. To the Editor of the Mail and Express :

SIR: Despite the generous notice which has been given the Southern Exchange Association by the press of the country, we find in certain quarters a misapprehension as to who compose it, its raison d'etre its plan and purpose, and what it has thus far accomplished. Therefore we ask space in your valuable columns in which to set forth fairly these matters.

The small central b dy, with its headquarters here at the commercial heart of the mation consists of forty-four members. Eighteen of these are Northern men, ten are Southern by birth, but Northern by adoption, and the remainder are Southerners and reside in the South. These last hre chairmen of the Advisory Boards of their respective States, Missouri and the District Columbia bringing the number up to six-

The chairman of each State appoints a chairman for each Congressional District thereof, and the latter a chair an for each county in his district. This organization is further extended by the appointment of a chairman for each township in the county.
All report through the successive grades, to the central body at New York. To each chairman is accorded the privilege of gathering about him the number he finds neces sory to make up an efficient advisory board.

The purposes of the association are "to provide the ways and means for ascertaining advertising, and in all ways advancing the development of the South. Which, analyzed, means that it will, through experts gather reliable and exhaustive data as to the South's resources, advantages and needs and, through appropriate channels convey this specific information, properly arranged and classified, to those whom it will most

To answer the inquiry thus awakened, it will maintain in New York City a permanent exhibit, which will afford ocular demonetration of what the South produces: and it will keep a registry, open to inspection by prospective settlers or investors and which will set forth properties for sa'e in the way of timber, mineral or agricultural lands, water powers, etc., inducements offered to immigration or to manufacture, capital wanted for commercial or industrial enterprises etc., by individuals, firms, corporations or communities together with the terms and conditions governing same.

A skilled artisan or agriculturist is dissatisfied with his surroundings—some locality in the South exactly fits his requirements and badly needs him; a Southern town wants and is offering extraordinary inducements for some particular kind of mill-elsewhere parties are searching for just such opportunity; some Southern locality is making an attractive bid for much needed capital—in other sections of the country idle capital is awaiting such adven-ture; yet these without the intervention of find each other.

The several States of the South, through their commissioners of immigration, bureaus of agriculture land or other departments have long sought to attract settlers; the communities of the South, through their commercial bodies, to encourage manufac-ture and the investment of capital; but lacking concert of action, they have met with failure, or at best, only partial success-bidding against each other, they have hurt each other's chances.

The Southern railroads have been no more successful, for actuated by the same spirit of competition which governed the policy of the great East and West railroads in settling their waste lands, they seldom have paused to consider whether or no the immigrant would suit his new environment. Like the transcontinental roads, they have too often carried the lumberman inte the prairies, the husbandman into the timber regions or mining country, and the miner into agricultural fields. Of course they did not fit. Not infrequently they have failed to attract settlers for the reason that the immigrant agent of each has so belittled the inducements offered by the others as to cause the prospec or to distrust the representations of all.

All this the Southern Exchange Association, equally interested in each Southern State, will endeavor to remedy. Its impartial statements will accredit to each section or locality all it has or deserves-but no more. Therefore, when this comes to be generally known and accepted, each section or locality will develop along the lines of its best advantages and resources. It is claimed that the generally entertained doubt as to the guarantees offered by the laws of the Southern States to business and investment is is the chief hindrance to their rapid devel pment, and it is to gather information which will dissipate this doubt should it prove to be unfounded, or to procure the correction of adverse legislation should it really exist that the Southern Exchange Association has established a Bureau of Legislation, the membership of which comprises six of the ablest jurists in the country. Besides this Bureau of Legislation there are fifteen other bureaus—such as the Bureau of Manufacture, Bureau of Agriculture, Bureau of Mining, etc,-the function of each of which is to gather all the facts concerning its specialty for the information of the executive committee of which it may be said to be a sub-committee.

It will be seen that to arrange the machinery of such an organization is no small undertaking, and that it cannot instantly be accomplished. It must necessarily take some little time and much hard work; and yet a less comprehensive system would fail of thoroughly representing, caring for, ficilitating and promoting the commercial and industrial interests of the Southern States in severalty and as a whole.

The association, the purpose and plans of which have been cordially accepted by the country—as is attested by the comments of the press, and by an immense volume of letters of encouragement, approval and congratulation—is only now entering upon its to have, even in this short time, made remarkable progress, for it has already succeeded in filling its chief offices with the ablest and most prominent men of their respective localities. Its greatest difficulty has been to supply the demands of such a vast territory for its literature. Inquiries, business opportunities and applications for associate membership and for registration have been pouring in from all quarters. Handsome, commodious and convenienty located offices, at a nominal rent, have been offered by one of the most important New

Its future seems to be assured. With such promise of good work, it is any wonder that its president should disapprove of more "conventions (and more talking) for Southern development?" Very respectfully,

R. WAYNE WILSON,

Secretary and General Manager. New York, August 28, 1894.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, prominent shoe merchant of Dus Moines. Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hard! talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had bad colds followed his example and balf a dozen persons ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kalder for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by B. F. POSEY Druggiet.

To the Editor of The State:

Dear Sir: I am glad to see that a move is teing made in Columbia in the interest of better public roads, as I regard this as the greatest economic problem just now lefore the people. There will be held in Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 12th and 13th next, a public road conference which will be largely attended by prominent persons from different portions of North Carolina, and we will be great'y pleased to see a number of de egates from Upper South Carolina present on that occasion. The Mecklenburg road law and the Mecklenburg reads will be circfully examined by all attending the convention, and the general question of how best to permanendy improve our pub ic roads with the least expenditure of money, and the best ways of raising money for this purpose; the use of convict labor, etc., will all be careful y discussed, by persons who have had practical experience in these matters, before the conference. I am sure a great deal could be gained for your county by sending a delegaabove, and let them not only hear the discussions but examine those fine macadam roads of which Mecklenburg county is justly proud. Perhaps you can induce the county commissioners of your county, at their meeting next Monday, to authorize the sending of a delegation to Charlotte, and if in addi tion to this his honor, the mayor of Columbis, will come with the delegation from the city, we will g've him a warm welcome and do all we can to make the trip both profitsble and pleasant, and we will also be greatly pleased to have you attend this road conference. Hoping to see you and others from your county in Charlotte at the road conference, beg to remain, meanwhile,

Yours very truly,
J. A. Holmes, State Geologist and Secretary North Carolina Road Improvement Asso-

The above was taken from the State of the 2nd inst. We are very glad to see that the matter of good roads is being brought before the people in a substantial way. Our State needs better roads, better high-ways out in the country as well as near and in towns, and I suppose there are few counties in the state to which it is a more vital question than to us right here at Union. Some of our roads are quite passable now, but my! they are not anything like what they ought to be. In the winter time when the rain comes they present quite a different appearance from what they do even now: but we ought to have them so that they would be better all the year round than they are anywhere used. It ought to be so that one could drive to any part of the county on a dark night without danger. That's the kind of roads they have in some of the Northern states and as a result their property is worth three or some such exchange as this, might never four times as much as ours. If we could have such roads here, as they have in Mecklenburg, North Carolina, it would enhance the value of the real estate of this county by one hundred per cent. The question of good roads is being raitated all over the country. There has come to our desk more than once an exchange entitled "Good Roads" and we hope it will do good. Good roads is the very best advertisement for the country. Take a stranger out for a ten mile drive into > multitude of inconveniences. Now, how can we get good roads and spread the town all over the county and make a garden of it? Well, we'll have to work for them, and work together. We understand Spartanburg is going to try to proe a road law similar to Mecklenburg's. Would it not be well for us to be looking into the matter, and to that end send one or two delegates to the Convention at Charlette to look at those beautiful macadam roads and come back and tell us about them, and tell us how they made them, and how much it cost? Mecklenburg County has spent a good deal of money on its roads, but it has not been a burden because it is a good investment. Now, we are not proposing to adopt their system without first examining it, but we do think that it would be well for us to look into this matter at once, and keep abreast of the times and our sister counties.

FOR WEEK ENDING SEPTEMBER 3. The temperature was somewhat lower than luring the previous week, but there was an verage daily excess of temperature of from wo to three degrees over the normal, quite evenly distributed throughout the week. The coast regions were relatively warmer than the interior of the State. Highest temperature 96 at Oakwood on the 30th, and 94 at Spirtanburg on the 31st; lowest of at Greenville on the 28th. There was more sunshine than during the revious week. During the latter portion of the week there was much haze or smoke, which caused light fleecy clouds to form during the hotte-t parts of the day through which the sun shed a d flused orange colored light, The nights were uniformly clear after 9 p. m.

There were few rainy days altho the rain that fell on the 28th throughout the greater portion of the State except on the coast where the showers occurred on the 29th, left but small, if any, sections of the State without some rain. It was generally needed and proved very beneficial, except that the showers on the 28th were very heavy at places washing some lands badly.

Cotton bolls are maturing and opening rapidly and picking has by this time become general. Shedding and rust are not as general as heretofore a'the the reports of damage from those sources continue particularly from localities having a sandy soil, where, also, there is no top crop making, growth having stopped. On stiffer or seavier soil the plant has attained a very rank growth of weed, but the fruitage i deficient, owing, it is thought, to the very rapid growth of the p'ant after the July rains began.

PLANS FOR THE SOUTH. The Measures Adopted Looking to Her In-

Washington, September 8. - The Southern Development Convention adopted the following measures:

1. That a permanent organization be effected by the establishment in Washington, D C., of a permanent bureau for the exhibition of all resources of the southern states, to receive, catalogue and properly list all properties with authentic information concerning them, and such exhibits as may be sent in for the general information of capital and labor, that may desire to settle in any section of the south, and to promote immigration to the southern states. The expenses of the bureau are to be paid out of a fund to be contributed pro rata by such southern states as may take part in its establishment and organization. 2. A committee of one member from each state and the District of Columbia is provided for to protect the details of the plan of organization.

3. The convention shall adjourn to meet in Washington at such time as the committee of one from each state may determine. The governors of the various southern states and the commissioners of the District of Columbia are requested to appoint as delegates to the adjourned convention ten citizens from different sections of their states, and ten from the District of Columbia, giving preference, as far as possible, to members of the present convention.

Details Vested With the States. The governors of the southern states are requested to attend the meeting in Washington, and a committee of one from each state and the District of Columbia are directed to perfect all the details of the plan for permanent organization, of a bureau of advancement and advertising, and the promotion of immigration to the south, and have it ready to submit to the proposed Washington meeting.

4. The resolutions cordially endorse the movement inaugurated and the bill pending in congress looking to the erection of a government building in Washington for a permanent exhibition of all the states of the union.

The Electropoise has worked wonders in my household. I introduced it to Mrs. Cuthbert last March as a remedy for rheumatism, and since then she has laid aside stick and crutches and is able to attend to all of her household duties. Another member of my family by using it is better than she has ever been, and I myself find it an admirable tonic when tired out after three services on the Sabbath.
