A FREE STAVER conference was held at Lansing Michigan, on the 8th inst. Prominent democrats were present and strongly in favor of free coinage of silver at the .ate of 16 to 1.

The conference seemed to favor an independent free silver party, in case the democratic party failed to give a hearty and unmistakable support to free silver.

Some of our Congressmen did not sufficiently shame their constitutents and dishonor themselves by their dilly-dallying and inaction in the last session, and so have proceeded to add to the disgrace and make the scandal more completely splended by writing to the Sergeant-at-Arms to . known if they can collect their mileage without attending Congress at als. Such then ought not to be allowed any mileage.

THE much talked of reduction of salaries to suit the times seems to be coming at last. A bill has been prepared by the House com mittee on officers and offices, which if passed will make an all round reduction of about 20 per cent in the salaries of State officers. The governor's salary will be reduced to $2200, the Secretary of State's to $1400. Comptroller General's to $1400. Attorney General $1600, Supreme Court Justices $2000, etc., etc. Reductions are made all along the line.

Wilson, and the bill to revise the Militia Laws These bills as they are presented involve some very grave and far reaching principles, We hope and believe that our Legislature will give them that consideration which they demand. We believe that every town in the State ought to enforce the execution of the laws of the State. But if some towns are backward in their duty we ought not to get out of patience and enact laws embodying principles subversive of our free institutions. By their charters our towns and cities have acquired certain priviliges, among them local government, the election of officers, and the right to levy taxes within certain limits to pay those officers. But the Metropolican Police bill would deprive the towns of the power of choosing their own police, at least they would exercise that power only at the that the most important business to us all sufferance of an individual, the governor of the State: would place upon them a commis sion over which they would have no control and at the same time require them to pay such police and such commission, whatever oum within certain limits, the Governor may dictate. We want good government, but we want it at the hands of the people and not at the hands of one man, be he ever so good of back dues or renewals of subscription to a man. There may come a time when the Governor would not be a man of discretion or principle. We ought to be very carried about handouffing ourselves and giving the lash to another, especially when we remember that in the course of time the lash will be transferred to different and unknown hands. To our mind the bill, with whatever intentions it may be offered, savors of one man government, of despotism in fact. For while it may not be offered with that intent yet the principles embodied, carried to their ogical end would lead to nothing less than that. If a police is to be forced on a town. why not a mayor and council? Why might the governor can possibly know. We suppose the bill is aimed at those towns that have not put themselves to much rouble to enforce the dispensary law. As the law is a law of the State, duly enacted we think those towns have stood very much in their own light in not enforcing it, but we do not think this justifies the extreme measures sought in the bill. The power of the Governor through our constabulary force is amply sufficient to enforce the dispensary law. The trouble is that some reckless men will risk their lives before they will submit. Well, no legislation in the world can prevent that. The great body of our people are willing and anxious to support the laws of our State, and we think it is wrong to oppress all, and admit on our Statute books a law Rev. A. J. Cauthen, Presiding Elder of involving such arbitrary principles, simply this district, was in town this week. He on account of the lawlessness or recklessness

A Neoro attempted to break in the store of Mr. S M. Rice, Jr., E. U., early last Tuesday morning, presumably with the intent of stealing. Mr. Con Allen, going by the store, observed that the door was open ter, and arming himself with a gun, went of the thief. No thief could be found, however, so they decided to give up the search and Mr. Corter to inform Mr. Rice that his store door was open. As Allen got near the store ne heard a noise, and on looking, saw some one trying to break in the store at a window. When Allen "haltel" the man broke and run. Allen "halted" him again and when he took no notice of it shot at him twice. Neither of the shots hit the thief, The police immediately got on the track and vun the fellow down, and found him at the Oil Mill. He is in jail now awaiting trial.

How about that "want of confidence" of which we have heard so much. Was it a want of confidence in the banks or currency. | possible lynching he was taken to Columbia Then why does Secretary Carlisle recommend a bill which reduces the tangible security of bank notes by at least 60 per centum and exempts the government from lia bility to redeem. If it was a want of confidence in the government why is that our bonds bring such a high premium on the market? If it was a want of confidence in our business men how is it that Secretary Carlisle can assure us that 50 per cent of deposits, is ample security for the relemntion of bank notes, and the Bankers Association, can tell us that even 5 per cent would secure the same? If the bankers of New York have so little "confidence" it is strange hat they could ask the government to endorse their notes on so little security, es-not understar est section on the c almost everything tions table and a west apparel, and exproduce more than some of our counties we can grow one thing that all other sections cannot grow, but will and must have cotton. Then why should we, liberally speaking, the sole producers, not control the price. Because we are unorganized and any unorganized body is unsystematical. No picked-up army can defeat a well disciplined one. The manufacturing business conducted systematically as it is, is profitable, but, were every stockholder a director, deubtless it would be a failure. It is a lamentable fact marketing cotton, is totally unsystematic. When I tell you that many of the calicoes made of our cotton, the small cask of laun-dry soap, tiniest match, pin and many other insignificant things are protested "in combination" do you think we should wait for a "reaction," or do you think we should go to work and bring about a correction. The good book of Jobsays something like this touch a man's purse and "he will curse thee to thy face. Evidently we are resentless and unworthy of sympathy. A sheep that will quietly submit to be sheared arouses no sympathy. We have not only been sheared but have been cut to the flesh, and as long as we fail to bleat we will continue to be cut. deeper and deeper. Then let Organization and System be our "Watchword." Many ceasure our Southern manufacturers for uying cotton so low. No liberal man could isk a brother to pay him more than the market value of any article. Then lets diseard that feeling and wish them much suc-cess over their competitors. It is truly not they that oppose us, but it is most assuredly the Wall street "future men who are continually crying out" overproduction. It is to the interest of the "bulls and bears" to have a low basis. It does not require as much oney to buy a barrel of sugar at 4 per 1b, as it would if it were 10, nor does it require as much to centrol a le cotton crop as it would a 10. Then it is useless for us to hope for them, the pricers of our product. o invest a hundred dollars when forty dolars will give the same profit. Above all other laws and commandments they hold this paramount, "self preservation is the first law of nature. "Overproduction" is only a bluff. It is beyond the power of 13,000,000 of people to reap a legitimate overproduction of such an essential article is cotton for 10,000,000,000. Compare the number of producers to that of consumers. That alone is sufficient to stimulate the most dormant, both to thought and to action. Though, if we continue to allow the gamblers who know nothing and care less of its cost, to price it, there will inevitably be a surplus. To day, as far as we are con-cerned there is already one. Why, because we do not get profit enough out of it to re-place our wants in the manufactured state. Every business man knows that when money is plentiful all kinds of commerce are more profitable. Our Southern manufacturers cannot have the demand and profit that a legitimate price of the raw staple would warrant. Then let every man be interested in devising some plan by which our crops may be more systematically markets !-

thereby controlling a higher price and creating a much larger demand. Many will object to any plan of salvation, some will oppose Mr. Roddey's on the ground that he a New York sharper, and looking for a the store, observed that the door was open, and from the position of a shingle under the door, he knew that it had been prized open. Just as he was passing he observed some one standing by the store, who, when they saw him, ran towards the Oil Mill. He immediately notified night watchman, Porter and arming the store, who was provided the order of the store of the sto nize him as our superior along that line. Conceding that he is after a place where is there a man of any vection that would not have an employee that would declare him a profit of 150 per cent on an invest-Though surely we could not be so ingrateful for relief as to fail to give justice to whom justice is due. In conclusion let me say that unless you can produce a better plan than his which will be published in all outhern papers, you cannot object to it. I heard it thoroughly explaine I in the Atlanta convention, November 21, and when fully understood by all it will be like the rising of a star of hope upon a benighted world. D. Baxren Wood.
