MARRIED - MR. J. T. Rose, firmerly chief of police here, but now conducting a general grocery business, to Miss Annuie daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Briggs. at the home of the bride's parents, on Welnesday the 26th day of Dec., 1894., Rev. B. Allston officiating. After the ceremony an elegant supper was seraed to the friends knowledge of facts gained by investigation, present. Best wishes from The Times for bat hasty words sometimes cause injuries a long and happy life.

ONE of the nicest things of the season was the Knights of Pythias banquet. It was held at the Union Hotel on last Friday night. The weather was quite inclement, but with the aid of carriages, we got out and home again without difficulty. A colored shand from Columbia made awast music while parlors until about half past nine o'clock when supper was announced. Then the company, the ladies and their escorts in front, and the "stags" in the rear, repaired to the dining room where a magnificent repast was spread for their consideration. Then for a while little was said, but a great deal done. "Actions speak louder than words," so we are safe in saying that the supper was excellent and enjoyed immensely.

The supper being ended, led by Mr. E. Nicholson, we all pledged in pure, cold water, good faith and carnest support of the cause of Pythianism. Then the toasts-Mr. E. Nicholson, Chancellor Commander, Master of ceremonies, "Why are we here?" Responded to by Mr. T. C. Duncan, in an interesting speech on Pythianism. "The Ladies," responded to by Mr. J. A. Sawyer, in a spirited and happy speech. Mr. W. T. Beaty responded in a glowing speech to "Dear old Union." Finally Mr. Peak to "Come again ' gave us something humorous and quite interesting. The entertainment was worthy of our notic order. What was done was well done. The visiting Knights thank the home lodge for the invitation to participate in their festivities and enjoyments.

It seems that there has been a good deal of feeling exercised over the matter, and it has given rise to expressions, hasty and unwise, and no doubt regretted now. A great many have condemned the police-their conduct will be investigated by a competent court in due time, and if thay were hasty the fact will be brought out at the triai. Some have severely criticised the Council and Mayor. In the name of common justice we enter our protest, and ask our people to find out the facts and consider before they lay the death of this man to the account of innocent and well meaning persons. The Council knew nothing whatever of the matter and had nothing to do with any of it.

As to the Mayer, we have taken the trouble to find out the following facts, which show that he was guilty of no neglect, and that he acted as any of us would have acted under similar circumstances. Mr. Gregory was put in jail Monday evening for being drunk. Now the Mayor has a custom, not absolute, that when a man is put in jail drunk in the evening, he is not most success, and elieve the law will have let out until next morning. This is to allow him to get sober. We wish now that the rule had been adhered to. So does the Mayor. But about 7 o'clock Mr. Milton McNeace went to Mr. Fant and asked for the release of Mr, Gregory. Mr. Fant refused at first. Finally, however, after much persuasion, as a special favor, he agreed to let Mr. Gregory out on condition that he should go home at once.

That was all the Mayor had to do with it. The Mayor did receive a note about an hour after Gregory was out, in which the author be drunk. But this was about another matter entirely, and the author of the note says he would have let Mr. Gregory out just as Mr. Fant did, under similar circumstances. Briggs, the beautiful and accompished If any one has done wrong in this whole matter it should be investigated, but not in anger. Let us be calm, discreet, and judicious in our thoughts and expressions. Light may be thrown on darkness, and a and heartsores that can never be healed, even though they may be shown to be un-

Bolt, summoned a jury of twelve men and commenced an inquest. After viewing the body they went to moned the town marshals to appear before would have summoned others they could not get the name of any other person who knew anything about the case.

Some of the marshals appeared in answer to the summons, and were proceeding to testify when they were stopped by their counsel, on the ground that they could not be compelled to testify in the case, inasmuch as they had been accused of killing Gregory. One of the marsha's told the whole story of the trouble and the fight before counsel appeared. On objection to the Marshal's bearing testimony, proceedings were adjourned until other witnesses could be had. On Saturday the court convened again, and after hearing testimony proceeded to render a verdict.

The testimony in this case is very lengthy We would like to give it word for word, but have not room, we will try to give impartially, the substance of what was told in the court. Whoever wants to know exactly what was said can find it in the Clerk's office or at the office of Mr. Chas. Bolt. The substance of what Mr. Porter said.

was that he and Mr. Evans had seen Mr. dregory and Mr. Crawford a short time before the difficulty near Bailey & Murphy's store, and that Mr. Crawford seemed to be looking for some one. That he asked Evans what he supposed Crawford was peeping around for, and Evans said Crawford had made threats against Culp or any one else who should attempt to arrest him. That Crawford and Gregory came on up towards the hotel. That he told Evans that they had better come on up town, so as to be on hand in case of a disturbance. They came up town and found Culp near Foster's store. and he, (Porter) told Evans to go and tell Culp what he had heard about the threats. Evans went and told him. By that time all of the policemen were present except Mr. Gallman. That they saw Gregory and and Crawford come dawn the street on the other side by Rose's store. They went across at Culp's command to arrest them Culp went up to Gregory and put his hand Gregory jumped back and fired on Culp. Then Crawford fired his pistol in the direction of Culp. Then the whole force opened fire on the two men, who kept firing and backing until they got to the corner where Mr. Crawford ran. Mr. Porter's evidence

I asked for Dr. Lawsen, and some one said he had gone down street with Culp, I left the dead mau and went to see after Culp.

Mr. L. P. Murphy being sworn, said that he was in Mr. J. T. Rose's store and heard the shooting. There were two or three shots fired in rapid succession, and then a perfect fusilade, went to the door and it just looked like a big bunch of fire crackers, the firing was so c'ose together. Walked down to the post office and saw a man fying on the ground, and somewnat turning him over recognized him as C. Gregory; Sent for a doctor at once, and then inquired who did the shooting. Spoke to Policemen Evans and May, and asked them if they knew who shot Gregory. They said "you see there is a dead man over there." Asked who fired the first shot, they both said that Gregory fired the first two shots, and Crawford fired once before the police fired at all. They did not say who shot Gregory, but just said that the policemen had to fire to save Bartow. Asked if Bartow was shot, and one of them said he fell to the ground about the 1st or 2nd shot. Saw a No. 32 S. & W. pistol by Gregory's side, examined it and found three chambers empty, had been fired and the empty shells still in cylinder, two chambers were loaded. Questioned, Mr. Murpby said that the two men, Gregory and Crawford had just about gotten to the M. & Heard Crawford say something, "I'll be dammed" in a muttering way. Could not stated that he thought the policemen must i teli what he said as he was talking in an them until the firing commenced. They were not past going, but were under the men were sober enough to be in a reasonable frame of mind.

The nen moved across the street towards the hotel. Asked them what was up, but did not get any reply. There were about five men in the squad. Met J. C. They seemed to be fired up street in such a way as to strike about the entrance to the hotel lobby. The next shots, don't know the office of County Commissioners and sum- how many, seemed to be fired about the men about between the ladies entrance and the postoffice, but did not recognize them. During the shooting one of the men going down the sidewalk, disappeared, and I could not tell where he went. Saw one of the men fall, he was moving as if trying to get around the corner. He fell about two feet from the corner of the Posteffice. He threw up his hands when he fell. I went down to Purcell's after Gregory fell, everything was still for a second or two, and then there was another shot, could not tell whether it came from the postoffice or the alley, but think it came from the alley. Went back up there and saw the man dead, a pistol lying by him. Questioned, Mr. Goss said there were four or five shots fired up street Did not hear any fuss or disturbance before shooting commenced. The man who disappeared must have done so before Gregory fell, as I could have seen him had he been in front of the postoffice. Saw man while firing was going on backing back as if trying to get to alley, and saw two or three flashes come from that side. The firing was general on both sides while it lasted. The last shot was fired about on a level. It was fired

About time they got on the other side heard two or three shots and then 10 or 12 shots together. Heard one shot and saw flash a second or two after the general firing. The flish seemed to be about the ground in front of the Postoffice window. Went across and found man on ground whom I recognized when some one struck a match. Went back

Then the marshale were summoned, but under advice of counsel retused to testify. Dr. C. T. Murphy's certificate was that he was called, and found Mr. Gregory in a dying condition.
