OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

Jonesville.

Feb. 26.—The lovely weather for the last week has put new life into our people and most everything else. Some of the good ladies flowers however are past reviving for they are very dead.

There is plenty of snow yet on the North hill sides, some places it is 6 inches deep. Some of our people were looking out last week for storms, cyclones and blizzards.

They had been reading the prophecies of the Rev. Mr. Hicks, but Mr. Hicks must take a back seat for he cried out blizzard, blizzard when we had warm sunshine calm lovely weather.

Mr. A. C. Lindsey, who I mentioned last week as being very sick, is better but a young colored man who nursed him got some of the puss from the sores on Mr. Lindsey into his blood and he died yesterday of blood poison.

Last Saturday Mr. Fitzsimmons of Union bought 93 bales of cotton at Jonesville and yesterday he bought 102 bales more, he paid from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2. There is more cotton in the country yet. I saw a load of seed cotton yesterday going to gin.

People are stirring round getting ready to pay their tax. Several colored men were out last Saturday hunting a job to make money to pay their tax, they said they wanted to get ready to pay by next Thursday.

A mad dog was killed at Mrs. L. N. Whites last week. It came very near biting Mrs. White and her son Fletcher before it was killed.

Mr. F. Laurence, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting his brother-in-law, Dr. W. O. Southard.

Mr. Arthur Eisen, who has been on an extended visit to Tennessee has returned.

Mention was made last week in the TIMES by the Paquet correspondent of the death of Mrs. Jas. Wood of Paquet. It has been the writer's pleasure to know Mrs. Wood for more than thirty years and to know her was to love her. She was kind and gentle in disposition, charitable and obliging to all her acquaintances, a faithful wife, kind mother and what might be termed a good old time house keeper and last but not least she was a christian. She had been a faithful member of the Methodist Church for many years. Her children arise up and call her blessed her husband also and he praiseth her.

Rev. R. W. Spigner filled his pulpit here Sunday.

Feb. 25.—What effect the new County Government bill is to have on our bad roads remains yet to be seen. No definite plans have been matured yet that we know of but we suppose that matter will remain something like it has been—a dead letter on the Statute books.

The free school is becoming more and more complicated, if not disgusting. No real benefit is being derived from it by the country children. Such teachers as are induced to take hold of it merely for its pecuniary reward are a very poor class of public servants, and the results are that the children have no brain power developed by them. Can't our State fall on a better plan?

As soon as the ground gets in condition to plough our farmers will begin sowing oats.

The little steamer of which we made mention last week made its trip as far down the river as Holly's Shoals, a short distance above Lockhart's. While moored at Gord's Island it sprung a leak and sank—nothing could be seen above the water but the top of the smoke stack. It was raised, the water bailed out and everything "brought O. K."

Rev. C. E. Robinson will preach at Salem next Sabbath 3d prox. at 11.30, A. M.

The people of the Gowdeysville and Skull Shoals neighborhood are much inconvenienced by the closing of these postoffices. They are talking of trying to have them reopened by others established in their places.

The call for a mass meeting of the citizens on Monday, the 4th of March, will no doubt have the effect of bringing together as large a number of voters as have ever met in the town of Union at one time for the same purpose—seeking light.

There has been more talk in political circles about the forth coming constitutional convention than any one subject we ever remember hearing of. The humblest and most unlettered citizens who have heretofore been considered nothing but mere voting machines are asking some questions which the most experienced in statescraft can't answer satisfactorily. It seems that everybody is at sea.

Feb. 25.—It is reported that hogs are dying off rapidly in Fish Dam Township, and no kind of medication does them any good. Now the "preventive" plan is being tried. They don't know what disease it is but suppose it to be cholera.

Sunday was the brightest and most pleasant one we have had this year, and Rev. J. A. Dell filled his pulpits at Salem and Carlin's, one in morning and one in the evening. His sermons were greatly enjoyed.

Messrs Willie Sartor and Willie Linder, left last week to resume their studies at Clemson College.
