A FISHING FICTION.

THE "MAGIC EYE" OF THE SAULT STE. MARIE INDIANS.

An Old Guide's Explanation of the Indian Whitefish Hunter's Method of Getting His Glittering Catch From Under the Rapids.

"The first time I fished in the Sault Ste. Marie rapids," said a well known Lake Keuka sportsman, "I landed in an hour twenty-one brook trout that weighed forty-five pounds; so I was ready and willing to believe anything I heard or read about the possibilities of those waters or the astounding things that men who fished in them were able to do.

"Consequently I believed what they told me about the marvelous feats the Indian fishermen of the Sault Ste. Marie could perform in the way of netting whitefish. Few who have toured the great lakes have not heard of those same feats, witnessed them and, of course, could do nothing but go away believing that they were all they seemed to be.

"Particularly will they marvel, as I did, at the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye with which he seems to look down through ten feet or more of foaming, rushing water and see whitefish that to the white man's eye would be invisible five inches beneath the surface. It would have been strange if I had not marvelled at it, having witnessed more than once manifestations of its alleged power. That was before I talked with old Guide Garron.

The astounding feats of the Indian whitefish netters of the Sault Ste. Marie that the guidebooks and the hotel keepers and stevedores insist on telling tourists about are performed by two Indians in a canoe. One occupies the stern and manipulates the paddle to keep the canoe's head pointed up stream. The Indian in the bow, standing upright, uses a pole to aid in propelling the canoe or in keeping it steady.

"Lying ready to his hand is a dip net four feet in diameter, fastened to the end of a pole perhaps fifteen feet long. The fishing is done at the foot of the rapids, where the water boils and tumbles furiously. With his pole the Indian in the bow keeps the boat moving about in the rapids and gazes constantly into the water, which is often ten feet or more deep.

"Suddenly the Indian in the bow will seize the net handle with one hand, never ceasing to manipulate the canoe with his pole in the other nor for an instant removing his staring gaze from the water. The net is not more than a hand broad but he has plunged it perhaps ten feet distant from the boat, thrusting it at the same instant to the bottom. Then he gives it a peculiar twist, draws it up and, surrendering the care of the canoe for the moment to the Indian with the paddle, he draws the net up, never without from three to half a dozen glittering whitefish in it, frequently weighing five pounds each.

"The wondering spectator, seeing nothing but the boiling water, the sudden start of the Indian and his quick and dexterous plunging and drawing up of the net with its invariable load of whitefish, can do nothing but acknowledge to himself the necromancy of the Indian's piscatorial art. I know that I did, and for two seasons gave myself away to the fascination of that mysterious fishing. Then one day I marvelled at it greatly to Guide Garron, the shrewd and cunning old Frenchman who knows every rock and eddy and whirlpool of the rapids and all the wiles and tricks that any other guide knows and a whole lot that no other one does know, and Garron's little black eyes twinkled.

"Ah! he chuckled. 'Zat mageeck hie. He von gr-r-rand hombog!'

"Then he explained in his voluble and picturesque patois the apparent mystery of the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye. Whitefish are natural denizens of the still, silent waters of the great lakes. To get from Lake Huron to Lake Superior these fish must fight their way up the fierce and stubborn Sault Ste. Marie rapids. In doing this they travel by easy stages. They can brave the rapids but a short distance at a time, when, almost exhausted, they drop into the shelter of the friendly rocks that pile the bottom of the rapids.

"Huddled sometimes by the score behind these rocks, getting wind, as it were, to overcome another stage of their journey, the whitefish, if the water is not too deep, can be lifted out by the hand of the fisherman, they are so nearly exhausted. The Indians as well as the white fishermen know this and, knowing well the location of these sheltering rocks, have only to thrust their nets down behind them and draw them up filled with fish.

"The cunning of the Indian led him long ago to give visitors the impression that he could penetrate the troubled depths of the rapids with his gaze and discover the whitefish on the bottom. The wonder of it spread, and it has been one of the fondest and best paying fictions of 'Susan Mary,' as the natives give you the pronunciation of the Sault Ste. Marie."—New York Times.

An Anecdote of Genes. The following anecdote of Leigh Hunt was once related by "Orion" Horns. Horns on a bitterly cold day in winter of the year 1800, and found his way to a large room with a wide, old-fashioned fireplace. He had dragged his piano on to the hearth, close to a large fire, leaving only room for himself and his chair, and was playing with the greatest enjoyment.

Washington is becoming one of the greatest student centers of the nation. The several universities already there and the large number of private and technical schools for both sexes are drawing annually larger contingents of young men and women from all parts of the country. The departments of government are filled with young men, brought by Congressmen from their districts, whose chief purpose is to hold office only while fitting themselves in the night classes of the colleges for future professional careers. There are over three thousand such students in the city at the present time.

THE NEW WAY.

Common Sense For Women. Ladies Should Read of the Latest and Most Successful Importation From France.

All Womanhood May Possess Bright Eyes, Fair Skin, Strength and Good Health.

So says Dr. LaBord, the famous French practitioner who directed his whole life to the study of woman, and has won the highest distinction through his wonderfully successful practice among the first families of Paris.

WOMAN HEROINE. Woman is a heroine, says the doctor, and her remarkable endurance and ability to withstand the most trying ordeal compels admiration. She is a slave to Nature and must of her sex, which so often causes her to endure the greatest trials and suffer in silence, rather than consult even her family physician, fearing to expose herself to necessary questioning and probable examination.

A LIFE STUDY. Recognizing this fact early in his practice, Dr. LaBord has, by years of study and close application, evolved an entirely new method of treatment for all ailments peculiar to women, which has met with unbounded success, and his Branch Offices, managed by skilled physicians and his personal supervision, are now located in every large city of Europe.

Dr. LaBord's superior methods each patient receives absolutely free of charge, full and detailed advice especially adapted to her case, thus avoiding all embarrassment or inconvenience, and as Dr. LaBord's remedies are put up in a form of small, daily wafers, they are easily carried and taken wherever or whenever, without attracting attention. This insures regularity in treatment, which is most important to a cure, and generally impossible with liquid remedies.

Liquid remedies always contain a large proportion of alcohol, whiskey or other liquors, to preserve them from spoiling. Dr. LaBord's Wafers are "dry" medicines and are entirely free from intoxicants or narcotic drugs of any kind.

MODERN METHODS. Dr. LaBord's greatest success has been achieved by the use of the "CARONIA WAFER." This is not a false medicine, but a scientific preparation of "Chlorium" and "CARONIA," commonly known as Black Hawberry, and other well known herbs, whose curative properties have been known to herbalists for centuries. "Chlorium" or "CARONIA" is recognized and prescribed by the leading physicians of the world as the best known specific for Female Catarrh, the extremely disagreeable taste of these drugs has been overcome by skillful manipulation, retaining however all of their virtues and strength, and three specific forms of "CARONIA" are prepared as to form a daily wafer, easily taken, yet embodying the most accurate and certain cure for certain cases of Nervous Prostration, P. Inf. and Suppur. Menstrual Irregularity, Leucorrhoea or White, Sterility, Ulceration of the Uterus, or Change of Life in Menstrual or Child Bearing, Uterine Fibroids, Nervous Debility, Profuse Flow, Threatened Miscarriage, Pallidness of the Face, Pains in the Left Side, Cold Hands or Feet, Beard, Dropsy, Backache, Stiffness of the Neck, Sinking of the Stomach, Headache, Neuritis, Uterine Displacement, and all the ailments incident to the female sex, and man's life so miserable. It makes child birth easy and SAVES DOCTORS' HILLS.

A VALUABLE FEEDING. "CARONIA WAFERS" have proven a blessing to the thousands of suffering women, who have been made weak and debilitated in a surprisingly short time, by this wonderful remedy. It has been only cure the most obstinate cases, no matter how long neglected, but are also the only known remedy that can be absolutely relied upon, which is most monthly recurrences of extreme pain and suffering, needlessly endured by so many of our women.

PURE AND EFFECTIVE. "DR. LA BORD'S 'CARONIA WAFERS'" are purely vegetable, containing no injurious chemicals or drugs, and are positively guaranteed to cure even the most neglected cases. If directions are carefully followed, and the medicine honestly taken, they will cure any case of Female Catarrh, or any other ailment of the female sex, which has been contracted with Dr. LaBord for the exclusive agency for the United States. A Consultation Department under the supervision of Dr. LaBord is maintained and special advice furnished absolutely free of charge to all who take the treatment. Ladies are invited to send photos or make arrangements for their particular cases, in detail, and are assured the most sacred privacy as to their correspondence, as no testimonials or letters from ladies are ever published by "CARONIA WAFERS," containing a month's supply, will be sent, securely packed and prepaid to any address in the U. S. or Canada, on receipt of One Dollar, accompanied by the details of your case. A full and complete treatment including all necessary medicine, and present those charges on any kind, thus making the treatment within the reach of all.

Mr. Roosevelt has been credited with loving a fight, but he seems to have discovered through participating in the lively scrapping that has been going on between republican factions of a number of States over the Federal officers and that over tariff reversion and reciprocity that is raging among republicans in Congress, that it is possible for a man to get an overdose of a thing he loves.

A J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party." Mr. Snell is a resident of Summit Hill, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by F. C. Duke, Druggist.

The United Textile Workers of America, who have been holding a convention in Washington, unanimously adopted strong resolutions against the ship subsidy bill, which the republican bosses seem determined to force through this Congress. The preamble said of this: "It is in the interest of large corporations which are its chief backers and offers no benefit to the producer, the wage-earner or the shipper, and instead of bringing new co-operations into the shipping business has a tendency to keep them out by giving a monopoly to those already in" and the resolutions added: "We condemn this ship subsidy bill as the worst form of class legislation in that it proposes to tax all the people for the benefit of syndicated interests, whose ostensible efforts show that they are abundantly able to take care of themselves, and we stand by the doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and oppose all forms of subsidies and gratuities to private interests." The textile workers are to be congratulated upon having taken such a firm stand upon sound democratic principles.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acids, gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation.
