MAKING GOOD FIGHT ON COTTON EXCHANGE

Senator is Praised by Correspondent in Earnest Efforts to Help the Farmers.

To the Editor of The State:

From the viewpoint of a farmer, the editorial giving credit to Senator Smith for what he has done is good and timely. You would well have added commendation for Senator Smith, for his bill to give the Southern farmers the use of the cotton tax money lying idle in the treasury. But above all, you might with propriety, have strongly advocated the retention of Smith in the senate for the inestimable aid and benefit that he together with his able colleague will be to the cotton growers to oust the New York cotton exchange as price maker of the coming crop of cotton. In another column of The State of the same date is the last census next to the maximum of acreage and condition within 1 per cent, of the ten-year average. The use of fertilizers has been greater for this season than ever before. The seasons generally over the big producing States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma have been favorable and the outlook is for a bigger yield than that of 1911.

If the New York cotton exchange is allowed to fix the price of cotton in September and October of this year as in 1911, what will be the result? We know what happened in 1911. If conditions are the same in 1914 as in 1911 what will prevent prices from being the same?

Smith is making good progress in his fight against the New York cotton exchange in behalf of the cotton grower with every prospect of finally winning. What insensate folly would it be for farmers to vote against one of their own guild conducting a winning fight in their interest and substitute a lawyer? Two of the lawyers contending for the place, fine fellow, and able practitioners though they be, and one, the third, bitterly hostile to the administration and having no inguence whatever with either branch of congress, furnish no choice as a substitute to Senator Smith from a standpoint of the farmer.

I make no appeal to mill workers or refugees from "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome," but I trust and believe that the woolhats who voted for Smith against a field of the finest and brainiest lawyers of the State in his first race will repeat the performance in the second. Alfred Aldrich. Greenwood, July 2.

ANOTHER PARTY OF JOY-RIDERS LAND IN DITCH

Three Young Fellows With Plenty of Booze and a Ford Come to Grief. —Machine Badly Wrecked; So Were They.

(Monday's Greenville News.)

Plenty of booze, a Ford automobile, a cross ditch in the road, two doctors, hospital, busted bones and heads.—That's all.

The above affair occurred yesterday morning some time between sun set and dawn. The exact hour will probably forever remain one of those clouded mysteries. As near as can be learned, however, it was about 5 a. m.

It is said that Mason Berry secured an automobile from a garage at the Farmer's Oil Mill and carried Bob Jones and a young fellow by the name of Miller out for a joy ride. According to the statements made by Miller, the party was pretty drunk and were running about as fast as they were drunk—pretty fast.

The "off-side" wheels were running in a ditch and there was another cross ditch which ran across the road. The car struck this cross ditch and all the spokes of the rear wheels went out of the automobile, so did the boys.

Berry got up, it is supposed, and went on home to bed, leaving the car and the boys where they were flung.

When found about six o'clock Miller was still with the car—under it. Jones was found lying about 10 feet away on the ground unconscious.

Two physicians were called and they found that Jones had a fractured collar bone and perhaps a fractured skull. Miller seems to have escaped with a few hard bruises and scratches and no broken bones. Berry seems to have escaped unscathed. The automobile is said to be about as complete a wreck as could be expected. Miller and Jones are in the hospital.
