THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1918.

When women get to passing words back and forth it is always wise to keep out. At the risk of having a rap or two, perhaps a dozen or more, we have decided to have one say. Somehow, in reporting the splendid dinner prepared by Mrs. George George Smith, and one which conformed to the meatless requirement, we got it twisted and made it appear that Mrs. Smith had meat, when, it develops that she had none that day. Could have had meat of her own raising, had plenty, but none cooked for that dinner, and as we understand it, none served at that meal. Our mistake in stating that meat was served, brought down upon Mrs. Smith more than one woman interested in the conversation of food. If we are not mistaken, two aroused ladies have already expressed their disapproval in The Times. All our fault, ladies, or so we believe, for carelessness in writing the story of Mrs. Smith's dinner.

Allow us to say, in conclusion, that if we are not mistaken, the citizens of Union county and, for that matter, the citizens of the United States at large would have very little need to conserve food by meatless, wheatless days if they had as a people, practiced the wisdom of Mrs. Smith. That she is a wonder in the matter of skilled conservation and abundant production. Everyone can see. This country needs more women like her, and if there were more like her there would be less need for all this mighty cry for conservation.

THRIFT STAMPS

A Thrift Stamp may seem to you a very small thing; and, so it is. Twenty-five cents, you spend it with the feeling that it is not worth the keeping; it is too small! How is it through the saving of Thrift Stamps to be of any consequence to the one person saving them?

"A snow flake is a small thing; but many snowflakes become important. They form the blankets that keep broad fields of wheat warm through the winter. They impede traffic. They cause cities to be isolated. They fill meadows and halt armies."

So it is with the Thrift Stamp. One amounts to but little. A few of them amounts to much. A Thrift Stamp bought by every man, woman and child in the United States would total a savings account of $25,000,000, and place that sum at the disposal of the government for immediate use. Enough Thrift Stamps to buy a War Savings Certificate for each inhabitant of the United States would aggregate a savings account of $500,000,000 and make immediately available that sum for governmental use.

"Every Thrift Stamp that is bought, is like the snowflake that becomes a part of the big drift which is to stall the German war machine and make the world a place in which people may return once more to the pursuit of happiness and again enjoy the comfort of security."

Moral: Buy a Thrift Stamp. Then buy another—keep on buying. You will become richer, the government will have your aid—both be benefited. Buy Thrift Stamps—Keep on buying!
