MISCELLANY. A Creditor's Song. I've waited on you several times, With my account so small, And now I write to ask, if you intend to pay at all!

POETRY. Scatter Blessings. I don't know of anything in the world that makes a body feel so good as scatter blessings. Good temper, good luck, a good wife, rosy children, are well-springs of pleasure, and they'll make almost any man want to live long, but scattering blessings and mercies with a generous hand—O! it's the most splendid thing ever heard of to make a man completely comfortable—to give him some in the night, and an ocean of delight by day.
