POETRY. The Dying Boy. It must be sweet, in childhood, to give back The spirit to its Maker...

Oh, at the time of prayer, When you look round and see a vacant seat, You will not wait then for my coming feet...

Father, I'm going home; To the good home you spoke of, that blest land, Where it is no bright summer always...

Plant there some box or pine, Something that lives in winter, and will be A verdant offering to my memory...

When you look round and see a vacant seat, You will not wait then for my coming feet, You'll miss me there.

When you look round and see a vacant seat, You will not wait then for my coming feet, You'll miss me there.

When you look round and see a vacant seat, You will not wait then for my coming feet, You'll miss me there.

When you look round and see a vacant seat, You will not wait then for my coming feet, You'll miss me there.
