

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. Hersey, a student of the South Carolina College, died last Tuesday.

Married Sunday, April 20, 1902, by Rev. E. L. Archer, Edward Strain and Miss Hettie Atkins, both from Whitney.

The city schools will observe Memorial Day, J. F. J. Caldwell, of Greenwood, will make the address to the children and citizens.

Mr. Green, the Wofford student, selected to enter the oratorical contest at Greenwood, is improving. He was quite ill with pneumonia.

Mayor A. B. Calvert has returned from New York. He has been talking about his new cotton mill. He says the outlook is most encouraging.

Be sure to get a ticket for the May Festival Friday night. Every concert will be good, but David Bispham will sing only that night. You ought to hear him by all means.

T. B. Thackston has moved out to Cedar Springs and gone to farming. We hereby give him notice that if he does not read the SPARTAN every week.

It is a bad year for congressmen to be out in the weather. In Arkansas Senator Jones and every representative except one, was defeated in the recent primary. They believe in rotation in that State.

Mad dogs are getting too common about Columbia. The fact is they always have trouble of some sort there. It is not mad dogs, it is political conventions, mosquitoes, muddy water or the Legislature.

The citizens with Goshen Hill as a new county. They wish to take slices from Union, Fairfield, Newberry and Laurens. It seems that Union has precious little territory to spare.

They do not know how to hang a man in New Jersey. Up at Newark they jerked off a man's head last Friday. They ought to come down this way and attend a lynching or two and learn how to do the job in an artistic manner.

It will soon be time for partridges, or quail, which is the correct name, to lay. Let all farmers protect the nests as far as possible. Boys should not be allowed to take the eggs. The birds are needed. Let them hatch and raise their young.

Let your forget, consider the dates of the courts held in this county. The Court of General Sessions meets the first Monday of January, March, May, July and October, and the 4th Monday in November. The civil court is held the Monday following.

Last week was most favorable for farmers. They were able to put in every hour in the fields, except in places where the rain of Saturday, the 19th, was very heavy. The temperature ranged from 60 to 78. Corn began to come up in a vigorous manner.

We desire a copy of the "Southern Reader" which was published in Charleston about 1842. It was used in schools 1842 to 1850. If any reader of this notice has a copy he will confer a favor by sending it to the SPARTAN office. It will be returned in good order.

The Living Age has begun a new serial by Miss Christabel Coleridge, which opens attractively. Miss Coleridge comes naturally by her literary gifts, as she is a granddaughter of Samuel Taylor Coleridge. She is a writer of the type of Miss Yonge, and is now engaged on Miss Yonge's biography.

The Annual Convention of the Cotton Spinners' Association will take place in Charleston May 8, 9. Dr. J. H. McAden of Charlotte, is president. Geo. E. Lashaw, hydraulic engineer of this city, will make an address on "Water Power—Amount Available—Commercial Value—Cost of Development."

W. T. Eiters and Kelly Goodie were tried in Greenville last week for assault and battery with intent to kill Thomas M. Hill, depot agent at Greers last year. They were found guilty with a recommendation to mercy. A motion was made for a new trial. This was a case in which hypnotism was used to advantage by policeman Tucker. Mr. Hill finally recovered and went to work again.

The poetry of the May number of Lippincott's Mayazine is strong and abundant. Those contributing are Mrs. Sara C. F. Hallowell, long the editor of the "Household" of the Philadelphia Ledger, Mabel Earle, Marco Morrow, Albert Bigelow Paige, Lulu Wheelton Mitchell, Arthur W. Atkinson, Dora Reed, Goodale, Elizabeth Hartman, Geraldine Meyrick Clarence Urry, Clinton Scollard, and Edward Wilbur Mason.

Visitors and Veterans began to return from Dallas last Saturday morning. Jerry Lee was the first one we cross questioned. He visited his brother out 75 miles from Dallas. He reports that the long drought tells on the crops. Wheat is very small. Corn is 8 to 12 inches high. Cotton is up and much of it is worked over. He says that he puts more work in the preparation of his land than they do in making the crop. He saw fine, fat cattle by the hundred ready for shipment.

W. B. Padgett, who writes from Pelzer, S.C., came from North Carolina to this county many years ago. He assisted in getting out the heavy timbers in Wofford College. He boarded himself and worked for 75 cents a day. Many of these pieces are 16 feet long and 6 by 12 inches. The longest piece is 56 long and 6 by 12 inches. Mr. Padgett is now an old man unable to work and he is quite needy. If any one is willing to help him a little Mr. John B. Cleveland will receive and forward the money.

D. J. May, authorized agent for the "Startown Nurseries" at Newton, N. C., is in the county taking orders for fruit trees and flowers. He represents a good house and nursery that deals in such fruits as have been tried and are well adapted to this section of the county. Wholesale and mill prices to city authorities and mill owners for shade trees. He will be here until after court and may be seen about the court house or at Mr. Cantrell's boarding house, 79 North Church street. If you need anything in his line give him your order at once for early fall shipment.

Col. J. G. Evans has returned from Connecticut and is in his office again.

Miss Seddie B. Appell, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Chas. Peety. She is illustrating books, magazines, and papers. She ranks high in her department and manifests originality in her sketches. She will be in the city some time.

You might begin on the potato bugs at once. They are here. They are multipliers. Parisgreen will certainly kill them and it does it quick. Apply it just as soon as you notice the first bunches of eggs on the under side of the leaves.

The city council forbids the display of goods in front of stores hereafter. They also stop advertising on sidewalks. No paper and trash must be thrown on sidewalks or streets. Look out for the police. They will get you if you violate these ordinances.

In 1901 the pension roll of the State was 6,563. There was an increase of 1,185 this year, making the list 7,748, an increase of 18 per cent. If the $200,000 should be equally divided each person would receive $26. But as some receive $8 a month the common pensioners need not expect more than $24.50.

Sam Wood, a 150-pound boarding house keeper, near the Southern station, was knocked down Monday afternoon by Annie Goodson. She walked up to him and without warning hit him with a bottle on the forehead. He fell suddenly and kicked as it was all over with him. He soon rallied and rose again all right. He was arrested and had to appear before the mayor Tuesday.

The Democratic clubs of the city met Saturday. They reorganized and elected delegates to the county convention:

Total number delegates 62

We verily believe that one-half of the fertilizer and hot manure is wasted in this State. The farmer will spend 150 to 250 pounds of commercial fertilizer to the acre and then allow the grass to appropriate about half of it. One-fourth of the lot manure is wasted before it is raked up and composted and when it is put out in lumpy condition it is still grater waste. This can be remedied by killing the grass as soon as it comes up and by taking better care of lot and stable manure.

Two new rural mail routes will be put in operation Thursday, May 1, from Moore station. Route No. 1, Geddies Crim, carrier, will go out by Thomas Anderson's, Nazareth, Grim, Major Frank Anderson's and back to Moore. Route No. 2, J. P. Moore, carrier, will go by Walnut Grove, Nesbitt and Collins and back to Moore. They will leave about 1 p. m. so as to get the morning mail from Spartanburg. Subscribers in reach of these routes will please notify us at once as to the route they wish their mail sent out on.

The price of flour keeps down so as to put it in reach of families with light purses. It has been our good fortune not to be required to buy flour for two or three years. We found the best flour at $75 a barrel.

The highest patent Obelisk is $75 a barrel. A good straight flour, good enough for any one to eat, is $4.75. That is equal to the flour made from good wheat at our country mills. Another grade of good flour they sell at $4.50. We suppose other grocers sell at similar prices.

It seems that it is not a new Federal court district that South Carolina wants, but the organization of a court in the Western district established in 1823. Hon. J. T. Johnson had a bill to divide the State into two districts. When C. P. Barrett was tried as an accused, he in his appeal claimed that he should be tried in his own district, the Western, and not the other. He brought the matter to light. All that Congress has to do is to provide for court officers and the machinery necessary for the court. There is a court house at Greenville. It will become necessary to build another one. The line runs from Edgefield to Lancaster.

The conditions of farmers in this county the last week of April is about as follows: Corn very scarce, cotton generally out of producers' hands, fall sowing of oats killed or much thinned, about half the wheat promises a fair crop, the other very light. Preparation and planting have been pushed and three-fourths of the corn and cotton were planted by the last day of April. Supplies generally short and liens and hard living and high prices may be expected. Early planted corn and sorghum seed began to come up the 21 to 25th instant. Hogs are very scarce. Everything the farmer has to buy is 50 per cent. higher than it was two years ago, except flour which has not advanced much. The land generally seems to be in a fine condition. Half of it is wanting in humus and much of it is plowed too wet. It will require clean cultivation and good seasons to make an abundant crop this year.

An air of spring pervades Scribner's Magazine for May. It contains a beautiful drawing in color by Henry McCarter to illustrate Heintz's "May Song"; there is a breezy salt water narrative by James B. Connolly, who gives the adventures "On a North Sea Snack" illustrated by M. J. Burns; another of those inimitable fishing sketches which have already put Mr. Connolly in the first rank of writers of the sea; an exciting "Fight with a Muskalongo"; by John R. Rathom, who in a very brief space gives the reader all the sensations of an expert fisherman gets in landing a gamy fish (illustrated by a spirited picture by A. B. Frost); and there is "Early May," poem by John Burroughs. President Gilman concludes the reminiscences with "Some Pleasant Incidents," coming down as a eulogy on the 200th anniversary celebration, and ending with Dr. Gilman's latest academic achievement, the formation of Mr. Carnegie's great library at Columbia. Dr. Gilman tells in this paper some of the inside story of that philanthropic enterprise. Henry van Dyke's poem commemorating the centennial of the birth of Victor Hugo is printed and "The Story of Three States" by Alfred Mathews is concluded. It contains some wonderful color pictures by Pyle, John and Fink.

John J. Hemphill was in town Monday.

The Southern Baptist convention will meet in A-henville May 9.

Wednesday afternoon Furman will come over and cross bats with Wofford.

Street cars will run every ten minutes on the Main street line this week.

The window artist of the Aug. W. Smith store gives a fine show every morning.

Your street tax must be paid before the first of May, or there will be trouble and lots of it.

The Bee Hive is hustling this week. The wholesale department is drawing the country merchants.

For stylish, substantial, durable dress goods the ladies should visit the store of James & Stewart.

R. V. A. R. Mitchell, of Greenville, has received the appointment of Archdeacon in the place of Dr. Jno. D. McCollough.

Dr. J. C. Kilgo has authorized Warren DuFoe to have a portrait of Bishop Duncan made for the Preston Society of Wofford college.

Last Monday cotton advanced. May cotton closed at 9.68; August 9.30; October 8.35; December 8.35. Spot market in New York 9.87.

The series of meetings at Green Street Baptist Church are well attended and much interest is manifested. Services at 8 and 7:45 p. m.

The Peoples Building and Loan Association recently closed a series which averaged $7 per cent. A. L. White is treasurer and financial manager.

Kansas farmers have held a convention for the purpose of fixing prices of wheat and corn. They refuse to accept the terms of the Wall Street exchange.

It is time that you were hustling off to the Charleston exposition. It is now at its best and Charleston is at its best, and you will see and hear enough to last you the balance of this year.

If you eat supper at your house, have it over before 8:30 o'clock, so as to be in time at the concerts this week. Dr. Peters is a very gracious man, but he will get all your three minutes grace, for the doors will be closed at 8:30.

Clarence Hardy, out on Tyger, was ploughing Monday. While exhorting his mule the single-tree struck a cocklebur weed and one of the burrs bounced back and down the young man's throat. He had to come to town to have it taken out. He could not speak while it was in his throat.

Monday the Church of the Advent elected the following: Wardens—J. M. Eiford, W. S. Manning; Vestrymen—S. T. Poinier, H. A. Ligon, J. F. Cleveland, W. E. Lindsay, Arthur Irwin, R. H. Peters, W. B. Howe; Delegates to convention at Georgetown May 18—J. M. Eiford, S. T. Poinier, W. B. Howe, H. A. Ligon; Alternates—A. M. Adger, W. G. Haughton, E. D. Galbraith, E. O. Frierison.

Franklin L. Varner died at his home near Walnut Grove Sunday night last. He was a native of this county. He was buried at Walnut Grove Tuesday, Rev. S. A. Stewart officiating.

She died several years ago after which he married a Miss Yarborough, who with one child, survives him. Mr. Varner was a quiet, honorable, industrious man and never did harm if he knew it. His neighbors had the highest respect for his integrity of character.

Prof. Clinkscale will leave this week for the General Conference at Dallas, Texas. Much interest is felt in regard to the Barbee telegrams to the Senate about that $288,000. It strikes us that if Dr. Barbee had been a member of the cotton exchange and acted as he did, he would have been turned out. The church acts on a different plane. Love and forgiveness with a little whitewash sometimes smooths the rough places better than the more strenuous methods.

A series which should have been named "The Enchantment of the Modern Aladdins," if considered solely from the point of view of romance, is begun in the May Cosmopolitan. But these sketches possess as well a business interest, equally for clerk and capitalist, for manufacturer, farmer and merchant.

The man who would understand the drift of our news in finance and business must read these lives, so full of incident, of chance, of hard labor and marvelous success. As it is, the series receives only the commonplace name of "Captains of Industry." Each character is treated by a noted writer familiar with his subject.

In the stories of Child Life, McClure's Magazine stands head and shoulders above the rest. William Allen White's Boyville boys, Miss Josephine Daskam's Philip, Dickey, Edgar and Adella, and Miss Martin's Emmy Lou are probably the most real and most genuine children in contemporary fiction. Mr. White's and Miss Daskam's stories have been published in book form; and Emmy Lou, the most lovable of them all, has only a few more appearances to make in the magazine. In the May number is published "The Confines of Consistency," which tells of her first experiences in the grammar school. When this series is complete the editors of McClure's will have to hustle to find other stories of equal excellence for the readers of the magazine will be satisfied with nothing short of the best in this kind of writing—as in numerous other kinds.

It would seem that it would be impossible to spring a new cause of action in the courts, but there is a new one. The biggest case tried in this State was at the York court last week. S. W. Mitchell brought suit against the officers of the Woolmen of the World for alleged personal injuries received while they were initiating him at Hickory Grove. He thought that about $25,000 would take the soreness out of his limbs, which soreness was caused by the "cuntankers' goat" which he was forced to ride. The goat was a very innocent animal, as much so as a wooten-headed man, when introduced into contact but Mitchell claimed that he cavorted and reared up at both ends and in the middle, and bruised and injured his person until his suffering was great and lasting. After a three days' trial the jury reported that they could not agree and a mistrial was ordered.

The Garden.

The garden demands constant attention these days. Frequent cultivation is necessary. If the ground has been well prepared a light rake and a pronged hoe are the best tools. Never hoe vegetables when they are wet with d-w. Plant out tomato and cabbage plants. It is generally better to put these out in dry weather and water them a little. Soak the bed with water a half hour before the plants are drawn, so that some of the dirt will adhere to them. Put them in place and pack the dirt gently around them. Let the dirt be scooped out from around the plants. Pour water around. Next morning early put about an inch of dry dirt around the watered part, so that there will be no evaporation. Plant a second crop of beans as soon as the first is up. Watch the Irish potatoes and dose the bugs with Paris green. Lettuce transplanted now will make fine heads in four or five weeks.

The Greatest of Singers Here.

David Bispham, who will sing at Converse College Friday, is a native of Philadelphia. He is a most attractive man personally, cultured, refined, and in every sense he is an American gentleman. There is a peculiar attractiveness about his voice that thrills the audience. In New York where the best singers of all lands may be heard, David Bispham stands in the front rank without question. Our people will enjoy the rare opportunity of hearing him Friday night at Converse College. "Shouldn't it be night?" If you can spare time and money for only one concert be sure to take that in for there is only one Bispham to be heard.

The New Public Building.

Amongst the appropriations for public buildings, the committee in the House recommends $50,000 for Spartanburg. There is a proviso that not more than 15 per cent should be paid for the building. If the building should be 40 by 60, the lot would have to be at least 150 by 180, for 60 feet clear space will have to be reserved around the building. In case of enlargement and preparing for a Federal courthouse in the future it would be better to have a lot 200 by 240 feet. Measure your lots that are worth less than $9,000 and see if you can strike a trade with the Government.

The Eclectic Magazine for May has two articles at least which should appeal strongly to women readers; the first a thoughtful, friendly and broad review of "The Progress of Women," from The Quarterly Review; the second a budget of Recollections of the Empress Frederick, by Victor Hugo and Stephen Phillips; "Francesca de Rimini" by Arthur Symonds; and a keen, clever article on Art and Eccentricity by Herbert Paul. Dr. James Straker makes a valuable contribution in a comparison of the "Jesus" in the three latest encyclopedias; there is a striking story of army life in India by Hugh Clifford; and shorter literary essays, articles of travel, criticism and science, and a poem by William Waterson. Harold Begbie and others complete the number. The Living Age Company.

The members of Congress will be able to tell their constituents about the many things they did not do at the present session. While adjournment is so far off that nothing is said about the date, it is pretty certain that the ship subsidy bill, the Crumplecker resolution, the isthmian canal and tariff revision will all go over till after the fall elections. The Republicans are much afraid of a Democratic uprising which will give them control of the next house.

Sunday School Celebration.

There will be a Sunday school celebration at Bethlehem church, near R. C. bank, on the first Sunday in May. Addresses by S. B. Ezell, of Spartanburg, and Dr. A. P. Montague, president of Furman University, Greenville, S. C. The exercises will begin promptly at 10 o'clock a. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.
