SPORT — O — GRAPHS

By Ashby B. Carter

Undoubtedly, the burning question of the hour as far as and in this case that's most of sport followers are concerned, us, is "Why doesn't Harry Wills get a chance at Jack Dempsey, white heavyweight champion of the world?" Various excuses, given as answers, have been put forth by Dempsey himself; Kearns, his dapper manager; and by countless writers who profess to be expert dopsters of everything to do with boxing.

Here are some of the gems: "The public doesn't want such a match," "Mixed bouts are bad for the game," "Wills hasn't proved himself," and on and on. All mere piffle and so much American bunk.

That the public is clamoring for such a match is evidenced by the fact that metropolitan sport writers are wasting gallons of ink in an attempt to shoo the same public from such a match. Everybody knows, including Dempsey, Kearns, Rickard, et al, that a Dempsey-Wills bout would be the sweetest fight of the century and that it would bring the world's greatest "gate."

Then why not have it? Well, there are "maybe's." Maybe such a contest would stop Tex Rickard from staging set-ups for the Dodging Champion, incidentally putting the kibosh on easy money. Maybe such a battle would result in the wreck of the Dodger's beautiful new nose truly a masterpiece, thanks to plastic surgery. Maybe the new Mrs. Dempsey isn't raising her hubby to be a fighter—any more. Finally, maybe Jack wants to retire from the ring while retiring is good and have his name to go down in history as that of the only undefeated heavyweight champion that ever swung a mitt.

To realize the latter desire, it will be absolutely and undeniably necessary for the champ to sing "Far, Far, Away," when the name of the Brown Panther is mentioned. Better to have lived and dodged than never to have lived at all, saith one poet.

The Sportlight will be focused upon Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. There and then will be gathered the cream of the nation's college track and field satellites, actors in the U. of Pennsylvania's Annual Relay Carnival. One of the Mightiest of the Mighty will be DeHart Hubbard, Michigan's pride, and the outstanding star of the Big Ten. Besides holding the Big Ten sprint championship (100 yds.) the versatile athlete is National Broad Jump champion and a bearcat in the Running Hop, Skip and Jump, and the hurdles.

New college records are expected from Hubbard in his favorite events. In order to beat him in the Broad Jump, for instance, it will be necessary for his rivals to leap better than twenty-four feet. This distance the bronzed marvel does constantly.

Now that King Baseball has crowded French Financial troubles and German Election news off the front page, we can feel some interest in doings of the day. Soon the old home town teams will be on the firing line fighting to uphold the honor of the old town and we shall be in the ticket line fighting to hold our places and our hats, Hooray for Jimtown! Take 'em out. He's got a rubber arm. Kill that ump!

DURHAM STATE DEFEATS HOWARD IN GREAT 11 INNING GAME.

Durham, N. C., April.—In a hot contest chuck full of hair-raising excitement and replete with cleverly executed plays, Howard University lost in 11 innings the game between the two institutions today. A great host of Howard supporters and Durham fans led by Dr. James Shepard, C. C. Spaulding, W. Gomez, Prof. W. G. Pearson, J. M. Avery, Ed. Merrick, R. L. McDougal and a bevy of North Carolina beauties were on the side lines rooting impartially for the good plays. The collegians were royally entertained after the game.

BASE BALL

A game of unusual interest between Allen University and Morris College, will be played in the Fair Grounds, at Darlington, S. C., Friday, May 1st, 1925. These are the two leading teams in the Georgia-Carolina Athletic Association. And lovers of the game will be royally entertained as both teams are working hard to corral the championship. The Local Committee at Darlington who are responsible for this game being played in that city are sparing no pains to make it pleasant for the two teams and the visitors, who anticipate seeing this Classic staged in the growing and hospitable city of Darlington.

BASE BALL

There will be a snappy game of Base Ball, between Booker Washington High School and Voorhees Institute, of Denmark, Monday, April 27, at 3:30 p. m., in Benedict College Park. Don't fail to see these two teams play. A good game is promised.

TRAINING BOYS FOR MEDICAL WORK, AFRICA

By W. W. Reed

(By The Associated Negro Press) Out in the heart of the Belgian Congo, Mrs. Priscilla M. Berry, a native of Ashtabula, Ohio, and formerly a nurse in the Cleveland City Hospital, is busily engaged in training a score or more of African boys to become medical assistants and to go back into their native villages with some knowledge of medical skill and drive out the old witch doctors who now do a thriving business, according to word just received by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1920 Mrs. Berry and her husband, Dr. William Clark Berry, also from Cleveland, were appointed missionaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church and assigned to the town of the most powerful native chief, Kabongo, in the Belgian Congo. There Dr. Berry conceived the plan of training promising young men for rudimentary medical work in the numerous neglected villages of the district. He had a number under training when he was stricken with African fever and died there in November 1923.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Berry refused to leave the work and has since been carrying on the school, graduating the first class of medical assistants. Nine of the graduates are now in charge of small dispensaries scattered in the villages and of one other mission center. Just recently some of the students have been out treating some thirty cases of small pox and have vaccinated some 4,000 people, according to reports.

They are being trained to preach and do some teaching as well as to heal.

Mrs. Berry is finding all her training as a nurse of value in her new task. But she expresses a hope that before long a medical missionary and family can be assigned to the station so that the boys can have a more thorough training.

A unique distinction in which all of her friends and acquaintances are taking pride has been won by Mrs. Anna J. Cooper of the Dunbar High School, one of Washington's well known teachers. The University of Paris bestowed upon her March 23, the degree of Ph. D. Dr. Cooper began her studies in Paris before the World War and has since pursued her studies either abroad or at Columbia University. Three months ago the local school board granted her leave to return to Paris and prepare the thesis which concluded her effort. She is the first Negro woman and the first Oberlin graduate to obtain such an honor. For many years Dr. Cooper has been a teacher in the high schools of Washington, where she has been an inspiration to many boys and girls grown to be men and women located in all parts of the country, who will rejoice over this well merited honor which has come to her.
