Walcott's relationship to the famous Joe of other days comes from the fact that his mother, Julia Walcott, was the original Walcott's sister. Young Walcott's real name is Seaford Herbert and he has adopted his uncle's name in the belief that the inspiration derived therefrom will cause him to emulate the example of his esteemed relative. DeHART HUBBARD WINS TWO FIRSTS IN BIG TEN MEET

(By The Associated Negro Press.) Columbus, Ohio, June—DeHart Hubbard, bronzed University of Michigan athlete, was easily the outstanding star of the Western Conference field and track meet held here today at the Ohio State Stadium. Picked by many to take first place in both the Running Broad Jump and the 100-yd. dash, he did not disappoint anybody. In the broad jump, the Wolverine lad smashed the Western Conference record and the national collegiate record, both hung up by himself in previous meets. The former Western Conference mark was 25 ft. 12 inch made in 1923 and the old national figure was 25 ft. 2 in. hung up the same year. The new record is 25 ft 3 1/2 in. Hubbard won the dash event in the fast time of .09 7-100th seconds, just 1-100 of a second slower than the world's record which he has equalled on two former occasions. There is a possibility, however, that the time made here may be allowed to stand as equalling the world's mark, because for the first time in this country, a new type of stop-watch was used, a watch measuring hundredths of seconds Hubbard called them "trick watches."

By taking two firsts, Hubbard became the individual high-point man of the meet garnering ten of his team's 45 1/2 markers, thus insuring the forecast that Michigan would win the meet. Michigan now holds both the indoor and the outdoor championships of the "Big Ten" and Hubbard blazed the trail that led to and resulted in both.
