WILLIAM C. BOOZER PASSES

A gloom passed over the home of Mrs. James H. James when the sad news reached her of the death of her dear brother, William C. Boozer, who died July 23rd, 1925, at 4:45 P. M.

William Boozer lived with his youngest sister, Mrs. Mary Boozer Rowe, in Philadelphia and has lived with her for five years since she began house-keeping there. He was only seriously ill about ten minutes, but in spite of the severe pains that wrecked his body, he breathed his last with a smile.

The entire family is heart broken over the heavy loss, and especially his sister Mary with whom he spent his last days. Though our hearts are burdened with grief, we know that our loss is heaven's gain; blessed be the name of the Lord.

We wish to thank the many friends for the beautiful floral tributes and their service in the hours of darkness. Deeply grieved, by his sisters and brothers, Mrs. James James, Mrs. Mary Rowe, Mr. Benj. Boozer, Mr. Robert D. Boozer.

TRY TO BLOCK OPENING OF NEW NEGRO TOWN NEAR CHICAGO

(By The Associated Negro Press) Chicago, Ill., Aug.—Although A. J. Lane, manager of the development company which has for its purpose the building of a new Negro city, to be called Liberia, near this city, claims that his company bought and paid for the land, white persons who object to the colored people moving in, have had armed deputies placed on the ground to prevent the opening celebration. Mr. Lane says that he will start despite the deputies. White persons recently held a meeting and passed resolutions asking for a state referendum on segregation of colored colonies. This is Illinois.

SEEK MAN'S ORIGIN IN AFRICA

(By The Associated Negro Press.) New York, Aug.—Interest in Africa appears to be insatiate with the week's announcement of two prominent expeditions to that country, one under the auspices of the Beloit College and the other headed by Dr. Carl G. Jung, Swiss Psychologist. The Beloit College group will seek to find traces of the origin of man in the "Dark Continent," going first to Algeria. The Jung expedition, among the members of which will be noted Fowler McCormick, son of Harold McCormick of the International Harvester Company, will make a study of the mental traits of the African Negro to be used in a comparative study of Negroes. Dr. Jung made studies of the Negro of the south last winter.

VISITS IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Special To The Leader On July 10th, I left the Capital of South Carolina for the national Capital at Washington, D. C. by way of the S. A. L. After an interesting all night journey, quite uneventful excepting the privilege of discussing evolution and Bryan with a fundamentalist from Virginia, and a few catnaps taken between the hours of 1 and 5 A. M. I arrived in Washington about 8 o'clock the next morning somewhat tired but bent on seeing the sights of this wonderfully charming city. Of course, I had seen the great United States City Post Office before, as well as the Capitol, the White House, the Congressional Library, Howard University and so on, but it did not hurt to see them again, and I can cheerfully say that my eyes have experienced no ill-effects from gazing on these huge buildings, types of the world's finest and best architecture. Soon I was at the palatial residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilder, 218 I St., N. W., and here I was splendidly and royally entertained by my Aunt and her charming daughter, Miss Susie until the following Tuesday, when I left for little old New York.

I met here also Miss Daisy M. Myers another relative of mine, who is well known as a successful teacher on the faculty of Prof. W. P. Dendy in New Howard School of Columbia. I did not see Dr. James R. Wilder, for he is at Atlantic City, but his son, Dr. C. M. Wilder, gave me a spin over the city in his fine car and by his attention and courtesy added much to my pleasure and comfort.

Friends and acquaintances of the Wilder and Pearson families of Columbia will be pleased to know that Charles M. Wilder, who is a grandson of the late C. M. Wilder, who was formerly post master of Columbia for many years, is making good and building up a large and lucrative practice in the District of Columbia.

This city is such a giant in every way that I cannot write about my visit here at this time, except to say that I found Mrs. Stratton and my daughter Margaret and her brothers Henry and Edward, Jr., looking well and doing the same.
