A NEW DAY IN NATIONAL POLITICS IS AT HAND

(By The Associated Negro Press.)
Washington, D. C., Aug.— William Jennings Bryan, three times the Democratic candidate for President, has "gone to his fathers," whoever or whatever they may be. There has been wide comment on the sudden passing of Bryan in the town of Dayton, Tennessee, the scene of his latest and last triumph. There has also been comment on a coincidence of the passing of Col.
Bryan with that of the passing of President Harding, both far away from their homes in the midst of popular occasions. Perhaps they did, but certainly few of their friends thought they were leaving their homes for the last time when they went on their respective journeys—one to Alaska, the other to Dayton to defend the Creation of Man.

The writer was in the Union Station, here in Washington, when President Harding began his Alaskan tour. He had seen Warren Harding on many occasions, but there seemed to be a "something in the air" that had never before been noticed. There was very little enthusiasm, and that quiet; President Harding, surrounded by police officers, and officials, who formed a triangle, walked slowly as he talked softly to Postmaster General New.
The President gave a look of recognition bow to the writer, which has been cherished for personal reasons. There were many photographs of the President and Mrs. Harding, taken from the observation platform of the private car of the special train, on which three weeks later, Mr. Harding returned to Washington cold in death—and this same writer was there, and thinking of the day of departure.

Sees Bryan Last in Cleveland
The last time William Jennings Bryan was seen, except one, was in Cleveland, Ohio, during the Republican National Convention, when Calvin Coolidge was acclaimed candidate for president. The other time was during a trip West and our train was passing through Harrisburg, Pa., and incidentally looking out of the Pullman, there was William Jennings Bryan, sitting in a chair car, writing with great earnestness. He was probably New York bound. There was no excitement about him on the car, but there was always excitement and interest when Bryan went about in public. He was a man of great individual force, who discovered himself, and was discovered in Chicago in 1896 when he made his inspired "Crown of Thorns and Cross of Gold" speech, which nominated him, on a 16 to 1 platform, for President by the Democrats.

On all of the occasions where he has been seen and heard by the writer, it was in Cleveland that he was shaken by the hand for the first time, and in a few words exchanged conversation.
He was democratic and cordial there. He had the bearing of a great actor—Sir Henry Irving.
Bryan was a Great Actor, above all other things. In the Chicago event, he discovered his power to sway the masses; and, altho' defeated miserably by William McKinley in the election, during the campaign, he discovered the power to "sell himself" to the masses—the gallery—and this power he held on to until he slept the sleep that knows no waking. Bryan was a little than a demagog, but in the eyes of Colored America, like Woodrow Wilson, he will ever be little less than a hypocrite. He had beautiful words that could be phrased to sound like music, but to Colored America they were as "a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal." For Colored America they lacked the tone of sincerity. During all of his vaunted Christianity, never lifted his voice or used his trenchant pen in behalf of the one tenth sun-kissed section of the nation; there is record, however, of his position of defining the "Negro's place." It cannot be regarded as in keeping with the spirit of the Jesus Christ whom Bryan always defended so elo-quently.

A New Day Has Dawned In National Politics

A new day has dawned in national politics. The old things have passed away. Most of the old men have passed away; practically all of those who are left behind are too feeble to function.
National politics from now on will be handled by new faces and new forces—Republican, Democratic, and what not. These new forces will meet a new Colored American, North South, East, and West. These new conditions will bring about achievements that will be new. As this journalistic observer looks over the field, henceforth, men will be met as men, and dealt with as such, at all stages of the game.
The Glad Hand and Glad Promise from all appearance, will give away to the Fifty-Fifty understanding of fair play and justice.
The best brains of white America will meet the best brains of Colored America on a plane of political equality—no more, no less—while the shadows of the dark races of the world go heavier, and the tramp, tramp, tramp, of the marching dark feet of the world sound louder and get closer to the throne of white ascendency. Here in America, 15-000,000 sun-kissed citizens, whose patriotism has never been questioned, will insist on standing up and being counted along with the sum total, without regard to artificial handicaps that have held sway during the blighted centuries. Colored America has proclaimed this:
There shall be one nation and one justice for all!
That kills the klux.

ASSOCIATED PRESS BROAD- CASTS EVIL PROPAGANDA

(By The Associated Negro Press.)

Chicago, Ill., Aug.—Tacked onto the end of the various releases sent out by the Associated Press during the past week concerning the stabbing of Battling Siki were references to his white wives, the number, and the character of them. The information was unnecessary and out of place. Further, it was untruthful.
He was married to a colored girl in Memphis, Tenn., last year.
The Associated Press has been known to claim fairness in its dispatches, but the release about Siki plainly exposes the services and the injury it may do to various groups in the United States.

NEGRO STUDENTS CON- DEMN WAR & MILITARISM

New York, N. Y., Aug.—In Nyack, the Intercollegiate Association, an association of Negro college students and graduates, held a student conference on Saturday and Sunday. It brought together a representative body of young men and women. Three were sixty-two students and graduates present, representing eighteen institutions, among them being the leading colleges and universities of the country. They discussed grave and vital problems, and went down on record as being opposed to war and militarism. They demanded better trained leaders, advocated stronger faculties for Negro students, of Negro colleges, condemned fraternities and sororities among Negro students, as in most cases not living up to their standards. Before the conference adjourned, it sent memorials to the Chinese students commending their stand against foreign interference, and to France deploring the brewing war in the Riff.

There was a Japanese present, representing the University of Chicago, and one white delegate that came from the University of Missouri.

Some of the causes of student unrest were mentioned as fac-
