LITTLE STORIES OF ACHIEVEMENT OF OUR PREACHERS AND TEACHERS

BY REV. I. E. LOWERY

The week I sojourned in Savannah, Ga., I was entertained by a gentleman whose name I got acquainted with Mr. Chapman at the Voorhees College commencement last May was Mr. H. C. Chapman. His daughter, Miss Victoria, lives at 114 E. 42nd street, in an apartment house, which is owned by his father-in-law, came over to witness it or to Mr. Martin. They treated me royally, and made it very pleasant for me, and when I was about to leave I asked for my bill when they said, there was no bill. We do not charge anything. They are the best and kindest people I ever stopped with. Mr. Chapman is a native of Florida, and Mrs. Chapman is a Charlestonian.

And it was all free. But an incident occurred in the family on Sunday morning which I must speak of. Remember I said they live in an apartment house and there are three branches of the family living in it. The Chapmans live down stairs and the Martins live up stairs. Sunday morning, as their custom is, they all gathered in Mr. Chapman's front room down stairs for prayers. There they were, grand father and grand mother, children and grand-children. The scriptures were read, the commandments were recited, songs were sung, then prayers were offered. Then followed another beautiful scene. It was the 37th anniversary of the grand-parents marriage, and unknown to them, the children and grand children bought some presents for them. Miss Victoria made a touching little speech and presented the grandmother with a beautiful white spread, and a grand-son presented a water pitcher, waiter and goblets. Next followed breakfast, and all went to church. Surely, this is a model christian home and family, and it would be well for others to follow their example.

On my return home from Savannah I stopped one night with our pastor at Allendale, the Rev. J. A. Curry. And again I fell into the hands of kind friends. Both Rev. Curry and his wife treated me as affectionate children would treat their father, and I wish to say that Mrs. Curry is a match for the Rev. in dispensing kindness and hospitality. On our way to the station, we stopped at the tailor shop of Mr. McCollough, and met some Methodist brethren, and among them they took a collection and handed it over to the Retired Preacher. They have his thanks and his blessing.

The Rev. B. T. N. Burton of Columbia was in Allendale running a meeting in the C. M. E. church, of which the Rev. O. R. Jackson is pastor. Rev. Burton wears a black gown while preaching, and he certainly gets up an excitement. The church was full, and doubtless some good was accomplished. One joined at that service.

THE HISTORIC FACT OF CHRIST'S RESSURECTION

By Rev. J. P. Washington, Pastor of St. James A. M. E. Church

No one denies today the fact of the birth of Jesus Christ. Some question that He was born of a virgin, but not that He was born. No one denies today the death of Jesus; some question that it was a substitutionary death, but not that He died. Such a man as Jesus was born, He lived, He died, that much is admitted.

Even though the above be facts, that is not enough to explain the existence of the christian church. He might have been born, though miraculously, and have accomplished all the wonders attributed to Him and have died in the way recorded in the sacred writings, yet if that were all, there would have been no church.

As a matter of fact, His death brought an end to the hope of His followers which had been created by His birth, His life, His Miracles. While His death did not change their love for Him, it did practically destroy their hope in His Messiahship. They looked forward while He lived to His heading a great movement, which would develop into the Kingdom of God. At His death they abandoned these hopes, and their glowing expectations were buried with Him in Joseph's tomb. Their faith that He was the Deliverer of Israel, was dashed to the ground in His death.

They saw Him die on the Cross. He had told them that He would build a church against which the gates of hell could not prevail. He had convinced them that He was the long promised Messiah, and they believed Him. Now they watched His agonies, on the cross, they saw Him suffer and insulted; they heard His despairing cry, that even God had forsaken Him; they watched His expiring struggles.

They then followed as His body was taken down from the cross, and borne away to Joseph's tomb; they saw Him as they placed His body in the tomb, and closed the tomb with a great stone and sealed. They left their hopes and turned back to the city; the great vision had faded. The great and glorious triumph they had anticipated was impossible.

Dejectedly, with their hopes utterly crushed, with despair in their hearts, they went back to Jerusalem to endeavor to make their lives over on the basis of a change of faith. It was a dreary Friday night; it was a hopeless Sabbath. On Sunday morning they went to the Sepulchre, not to greet a living Christ, but to annoint and weep over a dead Christ, they returned to the tomb, to say a last farewell to hope.

In the morning they were hopeless; by night they were a group of men and women holding a belief that has turned the world upside down, changed the course of history, lifted empires off their bases, and still dominates the minds of men. The resurrection of Christ is denied today, and by those who claim the name of christian. Such need to give an explanation of the existence of the christian church. It cannot be explained on any other ground other than the fact of Christ's resurrection.

Those early disciples believed they had seen Him. That belief transformed them from a group of discouraged, disheartened, depressed, hopeless men and women, into such a vital, powerful, resistless force that the strongholds of paganism crumbled before their cry of "Jesus and His Resurrection." Today this message is being preached more widely than any other truth in the world.

Woodruff School Opening

Woodruff, S. C., Oct. 19,—To the editor of The Palmetto Leader: Please allow space in your widely read paper to inform its many readers that Woodruff is still "up and doing" The New Bethel School here opened Monday, October 19th. Prof. J. R. Johnson, the principal being sufficiently convalescent from a serious attack of typhoid fever to be out at his post of duty.

Quite a few patrons were present and announced in firm, and convincing terms the sentiment prevailing pertinent to the educational work. Their words were received most favorably by the faculty and student body which numbered more than two hundred. The number registering Monday represents about half of the regular enrollment. The faculty at present consists of Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Misses Blondena Dawkins and Glennie Mae Mosely. The outlook for the year is very promising and gratifying to all concerned.
