ASHEVILLE WOMAN, VICTIM OF ATTACK PLEADS FOR LIFE OF HER ASSAILANT

with grief, taking their boys away from home. Some may never live to come back, others may lose their loved ones. Let me plead, beg, or anything else to bring them back. If it will do the least bit of good, I will come to your office, if I have to walk to plead for the boys.

"Let me hear that my pleading will not be in vain. Give our men another chance, and I know they will be better men, and we all hope there will never be another thing happen in this town again. We earnestly hope such will never happen here again, so the poor boys won't want to feel that they would like to do anybody harm.

"Think yourself, now great was the temptation to see any woman mistreated. They tho't they did right in taking up for me. If I can only do any thing to help them in coming back home, as I know I will never know any peace until I can do as much for them. Let me hear that you will do all you can for these poor boys. Please let me beg."

Mr. Sink's reply follows:-

"I am in receipt of your letter of December 3, addressed to Governor McLean concerning the above named prisoner and others.

"The Governor and I are some what at a loss to understand your letter. I wish that it were possible for me to see you and discuss the matter personally as your attitude is exceedingly unusual. I should be glad to have you write me fully just why you ask that the prisoner's life be saved. Of course the Governor and I appreciate the terrible distress and suffering experienced by you, and in order that we may be fully supplied with the facts, I wish that you would write me in detail exactly why you take this attitude.

"Thanking you for your very frank and candid statement already made in this case, I remain, etc.

Dispatches from Asheville today indicate that the woman signed the letter at the request of a Mrs. Townsend, and that the woman said her principal object was to secure the release of members of the mob convicted and sentenced to terms in the penitentiary.

Governor McLean and Pardon Commissioner Sink are advised that appeal of the case of Mangel to the Supreme Court has been noted, and for that reason they refused to make any comment. The letters were not made public by them until dispatches from Asheville indicated that the substance of the letter had been made public by the Negro's victim.

ASKS FOR SCHOOL FOR NEGRO GIRLS

for two teachers and 19 girls.

The school was started by the federation of Negro women's clubs and is supported entirely by this organization save for $2,000 appropriated by the general assembly last year.

Care for juvenile delinquent girls of the Negro race is the only means for the state to eliminate certain forms of vice to any degree, Mr. Dozier states and the school, which is doing "a wonderful work," according to the executive secretary, can not be expected to continue to accept court cases under present circumstances.

"The state is caring for a few of its delinquent and incorrigible white girls, for most of its incorrigible white and Negro boys, therefore there should be no discrimination, especially in view of the fact that this class of Negro girls is a menace to her community and to the state at large." He concludes, "Something should be done at once to relieve this situation, especially since the inmates of the school are now practically without shelter and no room for training of any kind or for school work, merely a little house to care for 21 people."

COLORED TEACHERS BARRED FROM COURSES AT JOHN HOPKINS UNIV.

Colored teachers of the city of Wilmington have been barred from an extension course offered in Wilmington by the John Hopkins University of Baltimore according to an account of a recent episode published in the Crisis for January. The University notified David A. Ward, Superintendent of Schools of Wilmington that it was against the John Hopkins policy to admit Negroes to its courses and Superintendent Ward called together the 21 colored teachers registered in the course advising them to withdraw since they were "ineligible". The Crisis account then continues:

"Such indignation and resentment met his suggestion that he acceded to the suggestion of Principal George A. Johnson of the Howard High School (colored) to call together the Principals of the 30 schools of the city to advise them of the situation.

Superintendent Ward informed them that there were 21 teachers (colored) who were affected by this policy and that the possible solution might be to have the course excluded or to allow only those who were eligible to enter. He also disclaimed any responsibility for the policies of John Hopkins. Mr. George A. Johnson, Principal of Howard High School, speaking for the principals pointed out that more than 24 teachers were affected by this action; that the entire city of Wilmington was affected by this action inasmuch as John Hopkins was attempting to extend its policies of discrimination into Wilmington through the sanction of the public schools; that to single out any group and deny them educational advantages on account of race was indeed embarrassing and compromising. Mr. Channing Wagner, Principal of the Wilmington High School (white) moved that inasmuch as the course offered by John Hopkins excluded part of the teaching force of Wilmington that it be rejected without further consideration. The motion was carried unanimously by the vote of the 24 white and 6 colored principals.

Other features of the January Crisis are a complete account of the Sweet trial in Detroit by Walter White, Assistant Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. who was there throughout; editorial comment on the Rhineland case; Pullman porters unionization; the colored bellboy playwright, Garland Anderson; an announcement that the Crisis is already receiving manuscripts for the 1926 literary contest with $600 in prizes offered; "The Eucalyptus Tree" a revery of Rome by Jessie Fauset; and the third prize story in the Crisis contest for 1925, by Anita Scott Coleman.

THE SWEETS AND THE LAW

(From the Mosaic Guide, Little Rock, Ark., December 5, 1925)

There has been a disagreement in the Dr. Sweet case of Detroit, Mich. The jury after being out several hours finally failed to bring in a verdict and was discharged by the trial judge. It is reported that eight of the eleven defendants have already been admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000; which was furnished by the thrifty and loyal Negro citizens of Detroit. Dr. Sweet and two others however have not as yet been allowed bail, the arguments on that question came up December 2nd. It is reported that public sentiment has greatly swung from the side of the prosecution to that of the defendants. As matters now stand Dr. Sweet and his co-defendants stand about 50-50 in the local courts with a much greater advantage to their credit in the higher courts. The case promises to be hard fought and long drawn out but our prophecy is a final victory for the "Sweets". This favorable prophecy for several reasons. First because of the justice of their cause and God and justice go arm in arm. Second, because of the brilliant array of legal counsel; good counsel and victory are twin brothers third, because of substantial backing. Public opinion, the loyal citizens of Detroit and the victorious organization of the N. A. A. C. P. is behind them.
