DR. B. R. CARROLL RESTING UNDER GROUND

Simple Rites For Son of Columbia Minister.

Relatives and Friends Pay Respect—Grief-Stricken Wife.

Funeral rites for Dr. Barnabas Richard Carroll of Newberry, former Columbian were held Thursday afternoon from the Second Calvary Baptist church. The services were briefly conducted by the Rev. Charles H. Brown, minister at the Bull street church. With three short hymns and remarks by the Rev. J. C. Smart, minister at the Miller Chapel A. M. E. church at Newberry, the closing prayer by the Rev. Clarence B. Antisdal, president of Benedict college, marked the funeral services, that hardly lasted thirty minutes, marked with simplicity and beauty.

Borne by friends, the body of Dr. Carroll was carried in the hands of Dr. O. J. Champion, his room-mate at medical school; Dr. W. Swan Rhodes, Mr. Joseph Williams of Newberry, Dr. C. S. Carr of Augusta, Ga., Dr. George W. Singleton of Newberry, Dr. Douglass K. Jenkins, Dr. Julian G. Stuart and Dr. J. P. Pickett of Camden who were the pallbearers, Dr. Carroll is resting under ground at the Randolph cemetery by the side of his mother, Mary Sims Carroll who passed away, December the 15th, 1913.

During the Palmetto State Teachers association Dr. Carroll came to Columbia a very sick man; he was followed two days later by his devoted and lovely wife, who before their marriage during the Christmas season passed was Miss Ellen Levinia Davis of Newberry. For near two weeks he was confined to his bed at the home of his parents, but last Saturday, he dressed himself and in company with his wife drove to the Good Samaritan Hospital for further treatment, where he died Wednesday morning at six o'clock in the arms of a grief-stricken wife. Late Tuesday evening Dr. Rhodes who was with him, advised the family that Dr. Carroll could not live. He was visited again shortly after midnight by his only brother. Mrs. Carroll remained at his bedside from the time he entered the hospital until his death. "Barney" Carroll as he was called by his friends in school, spent his boyhood days in Columbia. He graduated from Benedict College, and became the principal of the Batesburg graded school, later serving as head of the Timmonsville high school. After severing his connection with educational work in this State, he entered Meharry Medical College at Nashville, Tenn., and was graduated in the class of 1925. While at medical school he met and was married the first time to Dr. E. Beatrice Bonner, also a graduate of Meharry, who lived at Browns, Georgia. Her father, Mr. J. Davis Bonner, of Browns, Ga., attended the funeral services of Dr. Carroll here Thursday afternoon. Before the announcement of their marriage, Dr. Bonner-Carroll died in Nashville, 1925. She was buried at her Georgia home. His second marriage took place at Newberry Christmas of last year. Mrs. Ellen Davis-Carroll is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Davis, one of the most prominent and outstanding families of South Carolina. As in the first case, Mrs. Carroll is the only daughter, while she has nine brothers.

Because of the serious illness of his father, the Rev. Richard Carroll, the body of Dr. Carroll was carried to the home of Dr. M. A. Evans, a life-long friend of the family. The young physician was buried without the knowledge of the father, upon the advice of the father's doctors and close friends of the Carroll family. He is survived by his father and mother, the Rev. and Mrs. Carroll, his wife, Mrs. Ellen Davis-Carroll, three sisters, Dr. Ruth B. Barroll, of Macon, Ga., Mrs. Eunice Sistrav Carroll-White of New York City, Miss Mary Crozer Carroll, and one brother, Seymour Carroll, of Columbia. Mrs. Ellen Davis-Carroll returned to Newberry for a rest for several days Friday afternoon, but she will

LANCASTER NEWS.

Services at St. Paul A. M. E. church were well attended Sunday. Rev. W. G. Owens, pastor, was as usual, at his best and everybody enjoyed the sermon, subject: "Palm Branches," taken from the 62nd Psalm, 12th verse; St. John 12th chapter 13th verse.

There was a special missionary program held in the afternoon at 3:30. Mr. R. B. Robinson (white) deacon of the Social Reform Presbyterian church spoke very eloquently to his many listeners. It was indeed a treat to have heard him. The League at 6:30 was attended by a large group of young people and a very interesting program was rendered, sponsored by Mrs. W. G. Owens.

At the evening services there was a special program rendered by the choir and other local talent. If you could hear the St. Paul's choir sing you would certainly say that Mrs. Owens is certainly the most efficient minister's wife when it comes to music or any other phase of church work.

Friday night March 30th Allen U. accompanied by the president, Rev. D. H. Sims, appeared in musical recital at St. Paul A. M. E. church. The program was well attended and the appreciative audience both white and colored went away saying: "It was good to have been there." When we think that in October 1927 this splendid band of musicians were not even organized we stand with mouth agast and wonder how it was done. Of course we realize that under the directions of Miss Lula D. Hopkins and Captain Carey Thomas could not but depict their musical ability. They certainly made an everlasting impression and we welcome them again to our city and most especially to St. Paul A. M. E. church.

It is no new thing to say that Rev. D. H. Sims' address was dynamic, all of logic and the best of wit, Rev. Sims is indeed a man of rare attainments and is destined for higher things in the church.

The inter-denominational ministers union will meet at the St. Paul A. M. E. church Wednesday night April 4th. There will be a special program rendered.

Rev. C. C. McIlwain is indeed a young man of great aspirations. He has certainly done wonderful work in that he has completed his new church known as Bethlehem A. M. E. church and is now worshipping in the same. It is a credit to African Methodism. To anyone that knows my brother—Rev. J. H. Mitchell, please tell him I am living in Charlotte, N. C., 510 South Alexander street. I am now in Lancaster, S. C., carrying on a meeting for Rev. W. G. Owens.

Washington, of A. and T. College and Messrs. Anderson News

Sunday morning the weather was beautiful, bright and clear, and judging from the crowd at St. Paul, most of them must have thought old winter had packed his ice box and gone to the arctic region. The pastor was all smiles to see such a large audience out to greet him on his return from Durham, N. C., where he conducted a most successful meeting. He preached a soul-stirring sermon. Many think it was the best they have ever heard him preach. We felt the effect of prayer. There was real power behind the message.

Mr. Alvin Miller of Greer, spent a few days in the city this week.

Miss Luella Clinkscals was one of the teachers who attended the state meeting last week in Columbia.

Mrs. Leonard Ware was rushed to the hospital Monday afternoon immediately. Mrs. Ware is getting along nicely and hopes to be home in a few days.

Mrs. Stewart Oliver is confined to her bed. We hope she will soon be up again.

Mrs. Lucy Oliver is also ill at this writing. We hope she will soon be well.

Services at Thompson Centennial M. E. Church were largely attended Sunday. Rev. Jackson, the pastor, as usual was at his best.

The Junior Missionary Society of Thompson Centennial M. E. Church met Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Josephine Butler. After the business, delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Methodist choir rendered an excellent program Friday night at Bethel M. E. Church (white) to a capacity house. Every one present expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the program. This choir has a standing invitation to this church at all times.

The program rendered Sunday afternoon at Thompson Centennial M. E. Church was very good. We wish to thank the friends who kindly helped to make it a success.

We are very glad to report that Mrs. B. S. Jackson is improving nicely to the delight of her many friends.

AIKEN NEWS.

Aiken is closing one of the greatest tourist seasons in its history. Fifteen hundred polo ponies, one hundred and fourteen cottages occupied by millionaires, all hotels crowded to their full capacity, and they having bought more than a million dollars worth of property this winter, makes Aiken truthfully the Queen of Winter resorts.

The colored people have been somewhat satisfied with the financial crumbs that fell from the table of those who have come in our midst to enjoy the balmy zephyr of the wonderful climate of Aiken.

Friendship church is planning to elsewhere on the fourth Sunday in commodious Sunday school hall to seat more than five hundred people. The members have just raised and deposited over $1,000.00 for this project. The church is now in the midst of a great spring revival. Large crowds are packing the church each night. The Rev. T. H. MOUNTVILLE NEWS

Sunday, March 25th, was the regular day for services at Little River Zion Baptist Church. The weather was unfavorable and yet there was a good attendance at the morning service. The Sunday School lesson review was taught by Superintendent D. W. Wallace. Great interest was shown by the children in the response.

At 11:30 Rev. H. M. Taylor delivered a wonderful sermon. He placed special emphasis on the danger of disregarding Jesus as our heavenly Father. We had two visitors attending our morning services, Mr. George Moses and Prof. F. D. Pitts.
