

If you have a son of military age...

READ THIS GUIDE FOR PARENTS...AND THEIR BOYS!

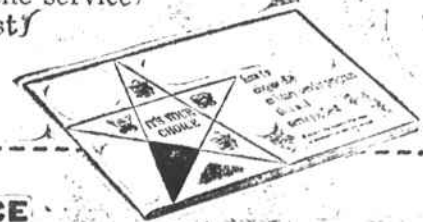

Every young man nearing military age is faced with the problem of how he can best fulfill his patriotic obligation without seriously interrupting his civilian future. There are now more than 30 different ways in which an eligible young man can serve his country. He can select his branch of service, choose from programs with various lengths of active duty and types of training which are best suited to his civilian career plans.

Certain programs let a young man complete all active duty in just 6 months. Others help pay for his college education. However, these volunteer programs are open only to men who are within certain age limits and who have not received their draft notices.

Urge your son to act quickly and find out more about these programs. For free official information, mail the coupon below. It places him under no obligation!

FREE BOOKLET ... "It's Your Choice." Tells how a young man can choose the service program that will fit in best with his civilian career!
