Business Honesty.

In modern business, integrity is just as essential an element of success as skill, industry, persistence, fidelity or any other commercial virtue.

A reputation for honesty, obtained by long and continuous square dealing, is necessary asset, upon which permanent business prosperity depends.

The man who can be trusted can always command a good business. Integrity, therefore, is a prime requirement in business; without it every other quality is a vain and useless thing.

Jel—Any flavor—Laney's Pharmacy.

The heavy rains last Saturday have made bad washouts in various sections of the county. On the other side of Ruby, a citizen got his buggy broken Sunday morning and had to put it up for repairs.

Cigars, best grades—Laney's Pharmacy.

The temperature fell rapidly Saturday and late in the afternoon fire was very comfortable and a couple of quilts that night were not at all out of place.

Heavy line Pints, Oils, Varnishes and Stains—Laney's Pharmacy.

The Chesterfield train "pulled in" about two hours "by sun" Monday afternoon, as a result of washouts caused by the heavy rains last Friday and Saturday.

Three grades Engine Oil and Cylinder—Laney's Pharmacy.

We are at work this week on our new home for The Advertiser. Our new press has made it necessary that our office be on a ground floor and the great demand for business places in our town, rendered it impossible to secure such an office, and we have to build, which we are doing as rapidly as possible.

Charged With Arson.

Officers arrested at this place, last Thursday, a negro C. G. Paris, who is charged with burning the dwelling of Mr. John Burns, in Cheraw, on the 10th of July.

Magistrate Folk, of Sumter county, was shot and killed by County Supervisor Seale on the 25th of August. The trouble grew out of a report circulated by the Supervisor as to the failure of the magistrate to turn over fines collected.

A full line Fresh Candies every week at Laney's Pharmacy.

We are informed that Mr. Jno. W. Quick, a candidate for Supervisor, came near meeting with serious, if not fatal injuries, at the campaign meeting at Grant's Mill last week. His horse became frightened and backed the buggy into the pond where the water is quite deep. Mr. Quick was in the buggy, and he, having lost an arm, was in a critical condition for a few minutes, but friends rushed to his aid and he seemed in fine shape at Chesterfield last Friday.

Magistrate R. L. A. Smith, of Hickory Grove, York county, shot and killed a negro who assaulted him on the 26th of August. The negro was insane but the magistrate did not know it at the time.

Southern Field Real Estate Exchange, Spartanburg, S. C.

Thompson's Creek at this place rose higher last Saturday night than it has been since the July 1884 freshet. Mr. W. D. Craig who was making brick for the new Methodist church had about 15,000 washed away and the water was about two feet on the mill house floor and damaged Mr. Craig considerably. He had about $75.00 worth of cement in the mill, all of which was ruined.

Miss Emma Chapman spent one day with Mrs. E. N. Redfearn this week. Her friends are glad she is able to get out again.

The Summer School.

After a month of faithful and efficient work on the part of the teachers conducting it, and of earnest effort by those in attendance, the Summer School closed on Wednesday, August the 24th. It would be difficult to mention the many respects in which these schools are of invaluable aid in promoting the cause of education. Teachers should not regard their attendance a burdensome duty imposed by the State upon them as a requirement for teaching, but should rejoice that they can avail themselves of an opportunity for more thorough preparation for the important and noble work of teaching. The adage that "We get out of a work exactly what we put into it" was never truer of any work than it is of teaching.

If for no other reason, we should attend these schools through a high sense of duty. Think, for a moment, on the responsibility and weight upon us who are in a large measure to mold the character, (and I would like to say, decide the destiny) of men and women of the next generation.

These schools bring us in touch with new and better methods, and in closer sympathy with one another, afford an opportunity to discuss face to face with persons equally as interested as ourselves, the subjects which concern us in common, to exchange thoughts and ideas and lastly, but none-the-less important, we are inspired with new zeal and love for our calling, and we return to our work in the fall, full of "Push, Pluck and Perseverance" along the lines of sacred duty that are ours.

In the work here, we have been taking under the direction of Miss Whitmire, Sight Singing, Number work, Primary English and Drawing and Painting. The value of Number Work and English has long ago been recognized and it is thought to be a question of only a short time until Sight Singing and Drawing and Painting will occupy in our schools the place which they deserve. Aside from their value after they have been mastered, they afford variety of work, and serve as a splendid means of training the mind. Miss Whitmire had a practice class of small children who took lessons in Sight Singing. It was indeed pleasing to note the interest which they took, and watch the progress which they made. One could easily tell that they were enjoying it.

Prof. Hanna had charge of the courses in Civil Government, Hughe's Mistakes in Teaching and Current Events. of these, and especially the first two, are rapidly taking the place to which their importance entitles them. Indeed, the State has declared that at the next examination for State certificates the first two will be required. The last is even now required in some States. Throughout the term Prof. Hanna and Miss Whitmire have put forth an untiring effort to help us in every way that they could, and we, the body of teachers, wish them to feel that their efforts have not been unappreciated.

SYBIL.

Texas Tells about Boll Weevil.

A gentleman just from Texas was interviewed the other day by a Herald man about the damage to the cotton crop by the much talked of boll weevil.

He said: "Curiously enough the boll weevil which has destroyed millions of dollars worth of cotton in Middle and Southern States this season, has done no damage whatever in the northern end of the State. What the cause of this is I cannot say, but it is probable that the insect has a limit of latitude beyond which it will not travel and that the northern areas of the cotton belt will never be invaded. Another singular thing is that in the wood weevil we have almost an exact counterpart of the cotton destroying pest, the look so much alike that it is hard to tell them apart, and yet the wood weevil is a harmless thing that has never been known to attack any kind of plant or farm product. A friend of mine who usually grows $10,000 worth of cotton a year told me just before leaving home that his crop would not bring him $2,000 this season a clear loss of 8,000 dollars due to the ravages of the boll weevil.
