A Chapter of Misfurtune. - On Friday after noon some evil-hearted person set fire to u. noon some evil-hearted person set fire to John M. Young's wheat, in the field, thu au-sing a loss of fifty dollars. In the evolution Capitol Hill, the lightning struck the mp-post to which his horse was fastened. A smashed the glass in the lamp. The and lighted loose and ran off, but was soon revered. A short time afterwards the fluid operated his dwell-ing house; leaping do have chimney, and, darting into the second story, shattered the man-tlepiece and clock, and tore away the woodtlepiece and clock, and tore away the woodwork of a closet is its escape. On Saturday night, while saving property from the deluge at the canal, a wag stung him severely on the hand, and, in consequence, he is obliged to carry it in a sling; and on Wednesday night an incendiary applied the match to his small frame house in the rear of the National Hotel. Truly, misfortunes never come as single spies, but always in battalions !- Washington Republic.

Seven Negroes killed by Lightning .- On Wednesday evening, the 23d ult. Mr. John Reeves, residing about sixteen miles south of this place, in company with seven of his negroes, were induced by the appearance of a cloud rising, to repair to a large tree, but a short distance from where they were at work, for shelter. Mr. R. being on horseback, reached the tree first, and by accident let his horse loose, and in endeavoring to recover him, receded some distance from the tree, when he heard clap of thunder.

On recovering his horse, he proceeded to the house. At the usual the for returning home, none of the hands made their appearance. He became alarmed, and, in company with another person, went in search of them. They went immediately to the tree where they had contemplated shelter, and found them all dead; two of them were lying near the tree, and the other five were in the hollow of it.

027 We have received sufficient returns to satisfy us that the Congressional elections in this State, have resulted disastrously for Southern Rights, But two Southern Rights men, Bragg and Harris, have been elected, while the Fillmore federal consolidationists have elected five. This shows bad for the cause of the South in Alabama. The "stars and stripes," is an infallible argument and was used in the late contest without stint. We bid our friends, however, is and out of the States. cheer; when the smoke of the battle shall have passed off, and the people have time to look around and see the true principles of those whom they have elevated to power, they will wheel into line again.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAN OF WILD CHERRY. It was known many years agn that the wild cherry tree of this climate possessed valuable med-cinal properties. Indeed this fact was known to the Aborigines, and a decoc-tion of the leaves or bank of this tree has even been regar-ded by their physicians, as one of the most effectual rem-edies in many diseases. This fact, several years since, ar-rested the attention of Dr. Wistar, a highly respectable practitioner. He investigated with care the healing prop-erties of the wild cherry-texted its effects when adminis-tered alone, and when in combination with other remedial events. He found that is natural virues might be great. agents. He found that its natural virtues might be great-ly improved, and by combining it with ingredient, whose properties were all proved and generally organized, medi-cine was produced which constitutes a remedy of great value in pulmonary affections and diseases of the chest and throat diseases which are proverbially prevalent in our cities and large towns, and often prove fatal, swelling the bills of mortality to a nuch greater extent than is the case with most other, we had almost said all other classes of
