

A Good One.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun relates the following story:—
"The freshest story of the season runs thus: Last night, as the passengers from the cars were rushing into one of the principal hotels, a man, attired as a traveller, announced himself as a newly elected Member of Congress from one of the far-off States. He was soon surrounded by the friends of a certain candidate for the clerkship, and his vote solicited. The stranger intimated that the thought pretty well of that gentleman from what he had heard of him, but as he had just arrived, could not say anything positive till he had changed his dress and refreshed himself. Besides, his funds were out, and as he could not draw his mileage until to-morrow, he must seek some friend to help him, and that $50 would answer for the present." The arrangement was quickly made to put the member into funds, and $50 was handed to him—but on the following day, behold! the assumed member was amongst the missing, and has not been heard of since."

Professor H. Cox, of Cincinnati, writes as follows respecting a remarkable cure effected by the use of Dr. Rogers' Liverwort and Tar:
Mr. A. L. Scovill:

Sir—However reluctant I may have been to attach my name to a certificate recommending patent medicines, nostrums, etc., I not only think it my duty to my patrons, but to the community, and all afflicted with diseased lungs, to state that I have used Dr. Rogers' Liverwort and Tar in several cases with the happiest effect; and in one case particularly, that of Miss Belt, who appeared to be laboring under the last stage of serofulous consumption, as pronounced by several physicians, who were in attendance previous to my taking charge of her case. By its use she has been entirely restored, and is now enjoying the best health.
Hiram Cox, M. D.

We learn from the Hon. Judge Morse, of Cincinnati, that Dr. Cox is a physician of the highest standing.
