ROOSEVELT NAMES WAR LABOR BOARD TO HALT STRIKES

The Public, Labor and Industry Represented. W. H. Davis, Chairman.

Washington, Jan. 12. — President Roosevelt created by executive order tonight a national war labor board with William H. Davis, chairman of the national defense mediation board, as its head.

The new board has 12 members, four each representing the public, industry and employes.

It was set up to adjust labor disputes and avoid strikes and lockouts so that there might be no interruption of a vast flow of war machines and equipment from America's industrial plants.

The executive order said that "the national interest demands that there shall be no interruption of any work which contributes to the effective prosecution of the war."

This procedure for settling disputes threatening to interrupt war work was provided:

1. The parties at issue shall resort first to "direct negotiations or to the procedures provided in a collective bargaining agreement."

2. Failing to achieve settlement through such a negotiation, the labor department's conciliation commissioners must be notified, if they have not intervened already.

3. Should conciliation fail, the secretary of labor must certify the dispute to the war labor board. However, the board, in its discretion, after consultation with the secretary, may take jurisdiction over the dispute on its own motion.

Thereafter, the board may use mediation, voluntary arbitration or arbitration under rules established by it, to effect a settlement.

In addition to Davis, these other public members were named: Vice-chairman George W. Taylor, professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, and impartial chairman for various industries; Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, and Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon's law school.

Clinton Woman Loses Brother

Funeral services for Walter P. Boyd, 59, who died at his home in Union on Saturday, January 10, were conducted Monday afternoon at his home. Interment followed in the family plot in Rosemont cemetery at Union. Mr. Boyd was a member of the Mountville Presbyterian church, but he attended the Baptist church in Union where he and his family identified themselves with all of its activities. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ettie Howell Boyd, three sons, Walter, Jr., Howell, and Lawrence; four sisters, Mrs. Mude B. Bryson, Mountville, Mrs. D. A. Richardson of this city, Mrs. D. R. Lwnch, Mountville, and Mrs. S. N. Crisp, Laurens; also his step-mother, Mrs. Maggie Cleland Boyd.

A native of Mountville Mr. Boyd was a son of the late J. Lawrence Boyd and Lula Calhoun Boyd, who were among the best known residents of the county.

AN EXPECTORANT FOR COUGHS
A "HONEY" FOR RESULTS
Compounded from rare Canadian Pine Balsam, Menthol, Glycerine, Irish Moss and other splendid ingredients, Buckley's CANADIOL Mixture is different — more effective — faster in action. Get a bottle today — take a teaspoonful, let it lie on your tongue a moment, then swallow slowly — feel its powerful effective action spread thru throat, head and bronchial tubes. Coughing spasm ceases right away, it starts to loosen up thick choking phlegm and open up clogged bronchial tubes. Now you'll know why over 10 million bottles of Buckley's CANADIOL Mixture have been sold in cold, wintry Canada.
