JEFFERIES LISTS WORK OF SESSION

Governor Pleased By Five Accomplishments Of Legislature.

Columbia, March 14.—Governor R. M. Jefferies commended members of the legislature today for doing a "magnificent job" in passing essential legislation and completing their work within the forty-day provision of the constitution.

Speaking briefly over radio station WIS, Jefferies called attention to five outstanding accomplishments of the general assembly which "demonstrates the patriotic impulses which have predominated in the minds of every legislator."

He enumerated the following:

"(1) The general assembly has concluded its labors well under the forty-day provision of the constitution. This is a record that has not been achieved in many years. It shows what can be done by thorough cooperation between the executive and legislative by a determination to handle all problems expeditiously and efficiently.

"(2) National defense has been the keynote of the session. Much constructive legislation has been enacted for the protection of the state in this dark hour. With the defense problems soon to be adjusted, South Carolina can take its place in the national defense so essential to preserving our liberty and democracy.

"(3) The general assembly is responding to the call of your chief executive for legislation which will aid in the enforcement of law. South Carolina must be a clean state . . .

"(4) The general assembly leaves the capital with every assurance that the budget of the state is in balance and that unless extremely extraordinary conditions occur, there will be no danger of a deficit. The executive department will preserve the balanced budget which the legislature has given it.

"(5) Your general assembly attempted to reduce property tax burdens in school districts and counties by making a greater contribution to the cost of transporting school pupils, looking ultimately to the time when this necessary but expensive agency can be taken over entirely by the state as to promote efficiency and economy and shift the tax burden from the property to other sources."

MACARTHUR NAMED TO COMMAND UNITED NATIONS FORCES

Washington, March 17.—The dramatic transfer of General Douglas MacArthur, hero of Bataan, to the supreme command of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific gave a lift to allied morale tonight and stirred hope of early offensive blows against the Japanese foe.

MacArthur, only allied general who has fought a major Japanese drive to a standstill, arrived in Australia today by plane, the War department disclosed. His gallant defense of the Philippines already an epic, the fighting general was shifted to his new command with its vastly greater responsibilities and wider opportunities, by the orders of President Roosevelt and at the request of the Australian government.

Jubilant members of Congress labelled the news the best of the war to date, and from abroad came expressions of British and Australian satisfaction. "He's the best man for the job," the Australians said.

Following the War department's disclosure that American ground troops and air force units have arrived in Australia "in considerable numbers," the assignment of MacArthur to the supreme command there gave impetus to the growing hope of a major offensive against the Japanese who as yet have hesitated to risk a direct attack on Australia.

nation in Australia, MacArthur was accompanied by his wife and small son, and by several members of his staff. Among the latter were Maj.-General Richard K. Sutherland, MacArthur's chief of staff, and Brig.-Gen. Harold H. George, of the air forces.

The Philippines remain a part of MacArthur's command in his new job, but direct command of the fighting the battle of Bataan and American and Filipino troops still harassing the invaders elsewhere in the Archipelago, passes to Maj.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, senior officer remaining in Bataan.
