HOW THE New War Conservation Order AFFECTS TELEPHONE SERVICE

To conserve vital war materials, the War Production Board has restricted replacements or additions to existing telephone plant equipment.

As a result, some types of equipment and services normally provided by the telephone company will not be available to civilians as heretofore.

The order is expected to save many thousands of tons of vitally needed rubber, copper, zinc, lead, iron, steel and other scarce metals. Southern Bell is complying with the order by doing its utmost in every respect to achieve the desired results in saving materials.

Within the limitations imposed by the order, the Company and its more than 27,000 men and women will continue in every possible way to furnish you dependable, efficient service.

We know that we may depend upon your wholeheart
