Notes From The County Agent's Office

Harvesting Peaches

Commercial peach harvesting season is here again with good quality fruit going to market. Last week Golden Jubilees began movement and this week the Hiley Belle varieties will go. Those shipping are: E. J. Poole, Enoree; Rex Lanford, Waterloo; C. W. Madden, Cold Point; L. E. Reeder, Cross Hill; C. D. Gray, Gray Court; and Dr. E. B. Gray, Laurens.

Labor shortage is a big factor in harvesting this year's peach crop. Peaches are a crop that must be harvested and marketed at once. It is hoped that every person living in the community where a commercial peach orchard is located will help in harvesting this crop by cooperating with the grower.

Under war conditions we should do everything possible to see that no fruit is lost for markets or home canning. Housewives both in towns and the country, should take advantage of the peach harvesting season by filling as many cans as possible with fruit for their family needs. Bulletin number 32 on canning, drying and brining, published by South Carolina extension service, may be gotten from the county agent or home demonstration agent for the asking.

The Elberta peach shipment will begin moving about July 22nd and last for about ten days to two weeks. It would be good judgment for each home to have a good supply of canned fruit on hand as it may be that transportation will be a limiting factor. Also canning local peaches will aid marketing for the local growers.
