Scout Cabin News

The holiday festivities at the Scout cabin began Thursday, Dec. 17, when the pupils of the kindergarten were delightfully entertained by the Brownie Scouts. A program of songs, folk dances and games, followed by a Christmas tree, was thoroughly enjoyed by the small guests.

The entertainment was under the direction of Frances Cobb and Joyce Brown, leaders of the Brownie Scouts. Fifty-six children were present.

The kindergarten observed the same holidays as the mill, closing Thursday, Dec. 24, and reopening Monday, Dec. 28. Parents who have not yet enrolled their children in the kindergarten are urged to do so. Children from three years to six will be accepted. Forty-four children are now enrolled in the kindergarten.

On Monday a special business meeting of the Girl Scouts was held at the cabin at 3 p. m. Members who did not attend the business meeting are asked to contact their patrol leaders, Kathryn Thrift and Lutrelle Oakley, before Monday.

Tuesday night was party night for the Homemakers club. Mrs. Hughes and Miss Nell Jackson's group were hostesses far an unusually attractive party.

One of the highlights of the festivities at the cabin will be the party given by the Girl Scouts New Years eve. The following committees are in charge:

Invitations: Kathryn Thrift, Margaret Cauble, Dewell Satterfield.

Entertainment: Lutrelle Oakley, Nancy Neal, Betty Jean Ellis, Ruby Moss, assisted by Mrs. Sidney Oakley.

Refreshments: Kathryn Thrift, Margaret Cauble, Annie Mae Coleman, Jacqueline Cole.

Decorations: Helen Harvey, Vivian Clark.

Chaperones: Mrs. Bert Abercrombie, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Oakley, Miss Gladys Barnes, Miss Mae Madden and Miss Kathryn Eichelberger.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

New Year Blessing

by

Jocile Webb Pearson

TO MAIZIE GORDON there had always been something so satisfying about a New Year. The old year was gone and nothing could be done about it; but a new one meant new beginnings, fresh opportunities, new hope and courage to put into living.

She and Donald had had only one year of happy married life, then his firm had failed, and persistent effort had, so far, failed to bring him another job. Still Maizie kept her faith.

"Something's bound to come soon," she mused as she went about her morning tasks, "The New Year is almost here—"

"Hello, darling," called Donald from the doorway." Greet an uncrowned king—a working man. Once more we eat."

"I bow to your majesty," laughed Maizie. "Shall I offer a kiss or kneel at your feet?"

"I prefer the kiss; this is a democracy," grinned Donald.

"Sit here and tell me all about it. I knew something good was near. Another one of my hunches. Remember it was at a New Year's party we first met, and we were married on another New Year's day —so I knew Lady Luck was on her way to us."

"If that's the way it works, keep right on with your hunches, dear. Maybe that little house you've been wanting will just throw open its doors some day and invite us to take possession. How do you get these hunches you talk about?"

"Just believe hard enough and you'll get what you want," giggled Maizie. I'm concentrating on that house right now."

Winter and spring passed. Donald's work was going fine. "It's not such a hot job," he confided to Maizie, "but one can't be choosy these days; but the company's a going concern and there's always a chance of advancement. Gosh, it's hot in here." They were at dinner, and Maizie had turned on the electric fan. "You look all washed out girl, this is too hard on you. Better run down to your mother's till this hot weather is over."

"Desert the ship? Never," quoted Maizie. "I'm all right. You're going to get that raise in salary and then we'll look for a house."

"What!" retorted Donald, "another hunch? Don't we have to wait till the New Year?"

"It's more than a hunch this time, Donald, and we'll wait till the New Year," replied Maizie soberly.

It seemed to Donald, sitting in the chair at the end of the long corridor that the night would never end. Nurses slipped in and out of Maizie's room stopping occasionally to say: "Your wife is doing fine, Mr. Gordon," but always closing the door behind them with that air of finality that meant: "You are not to come in," when he wanted nothing so much but to be with Maizie. When he tried to question the doctors they were noncommittal. Twice he had gone out in the frosty air to walk, but he couldn't stay away. Then with the gray dawn a smiling nurse led him to Maizie's bedside.

She smiled bravely at him, and gave him a reassuring kiss. "Poor boy, it's been hard for you, too. Now take a look at your son." She turned back the blanket and revealed a downy pink head snuggled close to her breast. "Do you know what day this is, Donald?"

Donald stared reverently at his son. "No," he said, "I'm still too dazed to think. It seems years since last night." Maizie smiled.

"It's New Year's day, and Lady Luck is with us. We're a proud family."

"And I'm closing the deal for the house tomorrow," Donald added.

New Year's Quiz
