

Highways Praised In Greyhound Ads

The advertisement of the Greyhound lines in today's paper—one in a series which is featuring the various institutions and wartime activities of this state—give some pertinent and interesting facts about our highways.

"We think that many citizens take our extensive highway system for granted—without ever stopping to realize how lost they'd be without it," said H. Pierce Brawner, traffic manager of the Atlantic Greyhound Lines, in discussing this particular advertisement. Every resident of this state should know more about the highways, how they're built, paid for, maintained and many other vital facts—and should give proper credit to the various boards and commissions responsible for their construction and use."

Mr. Brawner reports that the newspapers of the state are next in line for discussion in this series.

$14.75 PER 100 PRICE CEILING PUT ON HOGS

Washington, July 19.—A hog ceiling of $14.75 per 100 pounds, Chicago basis, will be ordered early next month in a move to hold price fluctuations to a minimum, the government announced tonight. This ceiling is $1 above the level at which the government earlier promised to support prices of hogs.

It is between 75 cents and $1.25 above recent market levels. The ceiling will, however, keep hogs from again advancing to levels of $16.10 reached this spring—prices from packers who contended they were being squeezed between cost of live hogs and government ceilings on pork and pork products.

The action will have no effect on retail pork prices.
