Ain't Love Grand!

Jack is head-over-heels! He has just met the one—the only—the most beautiful girl on earth. And when he isn't telling her so face-to-face, he's using the telephone to express his sentiments at length.

Yes, Jack, love's a grand feeling! Yet if you're using a party line, none of your telephone neighbors can talk while you are courting. A tied-up line also helps cause congestion in the central office. It puts an added burden on equipment through which war calls must pass. This equipment can't be expanded to handle all demands, for telephone material is going to battle instead.

So please, Jack, help keep the lines clear—for your party line neighbors, the folks of your community, and the people handling vital war business that can't wait. Go to see the lady, and avoid telephoning her. If you do call, please be brief; she'll understand when you tell her why.
