To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Newspapers of America

ONCE more the free press of America has shown its ability to aid in overcoming the shortage of an essential war material.

This country faced an acute shortage of pulpwood. We users of pulpwood, faced with increasing wartime demands for our products, realized the disastrous effect on our war and home front economics if the shortage of our raw materials continued. This problem, so vast in scope, so threatening in nature, had to be brought to the attention of every man, woman and child in pulpwood-producing areas. The job had to be done quickly if the downward trend of production was to be reversed in time.

To help turn the tide, the Newspapers of America have responded as only the Free Press of a Free People could. They have given their time, effort and space to make people understand how much we needed pulpwood—and why.

This whole campaign is an inspiring example of initiative and imagination. It is beginning to work, and we in this industry are glad to acknowledge the help it has been to us in meeting the nation's need for pulpwood products. We are happy to carry on with the newspapers, and to do everything we can to make their drive a success.

Can You Picture SOUTH CAROLINA without Police?

Today, we all owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to men and women in the uniforms of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. They're on duty today at the four corners of the earth and on all the seven seas—protecting our lives and our way of life. And we mustn't overlook the splendid job that other men in the uniform of our police forces are doing. Their "zone of operation" may be South Carolina rather than the South Seas, it may be the highway to the next town rather than the airways across the Atlantic, but their job is fundamentally the same—protecting us and ours.

We South Carolinians can indeed be proud of our police organizations—city, county or state. Most of us have few occasions to call upon the service of our police forces—but that in itself is a tribute to their efficiency. They're on the job day and night whether we need them or not.

Some of us in the Greyhound organization, because of the nature of our work, have more frequent occasion to cooperate with the police than do many of our fellow citizens of South Carolina. For instance, we are in a position to see clearly how much the police of this community, as well as those of neighboring communities, have contributed to the safety and convenience of bus transportation. The aid these men have given in arranging the most practical and satisfactory routes through towns and cities is typical of their skillful handling of all traffic problems.

Greyhound's most important job, as we see it, is to make near and good neighbors of all the communities that our buses serve in South Carolina—and we feel that the able cooperation of police forces throughout the State has made it possible for us to do this job with greater efficiency.
