Local News Notes

Points Personal and Otherwise Picked up and Paragraphed by Our Pencil-Pusher.

Miss Ora Fant spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Ethel Smith and son visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. Smith, at Greenwood, this week.

Mr. Minter Turner, of Manning, was in the city a few days this week moving among his many friends.

Mrs. William Anderson spent last week with her husband in Camden where they will move in a short time.

Miss Edna Tinsley has secured the services of Miss Carrie Stephens, of Baltimore, an experienced milliner who will have charge of the millinery department.

W. J. Burnett, one of the mill operatives in Union cotton mills was seriously hurt by being hit on the head by the elevator as it descended. The extent of his injury is not fully known at this time.

Saturday at noon, Miss Annie Rodger entertained Miss Jesse Cravens, the prospective bride, her dam and maid of honor and bride's maids most charmingly. The cards were unique and appropriate in design, being heart shaped, with a little cupid showering hearts in lavish profusion; hearts were trumps. A delicious lunch was served. The dame of honor is Mrs. Macbeth Young; the maid of honor is Miss Marie Wilsey, of Poplar Bluff, Mo., and the bride's maids are Misses Ina McNally, Nina Colton, Ruth Foster, Hunter Young, Myra Young, Annie Rodger and Miss Estelle Handford, of Batesville, Ark.

Mrs. J. G. Long returned Tuesday after a two weeks visit to relatives in Chester and York counties.

We regret to learn that our old and valued friend and life long subscriber to THE TIMES, Mr. H. P. McKissick, is quite ill at his home near Kelton, having suffered a stroke of paralysis. We sincerely hope for his recovery.

Mr. Hartwell Williams, superintendent of the Union cotton mills, has resigned and Mr. Brannon, superintendent of the Buffalo cotton mills, will act in the capacity of superintendent of both mills until a successor to Mr. Williams is secured.

Miss Maggie Walker will not accompany her father and the other members of the family at this time, but will remain in the city as the cashier of the Union Drug Co. for some months, at least until the family are well settled in their new home.

The firm of Hutchison and Wicker corner of Main and Virgin streets, will now conduct in connection with their regular dry goods business an up-to-date millinery establishment and have secured the services of Miss Ella Cox, of Baltimore, who is an experienced milliner.

The Masons are now turning the row of rooms in the third story of the Merchants and Planters National bank building opposite the K. of P. hall into one large lodge room. They purpose to make this an up-to-date handsome lodge room. Since the burning of their elegant temple in January, 1905, they have met in the K. of P. hall. At no very distant day they hope to build a temple on their lot opposite the court house.

A freight train was off the track near Lockhart Junction Tuesday afternoon and the up passenger train which came up at 2:45 p. m. remained here until about 8 o'clock in waiting for the clearing away of the wreckage. The passengers on the up train having about 5 hours to wait at this place, took advantage of the opportunity and strolled over the city viewing the attractions. Several gentlemen and ladies visited the Carnegie Library and took some kodak pictures of the building and the group of visitors.

A ROUSING MASS MEETING.

Court Room Full of Enthusiastic Citizens—City Primary Agreed Upon.

Pursuant to a call of the citizens of the city of Union the court house was comfortably full of representative citizens Monday night. When the assembly was called to order, on motion Mr. J. G. Long was made temporary chairman and Mr. W. W. Colton temporary secretary. After these preliminary steps, on motion these two gentlemen were made permanent chairman and secretary of the Union Democratic club. Mr. Gage was called upon as the prime mover in this call of citizens to state the object of the meeting. He said that all of the credit was not due him, because the idea of a primary election for the nomination of city officers had been suggested to him by several citizens; that he, as editor of THE UNION TIMES, had through the columns of that paper given it the necessary publicity looking to its culmination in this assembly of citizens, and it was now for the Democrats of the city to say whether they would adopt the primary system or not. That he thought the primary the best plan and was not alone in this view as there was a great number of towns and cities in the State now and had been for years making city nominations by primary election and he thought it the best for Union.

Mr. Sawyer said he fully agreed and warmly advocated the primary system as decidedly the best plan; that he could not see why any fair minded Democrat would or could object to the primary plan, that it certainly was a fair way to get the expression of the people in the choice of a suitable man for office. That he had absolutely no axe to grind, was not and would not be a candidate, but he wanted to see clean elections by those only who were entitled to vote. He did not think any but Democrats, citizens who were and had been residents the required time ought or should be allowed to participate even in this meeting and organization.

Judge J. M. Greer spoke along the same line and said that those who were not Democrats were in the wrong pew. Dr. Culp said he was somewhat surprised that there seemed to be no discussion among Democrats, that it did seem a useless discussion and a waste of time among Democrats. He said since 1876 the State had been ruled by Democrats and it was a white man's government and he could not think that the people of Union wanted to go backwards instead of progressing. He then moved that this convention endorse the primary plan of nominating city officers by a rising vote. Mr. Sawyer amended this motion by adding, "by rising vote of those who are entitled to vote." The chair then appointed Mr. Byars Greer and M. A. Moore to count, which resulted in 81 in favor of a primary and 41 against primary. It was then declared by the chairman that the primary had it. Mr. J. G. Hughes then moved that the chair appoint a committee composed of one from each ward and one at large to constitute an executive committee to draw up rules and regulations governing the primary. Mr. Sawyer offered amendment which made this committee the executive committee. Dr. Culp offered an amendment by doubling the number, having the chair to appoint two from each ward and one at large. Mr. Hughes accepted the amendment and the motion was put to the house and carried. Chairman Long then appointed the following:

Ward 1—Dr. M. W. Culp, J. G. Hughes.
Ward 2—J. M. Greer, J. C. Cope-land.
Ward 3—Geo. H. Oetzell, Jno. P. Gage.
Ward 4—C. C. Sanders, J. Cohen.

At large, by acclamation, Chairman J. G. Long was elected, and afterwards chosen as chairman and J. G. Hughes secretary of the executive committee. This committee will meet Thursday night to draft rules, regulations and by-laws to govern the primary election.

Chairman Long then moved that the appointment of this committee have the endorsement of the convention which was done. Mr. Sawyer moved and it was carried that the executive committee hold for two years and have full charge of the primary system overlooking the organization of ward clubs and the election of officers of each ward club. No further business the meeting adjourned.

This meeting was quietly and orderly conducted. There was no strife or heated discussions on any point raised. All was quite harmonious, and it is hoped the whole machinery will now run smoothly and to the best interest of the entire people.

The Status of Kissing.

For ages and ages the kiss, we find, Has been the solace of human kind. We kiss for sorrow, we kiss for joy. There's the sweetest kiss of love with- out alloy;
And despite the cries of the wise M. D.'s That kissing engenders and spreads disease,
Folks have always kissed, and we kiss still,
And the chances are good that we al- ways will.

Now a learned professor from over the sea Has declared the kiss detrimental to be.
In fact, he insists that a serpent vile Coils back of each pretty maiden's smile,
With a venom as dread as the cobra's bite,
Ready to end with a deadly blight The life of the hapless one who sips The slightest draught from her dainty lips.

Now, what are the lads and lasses to do? Will they, from this edict, cease to woo?
For what in a wooing gives half the bliss? Of the sounding smack of a well-planted kiss?
Methinks that, despite the professor's advice, Kissing will still be considered quite nice;
For who for the sake of dull life would resist The exquisite pleasure of being well kissed?

And now at the time of the mistletoe, Which of all is the kissing time, you know,
What would take place if the kiss should be As deadly and bad as professors' de- cree?
None of the human race could exist But the homely old maids who never get kissed.
Folks have always kissed, and we kiss still,
And the chances are good that we al- ways will.

SAD DEATH OF YOUNG LADY.

While Visiting in Charlotte, Miss Lillian Jamieson, of Newberry, Dies of Pneumonia.

Newberry, March 18.—Special: This community was greatly saddened and bowed down with mourning when the news came that yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, in the hospital, at Charlotte, N. C., the happy young life of Lillian Jamieson had ended, and her spirit taken its flight. She had gone on a visit to friends in North Carolina, and was taken sick with pneumonia. Her mother went to her bedside on Saturday the 10th, when the news came she was sick, and her father, Mr. W. A. Jamieson, followed a couple of days later. All that loving and tender hands could do was done to save her. The best medical skill was employed, but none of these could save her to her friends and loved ones. It is strange and past understanding and peculiarly sad that a life so young, and surrounded with all that could make life happy and with all the future before it, should be taken; but these are mysteries which we cannot understand.

Miss Lillian was a great favorite in Newberry with old and young, and with the rich and poor. She was lovely in person and in disposition.

The remains reached Newberry this morning. Interment will be at Rosemont tomorrow afternoon, the service being held at 3.30 o'clock.—News and Courier.

Miss Jamieson is very pleasantly remembered in Union, when a student at Clifford Seminary, as a very sweet and attractive young lady, and her friends will read with much regret the announcement of her death.

Almost a Serious Fire.

What would have been a very large and destructive fire was that on the roof of the ten pin alley of Mr. J. J. Purcell last Saturday night between 8 and 9 o'clock. When first discovered in one place near the stove pipe was a small blaze, and a colored man got a bucket of water and put it out. It is supposed the cause was from the stove pipe which goes out through the shingle roof getting too hot or a spark of fire falling from the pipe on to the roof. This part of town has made several narrow escapes from being burned and it is a matter of wonder why, owing to the fact that it is composed of a closely built nest of one story wooden houses. Had it not been early in the night and seen when first caught, it would have been a serious fire no doubt.

Veterans Invited to Hold Reunion in Columbia.

With several stirring speeches and great applause the Chamber of Commerce last night decided to invite the Confederate Veterans to Columbia for their reunion and in sending this invitation they will ask the co-operation of City Council, the Sons of Veterans and Daughters of Confederacy.—The Star.

QUALITY AND STYLE IN SHOES

These important features with moderate price give our line of Shoes an advantage which you will not find in many lines. The public know that leather has advanced in price within the last year and this has brought about an increased cost in shoe making. The dealer has to pay a little more and will ultimately have to charge more or else give an inferior quality. Our orders were placed before the great advance, consequently old prices rule here. We have all our Shoes made according to our own specifications and know exactly what goes into them.

Brighter Prospects

We have many actual photographs of cotton fields on which no fertilizers were used and pictures of fields on which "other makes" of fertilizers were used. Results of these crops were almost failures. There are much "brighter prospects" ahead for the progressive farmers of the South. Two and three bucks to the acre are only ordinary yields where are used with proper cultivation. Make your cotton mature early, and thus escape the boll weevil and other damaging insects. You can easily do this, as well as increase the number of bolls and their size on your plants by plentifully using Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers. This method will tremendously increase your yields per acre. Don't be fooled into buying a substitute.
