ROUTE C., September 21, 1906.

Bryan in Columbia.
On Wednesday in Columbia before about 2,000 people Wm. J. Bryan spoke on subjects of national interest. The crowd was deeply interested from the very start and gave the strictest attention.
Mr. Bryan's chief topics were the tariff, government ownership of the railroads and the decay of the Republican party. He says that his position on these questions is the same today as years ago, but the public has changed. "Roosevelt," said Mr. Bryan, "is the most popular man in the Republican party to-day; and he is so, because he has forsaken the republican standard and adopted democratic principles." A full account or probably the entire speech will be printed in next issue.

Monday, September 17th, was the beginning of the new school session. All the teachers in each school, Central, Monarch, West End, and Excelsior, were in their enrolling and assigning of lessons. Four to One.
"Last September I was drawing a salary of $25 per month; now, I am receiving $100 per month and have much nicer employment." A course of book-keeping and shorthand in the Atlanta Commercial College, 24½ Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga., will bring you the same good fortune. It will not cost you much. Tell them what you have, and perhaps they can help you out. Their advice has proved valuable to many a poor boy and girl.
The House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., says, "If I were 15 years old again and wanted to be earning $25,000 a year by the time I was 30, I would study shorthand and get into the office of a stenographer. Mr. C. B. Cortelyou, Secretary to two presidents and later chosen to a position in the president's cabinet, owes his prominence to shorthand, which brought him in contact with the leading men in Washington. Hardly less remarkable of Edward Bok, Sec. Hays, William H. Harrison, Senator Mason, and scores of others whom we can name, not one of whom receives less than $5,000 a year. If you could understand what it means to associate with intelligent, resourceful business men, to write their thoughts, to handle their private affairs, to be in complete accord with all that stands for commercial success and power, you would not hesitate to enter the Atlanta Commercial College at the earliest possible moment. There is no city in the state today where a reputable competent stenographer, bookkeeper, or operator cannot secure a position for the asking."

Miss Julia Harvey, of Clarendon county, teacher in the Monarch school, of which Miss Mahala Smith is principal, arrived Saturday and is making her home with Mrs. Geo. W. Goins.

Miss Emma Rodger, of Newberry, who has been spending the summer at Mr. D. B. Fant's, spent Thursday with her aunt Mrs. J. H. Rodger, before returning Friday to Newberry.

Miss Mary Gwynn, of Chester, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Louise Long, returned home Monday accompanied by Miss Long, who spent Monday and Tuesday there before leaving for Winthrop.

Dr. H. B. Hair left for Atlanta, Tuesday morning, and is attending the National Dental Association in session there. This is the largest gathering of dentists in the United States. Dr. Hair will return to Union tomorrow.

Mr. V. A. Clifton leaves in a few days for Augusta. He will be tracer and claim clerk with the Southern railway. Mr. Clifton has been on the Union Cotton Mills office force for two years, and some time before that was in the railway service.

Mr. Jno. R. Mathis, who until recently operated a stock exchange in Union, has moved his office to Aetna Mills. The town ordinance forbade the continuance of the exchange within its limits, and as Aetna is outside, the ordinance is not being violated.
