

I Must Have Some Quick Cash

That ought to be plain enough. But that's the story in Six Words. No "Ifs" nor "Ands." I MUST HAVE IT and I am going to make it worth your while to bring your cash here and buy what you need. FIGURE WHAT YOUR COTTON WILL BRING. Look carefully over the prices here. Then figure what your cotton will bring. If you sell on the Buy-a-Bale-of-Cotton market at 19 cents and do your trading here every pound you sell will bring you around 15 cents.

I am Going to Slash Prices on My Entire Stock

We're facing an unusual condition right now—this not only effects the cotton planter but comes as a hard blow to the merchant. We bought our goods early; there was no chance to countermand goods when the great European War struck us; the goods had to be taken and they will have to be paid for. What better plan than to get this money right out of the Merchandise and at the same time help every person in this community to supply their needs for Fall and Winter at a price that will more than offset the low price of cotton. Come and see me, I can show you that I mean business and that nowhere in South Carolina today will you find a merchant more willing to help you than I am.

CROSS KEYS

Cross Keys, Sept. 22.—We are having nice weather now for deep plowing. The rains were light. I don't think there is enough moisture to sprout the clover seed that have been sown and they are like peas; if there is not sufficient moisture they will swell and then rot or die in the sprout. I hear there is some disappointment in getting seed, especially clover.

Farmers are cutting their peavines; it is ideal weather for it and there seems to be a fairly good crop of them this season, but peas that were planted for the fruit are not good except early varieties.

The Cross Keys school opened yesterday with a nice enrollment, about seventy-five in all. Nearly all the parents and some of the friends of the school were present to witness the opening exercises. Rev. A. McA. Pittman made a short speech on the education of the common people which was instructive as well as entertaining. The state superintendent of education was present and made a fine businesslike talk. Everybody complimented him, but nearly all were ready to offer him one suggestion, that he wear glasses. Mr. H. C. Little was not present as he had expected; he was present one year ago and made a good speech, one that was well received.

An organization known as school improvement association was started but was not completed, but will be at an early date. This is intended to help those that need help and create a greater interest generally in school work. There is need of this kind of organization for we all more or less have been leaving this important matter of training our children entirely with the teachers and if they do not succeed as we think they should we are ready to speak uncomplimentary of their work when the trouble is at our doors. I was glad to see that our people endorsed this organization; I think it will stimulate us to a greater interest and activity along educational lines—something we have been needing for some time.

Notice!

Owing to a misunderstanding of some of the stockholders, the Waggon-Bradley company was not merged with the Bailey Undertaking company as intended. Consequently will continue to operate under the original charter with Mr. J. S. Rogers, who has been with the company for quite a while, in charge. Any business entrusted him will be promptly attended day and night. Day phone 104, night phone 122. S. C. Crosby's residence. Waggon-Bradley Company.

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the Union people for the many, many kindnesses shown me during the dark hour I have just passed through. May God abundantly bless them everyone.

Mrs. R. M. Estes.

the garden. His feet were up against the terra cotta of well. His coat was laying back on his left side and I saw a scabbard and belt and his regular clothes on. No one as I saw was there when I got there. This was about 5:30 o'clock. We have the pistol, it is 8 calibre. His left leg was laying straight, his right leg to the best of my knowledge, was sorter doubled up and his left leg was a little over his right toes. His head was laying a little to right under trough. His hat was about 6 or 8 feet from his head on ground. His head was about 8 or 10 inches from edge of porch. Miss Emma Nicholson and Paul Nicholson and little boy Francis Nicholson was picking cotton for me. They had been picking cotton all day. I don't know what time Mrs. N. A. Nicholson came over to my house to bring a bucket of vinegar to us. Mrs. N. A. Nicholson was at my house when Mr. N. A. Nicholson and son came by.

Witness: L. B. Godshall.

Mr. J. T. Bishop, being duly sworn says: I heard Mr. Sanders testify and my testimony corroborates his. I heard report of gun fire and saw the smoke. This was about 5 o'clock. I was about one-quarter of a mile from Mr. Nicholson's house when gun fired. I was looking at that time in the direction of Mr. Nicholson's house. I had a clear view of the porch. I saw some one on the porch. I think there were two, could not be positive. I have very often heard guns shoot over there at Mr. Nicholson's and never paid any attention, just went on back to work. It was about fifteen minutes after I heard the gun fire before Mr. Sanders came for me to go over to Mr. Nicholson's house with him and I went. We had not been there over ten minutes before Mr. Jack Harris and others came.

(Signed) J. T. Bishop.
Witness: L. B. Godshall.

Mr. J. T. Harris, being duly sworn, says: I got to Mr. Nicholson's house about 5:30 or 5:35 in the evening of September 16, 1914. I found Mr. J. T. Bishop and Mr. Robert Sanders and also Mr. J. P. McKissick lying dead. My testimony corroborates Mr. J. T. Bishop's and also Mr. Robert Sanders' testimony.

(Signed) J. T. Harris.

Card of Thanks.

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to thank the people of Cross Keys township for the splendid vote they gave me in the primary, August 25. I will strive to do my duty faithfully and thus show that the confidence was not misplaced.
