MRS. ROBERT MEANS AIKEN. "Father, I will that they also whom Thou hast given me, be with me where I am, that they may behold my glory which Thou hast given me." Thus Jesus prayed for His elect people in His tender intercessory prayer. Is it not comforting to reflect that the death of His Saints is the answer to the Savior's loving desire for their presence and companionship? Hence it is precious in His sight. Death is but to depart and be with Christ; to see His glory and share the joy of their Lord, which is very far better than to abide in this evil and unfriendly world. The subject of this sketch was one of God's choice and consecrated servants, a woman of rare wisdom, sweetness and saintliness. Through her long and beautiful life she walked with God; now she walks with Him in white, for she is worthy. On Thursday morning, Dec. 23, 1920, at her home near Monticello, Mrs. Margaret Bell Aiken was called away to her heavenly reward. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. G. G. Mayes, of Winnsboro, and interment was in old Salem church cemetery. Although she had not been well for some time, her death was a distinct shock to many. Throughout her illness she never lost her sweet disposition, which in such a marked way had won for her so many friends. Her going away was so easy that it seemed only a step from earth's twilight into the radiant presence of her Lord and Master; and her beautiful life was echoed back in her peaceful and triumphant death. Mrs. Aiken was born and raised near Monticello, Fairfield county. She was descended from one of the first families of the State, being the youngest child of the late William and Margaret Bell. She grew up in a home of unusual culture and Christian piety, and early in life consecrated her life to God. Since that time she has been an earnest member of the Presbyterian church, ever praying for its advancement, and for the coming of Christ's Kingdom in all the world. She was married to Mr. Robert Means Aiken, who with four daughters, live to mourn the loss and bless the memory of this Godly woman. Mrs. Aiken was a great lover of home and always made home life very attractive, not only to her loved ones, but to her many friends who visited her. She numbered her friends by the score and was always faithful to them. She was a Christian woman of many lovable traits, a devoted wife and mother and a good friend and neighbor. She was one of the noblest and best women it has been the writer's good fortune to know. Hers was a character of singular sweetness and saintliness. Her utter unselfishness, generosity, judgment, rectitude and unfailing good temper made her a great favorite in the community. She radiated goodness and loving kindness. You have gone and left us lonely, Tho' sweet memories linger still We did not want you to leave us, But it was God's good will. Oh; today our hearts are heavy And overburdened with care; Tho' we miss you dreadfully, We would not have you here. Back to this life of sorrow. Rec' into this world of strife, How could we wish you back, Tho we loved you dearer than life? Now, with only your memory to cherish, May those who are left to mourn, Though their hearts are crushed with pain, May they live each day in memory of her, And be an honor to her cherished name.

COMMUNITY HOUSE PROGRAM Friday, August 5th—"Heliotrope", a Cosmopolitan production. The play is like "Humoresque". You liked it and we know you will like this one. Also Selznick News. Money buys more. Just look at the above pictures for 10 and 20c. Same Old Story, but a Good One. Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint about three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles." Hot Weather Diseases. Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during the hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against sudden attack, get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence.
