

NATION CONFRONTS EDUCATION CRISIS

THE PRESIDENT DELIVERS AN ADDRESS BEFORE ALUMNI OF WILLIAM AND MARY.

IS GREAT NEED FOR TEACHERS

"Only Through Ever Expanding Facilities Can We Turn Out a Product of Disciplined Minds."

Williamsburg, Va. — Declaring the nation confronts an "educational crisis" through lack of teachers and public school facilities President Harding appealed in an address here for patriotic support of an educational system commensurate with national resources.

Mr. Harding spoke before a gathering of students and alumni of the College of William and Mary.

"It is no exaggeration," said President Harding, "to say the nation confronts an educational crisis. From every corner of the land, from country, town and city, comes the same report that the housing capacity for our public schools is inadequate; that tens of thousands of pupils have no place for their studies; that teachers cannot be listed in sufficient numbers, and that school revenues are insufficient. It may be said that, in this realm of education, we have been drawing on our capital, instead of spending the annual increment only; we have been taking the teachers away from the schools, and leaving a constantly increasing deficit in our capacity to turn out that product of disciplined minds which only can be insured through ever expanding facilities."

The Best Gasoline Costs no More

DURING our many years' experience in producing gasoline we have discovered that the proper blending of basic crudes is necessary for a well-balanced fuel. And our access to practically every developed oil field has insured full utilization of the various types and grades of crude in exactly the proportions needed. The improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is produced through the efforts of our Development Department experts. These men have devoted their lives to the study of oil refining and the relation between the properties of oils and the uses to which they are adapted. "Standard" Motor Gasoline represents the fruit of their years of painstaking experimentation. It is uniform in quality, quick-firing, clean-burning. It is the best gasoline obtainable, and costs no more than any other.

The consistent use of "Standard" Motor Gasoline will go far towards correcting many of the more common difficulties of motoring. If your engine overheats or gives off vile exhaust gases, if your cylinders miss or carbonize quickly, if the oil in your crankcase becomes diluted, it is probable that you have been using the wrong gasoline.

Fill up with the improved "Standard". On sale wherever you see the familiar "S.O." sign. Remember—it costs no more.
