THE Columbia Democrats have reorganized for the municipal campaign, with Capt. J. Quitman Marshall as City Chairman. This is a capital selection. Captain Marshall has led the Democratic hosts to victory before, and is the man to do so again. The people of Columbia have a glimpse of prosperity before them in the reopening of the College and the development of their water power; and they know what the election of a Radical council would mean. "No footsteps backward" will be the campaign cry, and it will win so sure as the people are true to themselves and their traditions.
